Hoover Warns Food Decline Perils Armies

KHARKOV LOST, RUSSIA ADMITS; NAZIS PRESS ON

Foe Reports Gains in Kursk Area.

LONDON, March 15 (AP).—The Russians tonight officially acknowledged that the Red army had evacuated Kharkov, the Ukrainian fortress and rail hub of all southern Russia. Both German and Russian dispatches indicated that the powerful Nazi counter-offensive still was pressing viciously on a broad front from Kursk to the middle Donetz basin, south and beyond Kharkov.

The German high command communique reported its counter-offensive continuing, with the Russians being driven back southeast and north of Kharkov. North of Kharkov, the Germans said they had advanced as far as the region of Belgorod.

Claims Nazis Reach Chuguev.

Belgorod, 40 miles north of Kharkov, is the key point between the fallen Ukrainian fortress and Kursk, which the Russians recaptured in their winter offensive.

The Berlin radio said the counter-offensive had advanced to Chuguev, 20 miles southeast of Kharkov, and also extended to areas west and northwest of Kursk, 125 miles north of Kharkov.

[Russian and German dispatches last night indicated to American observers that the Nazi army may have conquered a vast new territory, nearly as large as the area regained in the drive back to Kharkov. The fighting, described as on a broad front from near Kursk south to and beyond Kharkov, indicated a Nazi sweep which was enveloping territory bounded on the east possibly by the railway which runs south from Orel thru Kursk to Kharkov. The Germans apparently are astride the railway at Belgorod.]

Indicating furious fighting southeast of Kharkov, the Russian midnight communique said 600 Germans were killed in an attack launched by large forces of Nazi infantry and 18 tanks.

Break Up Formation.

Anti-tank guns "broke up the enemy formation and destroyed 11 tanks," the war bulletin said.

Red army troops were fighting "stubborn engagements" against the Germans in this area of the middle reaches of the northern Donetz river, the communique said.

The Russians are aiming a four pronged attack at Smolensk, and Kholm-Zhirkovsky fell to a spearhead swinging down from the northeast, indicating an attempt to outflank Smolensk from the north.

Seize Rail Town.

West and southwest of Vyazma soviet troops captured several populated places, including Semlevo, a railway town, wiping out "large numbers of German officers." In the area of Bely other columns swept into 40 inhabited localities, including Batulino. Bely is 65 miles northeast of Smolensk.

"In one sector the Germans attempted to counter-attack, but were repelled and lost about 200 men in killed," the Russians declared.

South of Lake Ilmen, on the northern front, "our troops routed a strongly fortified German resistance point and forced a water barrier," the communique said. "The enemy suffered heavy losses and retreated, abandoning their wounded and arms."

Ordered to Quit City.

The Russians admitted withdrawal from the great industrial city of Kharkov only 24 hours after the Germans had claimed its recapture.

"Our troops after many days of fierce fighting by order of the command evacuated the town of Kharkov" Monday, said the Russian communique. The Germans had claimed Kharkov fell on Sunday.

The Russians made no more mention of the city which they had wrested from the Germans on Feb. 16.

Holds Degeneration Must Be Halted.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Des Moines, Ia., March 15.—Herbert Hoover said tonight that food production stands next to the military effort in war importance and that there are signs of degeneration in agriculture and food production that must be stopped.

In a speech before the conference of midwest governors from 12 states in the bread basket region, the former President declared, "Unless we stop these degenerative forces we weaken our military front."

After Hoover's address the conference adopted six conclusions on farm man power, machinery, and fertilizer supply. These embody some of the Hoover suggestions and embrace ideas expounded in hours of speeches from the time Gov. Bourke B. Hickenlooper called the meeting to order this morning.

Ask "Essential" Rating.

The resolutions said agriculture is in a crisis and recommended that agriculture be rated as an essential industry with proper rating on man power, materials, and equipment.

They suggested that without blanket deferment for farm workers, all experienced and essential farm labor be deferred, and such workers on the farm front be given recognition with suitable insignia.

Planks on machinery asked that steel and other materials be supplied to finish partly fabricated farm machinery; that machines now frozen be released for sale; that material be supplied at once for makers of farm machinery parts and repairs, and restrictions on these be removed; that local war boards be given authority to supply welding rod, bar steel, etc., for local repairs.

Asks Fertilizers at Once.

Other planks called for transportation for migrant seasonal farm workers, and for immediate release of available supplies of fertilizer.

Conclusions voiced at today's conference were limited to the three problems only—man power, machinery, fertilizer.

A set of resolutions drafted by a committee was withheld until the eight governors could mull it over. The result was a shorter and more succinct declaration of conference views.

Hoover, who was food administrator in World War I. described weaknesses that occurred in Russia, Germany, France in that war because of the food degeneration in those countries. Some causes he cited were the draining of too much labor from farms, farm machinery plants turned into munitions factories, decrease in herds, meats, cereals, dairy products, and a neglect of the food front that weakened their military front.

In comparison Hoover spoke of the

GEORGIA PLANS TO TAX U. S. UNITS

Competitive Agencies Are Denounced.

Atlanta, Ga., March 15 (AP).—A bill to tax federal agencies competing with private enterprise in Georgia, on the same scale as the private business is assessed, passed the state house unanimously today.

House Speaker Roy V. Harris took the floor to support the measure offered by Rep. T. Guy Connell of Valdosta. Harris warned that encroachment of federal agencies into various fields, especially public utilities, would so deplete state, county, and city revenues that "we will have to go to Washington with our hats in our hands, dependent on federal burocracies."

May Lose Power Firm.

The speaker said the bill was prompted by a conversation he heard in which it was said the federal power commission had offered a license to the Georgia Power company with the stipulation that the government could take over power company holdings in Georgia at any time, on payment of the market value of the holdings.

"The company refused to agree," he told the house, "and is preparing for a two year court fight."

Would Ruin Towns.

"If the government should take over all power company holdings in Georgia, some counties and cities would be ruined financially if those properties were written off the tax books.

"After the war is over we are going to hear a lot of radical proposals, and there is no way of telling how they will end. We should take whatever steps are possible to protect the state, our counties, and cities. If the government enters private business in competition with private enterprise, it should pay its way.

Composer's Taxes Put Sour Note in a Symphony

North Shore Line Collision in Fog Injures 85 Persons

Kenosha, Wis., March 15 [Special].—Eighty-five persons were injured, 24 of them so seriously that they required overnight hospital attention, when a three car limited express northbound on the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad crashed into a one car local train six miles south of here today.

A check of hospitals tonight showed 12 persons in the Kenosha hospital, 9 in St. Therese's hospital, Waukegan; 1 in hospitals at Racine, Wis., and 2 in the hospital at the Great Lakes Naval Training station.

Among the most seriously injured was Mrs. Ivan Rausch, 40, of Kenosha, whose legs were pinned beneath the wreckage and who was freed only after rescue workers used acetylene torches. Physicians at the Kenosha hospital amputated her right leg below the knee tonight.

Doctor Recognizes Daughter.

A dramatic incident took place at the Kenosha hospital when Dr. Charles Ulrich of Kenosha, who rushed to the hospital to administer aid to the victims, [illegible] blood from the face of a young girl with a gashed forehead and recognized her as his 16 year old daughter, Rose Marie. Dr. Ulrich proceeded to treat and sew up the wound.

The express train had left the Adams and Wabash station in Chicago at 3 p. m. Running thru heavy fog, it struck the rear of the one-car local train which runs between North Chicago Junction and Kenosha, at 4:15 p. m., near the Tobin road station a mile and a half north of the Illinois-Wisconsin state line.

Visibility Under 50 Feet.

Railroad officials said the local train had stopped because of a damaged air line. The conductor, V. A. Hamilton, 112 North St. James street, Waukegan, Ill., ran back to signal the limited which he knew was behind him. A North Shore representative said visibility was less than 50 feet at the time.

The trainman was setting a flare to warn the oncoming train when it appeared suddenly out of the murk, roared by him and smashed into the stalled car.

Names of injured in the North Shore wreck in Kenosha and Waukegan hospitals are on Page 2.

Most of the 100 or more passengers on the limited were thrown from their seats as the trains crashed. The local car was telescoped and most of its passengers were injured.

Several Towns Send Aid.

Help was quickly rushed to the somewhat isolated scene from the sheriff's departments in Kenosha county, Wisconsin, and Lake county, Illinois, and from police departments at Kenosha, Zion, Waukegan and North Chicago. Ambulances were sent from surrounding towns and the injured were soon on their way to hospitals.

Many of those less seriously hurt were given first aid at the scene, at railroad stations after they arrived in nearby cities, or at hospitals, and then discharged.

One of the navy men moved to the Great Lakes station hospital was among the more seriously injured. He is Harry Jones, 30, of Houston, Tex., a hospital apprentice, 1st class. He suffered head injuries and a compound fracture of his left leg.

Also moved with him to the Great Lakes hospital was Harold Pfaff, 24, third class naval air mechanic of Glenview, Ill., who received a possible fracture of the nose and bruises.

HEAR GOERING RETURNS FROM ITALIAN PARLEY

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

BERNE, Switzerland, March 15.—Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering returned to Germany in his armored train this afternoon, following a nine day visit incognito to Rome, according to private reports from Italy received tonight.

Semi-official information from the capital tonight indicated that the reichsmarshal's visit was connected with the forthcoming "all out" offensive by the axis powers against "the enemies of continental Europe."

There also was much speculation in Italian political circles today concerning a reported project in Berlin for the forthcoming proclamation of a United States of Europe, "each unit of which will be called upon to furnish an allocated contribution of fighting man power and industrial workers for the protection of the old continent against its natural enemies—the Anglo-Saxon powers and the united nations."

AMBUSHED BY MYSTERY ASSASSIN NEAR HIS HOME

BLAMES PAVING DEAL INTRIGUE FOR SHOOTING

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Back of the attempted murder yesterday of Edward [Spike] O'Donnell is a story not found in police records. It concerns Spike's self-confessed connection with an alleged combine that controlled city paving; a "powerful friend" in an important Washington position; and the slugging of a business man and a city official.

O'Donnell told policemen last night that State's Atty. Courtney would know who was back of the attempted assassination yesterday.

When, last August, word reached the state's attorney that the official of a large paving concern had been slugged by O'Donnell, Courtney sent for the injured official and questioned him.

Order to Get O'Donnell.

"Go out and get O'Donnell," the state's attorney told Capt. Dan Gilbert, chief investigator for the office.

But before action could be taken the paving official, who was present, spoke up. He protested that he didn't want to prosecute O'Donnell and insisted that he be permitted to consult his lawyer at once.

Next day the prosecutor's office reported that the slugged civilian had consulted the lawyer and had decided to make no charge against O'Donnell. The lawyer had added, it was said at Courtney's office, that the paving official would not sign a complaint, would not swear to a warrant, and refused to appear before the grand jury against O'Donnell.

But word concerning the situation reached O'Donnell. He was worried and wanted to tell his story to Courtney.

When O'Donnell appeared at the state's attorney's office he said that when he abandoned his beer trucking business he had become an agent for a "city paving ring." O'Donnell also said he had a friend who held an important position in Washington and that the friend had power in awarding PWA money for paving work.

Bidding by Contractors.

At that time city paving contracts were largely dominated by Mike Carrozzo, union boss whose men laid the pavement, and O'Donnell professed to know some of the secrets of collusive bidding by contractors. His story in this respect was at least partly born out by testimony in a law suit to the effect that O'Donnell had been paid $16,000 by a contractor who said he hired Spike to find out why his firm was barred from getting city, county, and state paving contracts. The contractor, John M. Bransfield, testified that Spike had earned the money.

Spike's story, boiled down, was as follows:

"I had this connection with Washington, see? My friend was the last word on asphalt. Thru him I was able to make a deal. I went to a guy in the city hall and told him I could arrange it so the government would O. K. a large asphalt deal.

Promised $70,000.

"This guy said he didn't think it could be done, at the figures I gave him. I said it could and if so I wanted my end. I was promised $70,000 for my work. The deal went thru like a charm.

"The contract was for between two

DRAFT BOARD REJECTS MICKEY ROONEY FOR SERVICE IN ARMY

Los Angeles, Cal., March 15 (AP).—Lt. Col. Agard H. Bailey, commanding officer of the Los Angeles induction station, reported tonight that Film Actor Mickey Rooney has been rejected for army service.

Col. Bailey said Rooney, 22 years old and the world's No. 1 box office attraction, had been referred to the induction center by his draft board, and had been given a thoro examination. Cause of the rejection was not made public but the film star's mother recently said he had been bothered with heart flutter and high blood pressure.

His studio, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, a month ago appealed his 1-A selective service classification on the ground that he is an essential man in an essential industry.

Edward [Spike] O'Donnell, south side beer baron of prohibition days, was shot and seriously wounded yesterday. The faultlessly dressed O'Donnell, who told police he was now unemployed, said he was ambushed by a man who shot him from behind as he was walking west on 83d street to his home at 8234 Loomis street.

Edward [Spike] O'Donnell.

Physicians at Little Company of Mary hospital said the bullet struck at the left of his spine and lodged in his chest, but missed vital organs.

After removing the bullet, they said that while his condition was serious, he probably would recover.

No Reason for Attack.

O'Donnell told Lt. Richard Lawler of Gresham police he had no idea who shot him and could give no reason for the attack. On several occasions during the prohibition era, O'Donnell was the target of gangster guns, but always escaped.

O'Donnell told the lieutenant that he was walking west on 83d street and was near the alley that runs between Ada and Loomis streets. A man rushed up behind him and fired at him once with a pistol, he said. He fell to his knees. Then, O'Donnell said, the man came up to him as he attempted to rise from the sidewalk, put the gun to his head and pulled the trigger.

Gets Away in Auto.

The gun misfired, O'Donnell said, and the man ran away and got into a car parked near the alley, which sped off to the north.

O'Donnell said he was able to rise from the sidewalk and stagger to his home, from where his wife, Elizabeth, and his daughter, Rita, 18 years old, drove him to the hospital.

O'Donnell gave his age as 53 years and said he recently had been engaged in the coal business and had sold coal to the city. He is a familiar figure in the city hall's corridors.

Police said O'Donnell at first told several conflicting stories about the assault, contending he was ambushed from the car and then that the man who shot him got out of the car shortly after the shot was fired.

Thoro Investigation.

Police said they were investigating his story thoroly and were inclined to believe that the shooting may have taken place in some other locality because of lack of witnesses to substantiate O'Donnell's story.

O'Donnell was long known as the best dressed if not the biggest of figures in the prohibition beer hustling racket. His associations in gangland were manifold.

One of his most recent brushes with the law was with the income tax division of the treasury, which slapped a tax lien suit of $247,601 against him for failure to make returns on income or pay taxes for 1928, 1929, 1930, 1931, and 1934.

The government presented an actual tax bill against him of $189,318, the rest being in penalties and interest, and asked liens against all his personal property.

A Former Convict.

O'Donnell is an ex-convict. He was found guilty on March 23, 1918, of receiving $1,765 in stolen property from the robbery of the Stockmen's Trust and Savings bank on Dec. 5, 1917. He was not committed to the penitentiary until Feb. 11, 1919. He was released on parole June 30, 1923.

On Sept. 25, 1925, four men in an automobile ambushed O'Donnell at 63d street and Western avenue. O'Donnell and a companion fell to the sidewalk and the slugs from the four guns passed over their heads.

Another assassination attempt occurred on June 29, 1928, a few days after the gang murder of Big Tim Murphy. This time four men again poked guns out of an automobile and fired on O'Donnell as he stood in front of his home at 2506 West 63d street.

Again O'Donnell dodged the bullets by throwing himself to the ground behind his automobile, which was standing beside him at the curb.

Police reasoned that the attempt on O'Donnell was in reprisal for the slaying of Murphy, who was a partner of Dingbat Oberta of the rival Joe Saltis gang.

BLAMES PAVING DEAL INTRIGUE FOR SHOOTING

O'Donnell Says He Was Cheated of $70,000.

and three million dollars. Part of it went to John P. Moriarity, whose bid was a lot lower than those put in by the gents in the paving ring.

"But Moriarity found out he couldn't get the asphalt to do the work. The ring froze him out. He had trouble getting any one to sign his bond. Then Carrozza wouldn't give him workers. So he had to turn his contract over to the guys picked out to get it by the paving official I slugged.

Slugs Man Who "Gypped" Him.

"I slugged him because I got gypped of the $70,000 I was supposed to get. I had made the deal possible. They all knew I was to be cut in. But the paving ring has frozen me out. They keep giving me the run-around.

"I need the dough. The government is trying to collect $247,000 back income taxes from me. I can settle for $70,000. And I'm going to get it."

The story didn't come out in a steady recital. Spike never says anything directly. Capt. Gilbert said he talks in circles and half of his conversation is innuendo and his listener is supposed to fill in gaps.

Spike talks out of the corner of his mouth and makes many gestures and frequently twists his face and pokes his listener in the ribs to emphasize some parts of his peculiar sentence construction.

Wait for Developments.

Gilbert and Assistant State's Attorney Crowley, with the assent of Courtney, waited for developments in the affairs of O'Donnell. They waited for the information he could give them, if he would, and they watched to see if O'Donnell got his "fee" or if he did not.

A few months passed. Then came the report that a city hall official had been beaten severely by O'Donnell in a corridor of the city hall in sight of a number of persons. Courtney's office had a report of the fight that night. Police Commissioner Allman said next day he hadn't heard of it. The city hall official did not go to the police or to the state's attorney. He refused to discuss the battle with any one.

But Spike talked about it freely. He said he had given the same city official a beating in his own office a year or more ago.

Helped Many of Them.

"I lost my home," Spike said. "The government foreclosed on the mortgage. I haven't anything except what is due me in this deal. I did something for those fellows and they owe me. I'm not afraid of them. I'm going to keep after them till I get what is coming to me.

"There was a time when those big shots in the city hall were glad to know me. I helped many of them. All I've been able to get out of any of them lately was a job for my daughter on the city pay roll for a short time."

Last night, after O'Donnell told his police interviewers: "State's Attorney Courtney knows why I was shot," he told The Tribune reporter: "Yes, it was because of that paving deal."

WILLUMEIT GETS WEEK TO RAISE CASH FOR TRIAL

The suit seeking to denaturalize Dr. Otto Willumeit, former German-American bund leader in Chicago, was continued until next Monday by Federal Judge William J. Campbell yesterday to allow Willumeit time to raise funds for defense and to obtain counsel. Thru a writ of habeas corpus, the defendant was brought here from New York, where he is awaiting a ruling by the Circuit Court of Appeals on his prison sentences for espionage and draft violations.

Willumeit told Judge Campbell he would be willing to give up his citizenship immediately rather than go thru a public hearing and resultant "press circus," which might "incriminate" his appeal, which will come up about May 1. The judge convinced him that the appeal jurists would not be influenced by newspaper publicity and that he was entitled to a trial.

United States Atty. J. Albert Woll said he had asked the attorneys of eight other former Bundists charged with acquiring their citizenship fraudulently to appear in court this morning. He said he would seek to consolidate the nine cases.

66 Survivors of British Ship, Sunk by U-Boat, Land

SAN JUAN, P. R., March 15 (AP).—Four lifeboats carrying 66 survivors of a British ship sunk recently in the mid-Atlantic have landed at various islands in the West Indies after voyages of from 17 to 23 days, it was announced today by the Tenth Naval district. Half of the British crew members already are en route to England to join another ship.

BRIBE CHARGE DENIED BY RUBBER OFFICIAL; FREED ON $1,500 BOND

Arnold R. Boris, 33 years old, manager of the Chicago office of the Rubber Manufacturers' Association of America, Inc., a nonprofit organization which handles excess auto tires for the government, pleaded not guilty yesterday before United States Commissioner E. K. Walker to a charge of receiving a bribe from a tire dealer for preferential treatment. He was released on a $1,500 bond, and instructed to reappear for further hearing March 30.

Arnold R. Boris.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation alleges that Boris accepted $25 in marked bills from an Elmwood Park tire dealer, the money representing a gratuity of 25 cents on each of 100 tires handpicked from a stockpile of 60,000 in the RMA's Chicago warehouse.

SUPREME COURT BARS REVIEW OF NEW CULT CASE

Washington, D. C., March 15 (AP).—Two "Jehovah's Witnesses" failed for the second time today to get the Supreme court to review their conviction in Texas courts on charges of violating city ordinances dealing with the distribution of literature.

The case involved Mrs. John Hilley, fined $15 and costs on a charge of violating a Comanche ordinance and Tully B. Killam, fined $10 and costs on a charge of violating a Floresville ordinance. The Comanche ordinance, argued counsel for Jehovah's Witnesses, imposed "an excessive license tax of $5 per day" for the distribution of literatures. The Floresville ordinance was said to prohibit peddling of literature on any street within the city.

In decisions March 8 the Supreme court declared unconstitutional a Dallas, Tex., ordinance prohibiting the distribution upon the streets of handbills containing advertising matter and a Paris, Tex., ordinance prohibiting the solicitation, without a permit from the mayor, of orders for books within the resident district of the municipality. The tribunal gave no explanation of today's action.

MURDER, INC., TRIO WINS REHEARING BY HIGH TRIBUNAL

Washington, D. C., March 15 (AP).—The Supreme court today agreed to review the conviction of Louis [Lepke] Buchalter, Emanuel Weiss, and Louis Capone, alleged members of "Murder, Inc.," on a charge of slaying Joseph Rosen, a Brooklyn storekeeper. The three are under sentence to die in Sing Sing prison.

A review was denied by the court Feb. 15, and today it granted a petition for rehearing This means the court will hear oral arguments on the case and will deliver an opinion.

A stay of execution had been granted Dec. 5 by Justice Owen J. Roberts. The stay was canceled when the Feb. 15 action was taken. Attorneys for the three contended there was doubt they had received a fair trial.

SEEKS PERJURY LAW TO PUNISH SHIFTY WITNESS

Courtney Asking Plugs for Legal Loopholes.

State's Atty. Thomas J. Courtney said yesterday that he will ask the Illinois legislature to enact six amendments to state laws to make prosecution by his office more effective in certain cases. Bills to accomplish the ends sought are expected to be introduced in Springfield this week.

In the first place on his list, Courtney put a proposal intended to halt the practice of witnesses changing their stories between the grand jury room and the court room. It would make any such change evidence of perjury on its face. New York has such a law, he said.

Wants Immunity Grant.

The Chicago Crime commission has announced that it would support such an anti-perjury bill.

Courtney also wants the law to permit a court to give immunity to a witness to compel him to testify. Many witnesses refuse now to testify on the ground that they fear incriminating themselves. Under Courtney's amendment, if immunity were granted and the witness still refused to testify, he could be punished for contempt of court.

Other bills backed by Courtney in the series are:

A bill to permit the state's attorney to appeal any court order which terminates a criminal action without trial. Such cases would include pleas in bar, where prosecution is forestalled on grounds that the evidence is documentary evidence provided by the defendant.

Would Punish Escapers.

A bill providing penalties for prisoners who escape from custody. The law now merely provides penalties for those who help them escape.

A bill to require that a writ of error cannot be obtained more than five years after the date of conviction. The law provides for a "reasonable" time, which has been construed by courts to be as long as 20 years.

Courtney gave the proposed bills to Asst. State's Atty. John T. Gallagher, who will take them to Springfield. Rep. Edward J. McCabe [D., Chicago] will handle the bills there.

MARINE'S WIFE WAITS IN VAIN FOR HIS ARRIVAL

Mrs. Violet Rockwell, 23 years old, 325 South Leavitt street, waited in vain for her husband, Leroy, 25, a marine private, to arrive from San Diego, Cal., yesterday. Pvt. Rockwell, who was reported missing in action on Guadalcanal for two months last fall, told her by telephone from San Diego, Cal., last week that he had been wounded in both legs and had suffered six attacks of malaria, but that he was able to move with the aid of canes. He said he expected to arrive in Chicago at 9 a. m. yesterday. However, he did not appear on two trains which his wife met. Mrs. Rockwell said last night that she had learned that one of his brothers was on leave in San Diego and that she suspected that had delayed her husband's departure. Pvt. Rockwell is one of the five Kewanee, Ill., brothers serving in the army and navy.

5 NAVAL FLYERS LOST ON COAST; 5 DIE IN TEXAS

Report 4 in Crew of Plane That Hits Mountain.

Seattle, Wash., March 15 (AP).—Navy authorities today reported five men missing and believed dead after the collision of an army fighter plane and a navy bomber yesterday over Puget Sound. The body of a sixth was recovered.

The missing: Lt. [j.g.] George R. Millikan, San Francisco, Cal.; Ensign Walter Raymond Pamman, San Francisco, Cal.; Ensign Gerald Silas Bennett, Freeport, Me.; James B. Krenciprock, radioman, Niles, O.; Frank A. Blaia, aviation machinist's mate, Sacramento, Cal.

The coast guard recovered the body of Thomas Jennings Jeffreys, aviation metalsmith 1st class, Burlington, N. C.

5 Killed at Corpus Christi.

Corpus Christi, Tex., March 15 (AP).—Five men were killed in the crash of a twin engine training plane Saturday 45 miles southwest of the naval air station. The dead: Lt. Richard Leroy Barbor, 25 years old, instructor, Wellington, O.; Cadet Roy E. Norman, 21, East Bend, N. C.; Ordnanceman Roderick H. Stafford, 20, son of Mrs. Mabel Stafford, 1824 Woodlawn avenue, Indianapolis, Ind.; Cadet John B. Barger, Ray, Ariz., and Cadet Philip Smith of Eugene, Ore.

Plane Hits Mountain.

Albuquerque, N. M., March 15 (AP).—Kirtland field reported tonight that a twin motored army training plane with four crewmen aboard had crashed into the side of 10,500 foot Mount Baldy in eastern Arizona. Fate of the four flyers was not determined, but the field office said there might be a slight chance for them. They were identified as 1st Lt. Robert E. Garrett, Minneapolis, Minn.; Cadet Robert A. Callahan, Portland, Ore.; Sergt. Joseph J. Gibbs, Franklin, N. C., and Pvt. Smoot E. Tolman, Bell, Cal.

APPEAL TO KEEP STOCKYARDS 'L' BRANCH RUNNING

The Chicago Junction railroad and the Central Manufacturing district are to make an appeal today to the Illinois Commerce commission for definite arrangements looking to the continuance of service on the Kenwood-Stockyards elevated line.

The line was built by the Union Stockyards in 1903 and was leased to the elevated at $93,000 a year, which was paid until the elevated system went into bankruptcy in 1937. Passenger traffic on the stockyards branch alone equals 20,000 fares a day.

Richard Hackett, general manager of the manufacturing district, said last night that unless the L continues the operations and pays rent, the Chicago Junction will ask for a certificate to operate its own system and split fares with the elevated or with an L and surface lines consolidation.

HOSPITAL LIST OF NORTH SHORE WRECK VICTIMS

Mrs. Helen Schkiele, 22, of 1663 South 44th street, Milwaukee, face cuts.

Eight persons were given hospital treatment at Racine, according to reports from St. Mary's and St. Luke's hospitals there. All were discharged except Sister Eansworth of the De Koven foundation, an Episcopal institution, who received a cut lip and minor lacerations. She remained under treatment at St. Luke's hospital.

ARREST THREE AS BOOKMAKERS.

Three men were arrested and charged with operating handbooks by Capt. Thomas J. Duffy of the Central police yesterday. They will be arraigned in South State street court today. They are Lazer Marcus, 36 years old, arrested at 28 North Wells street; John Friedlund, 39, at 48 North Wells street, and Anthony Talbert, 55, at 208 West Madison street.

ARREST 9, SEIZE HIDDEN RECORDS IN 3 VICE RAIDS

Drive on Suspected 'Call' Flats Opened.

Nine persons were arrested last night in three raids on alleged north side "call flats" as police moved against what they suspect is a nation-wide vice ring with headquarters at 2921 Pine Grove avenue.

The Pine Grove avenue apartment was the first to be raided. There Lt. John O'Malley and Sergt. William Higgins arrested four persons and seized records listing the names and telephone numbers of more than 200 girls, and the names of nearly 1,000 men frequenters. The records were found beneath the blanket in the basket of a cocker spaniel.

Man and Three Women Seized.

Those arrested are Ben Schwartz, 33 years old, who police said had served a two year term for grand larceny at Huntsville, Tex., and who has a long criminal record; his wife, Sigfred, 25; Ruth Norburn, 22, of 4838 Kenmore avenue, and a Negro maid, Rose Johnson, of 343 East 31st street.

The apartment, containing nine rooms, was rented by Mrs. Barbara Lundquist, 40 years old. Police said it was elaborately furnished, with oriental rugs, and costly furniture.

Capt. John Howe of the Sheffield avenue station, said that Mrs. Lundquist had been arrested four times in the last six months on vice charges, but had not been convicted. Schwartz told detectives last night that Mrs. Lundquist was in Kansas City.

Capt. Howe said he believed that operators of the ring were the same persons involved in vice raids made recently in Washington, D. C.

The second raid was staged in an apartment at 2819 Cambridge avenue, where Esther Watson, 27, of 555 Surf street, Margaret Whitaker, 40, who said she lived in the apartment, and Eugene Kurrer, 30, of 20 North Ashland avenue, who police said admitted being a frequenter, were arrested.

Third Raid Nets Two.

The other apartment raided was at 644 Wrightwood avenue where police arrested Corine Capito, 32, of 2757 Pine Grove avenue, and Adeline Sherman, 38, of 644 Wrightwood avenue.

Addresses of the two apartments were found in the ledger sheets discovered in the Pine Grove avenue flat. Also listed were apartments at 515 Belden avenue, 559 Surf street, 664 Sheridan road, 457 Roslyn place, and 2725 Hampden court.

All of the apartments, Capt. Howe said, are operated by Mrs. Lundquist. He asserted that telephone bills and utility receipts for the apartments were found at the Pine Grove avenue apartment made out in Mrs. Lundquist's name.

CHINATOWN GETS SPRUCED UP FOR MADAME CHIANG

Generalissimo's Wife Will Visit Colony Sunday.

The delay in Mme. Chiang Kai-shek's midwest visit has given Chicago's Chinatown, 22d street and Wentworth avenue, one more week in which to wash stores and houses [outside as well as inside], and to paint, paper, and hang festive decorations.

Special attention has been given the half million dollar On Leong association building at 2216 Wentworth avenue, which is considered the outstanding Chinese structure in America. It has been newly painted thruout in preparation for the visit of the wife of China's generalissimo. She will go there Sunday afternoon for the principal event planned for her here between the reception on Friday and her appearance at the Chicago Stadium Monday evening.

Arrives in City Friday.

Mme. Chiang, who could not be here last week because of illness, will arrive Friday and will stay at the Drake hotel instead of the Palmer House as originally planned. The reception of the Chicago Chinese consulate general will be held in the Drake Gold Coast room from 5 to 7 p. m. that day, Dr. Chang-lok Chen, Chicago consul general, said yesterday. No plans have been disclosed for Saturday.

The time and place of Mme. Chiang's arrival will not be announced to avoid crowds, but a welcoming party of state and city leaders will greet her. The group will include: Gov. Dwight H. Green and Mrs. Green; Mayor Kelly and Mrs. Kelly; Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the citizens committee to honor Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, Mrs. Strawn and Dr. Chen.

Chinese Envoy in Party.

Among those expected to be in Mme. Chiang's entourage are Wei Tao-ming, ambassador to the United States from the Republic of China, and Mrs. Wei. The latter is a distinguished person in her own right, having been a judge in Shanghai and one of the framers of the Chinese civil code. Others with Mme. Chiang will be K. Tong, vice minister of information for the Chinese government at Chungking, and Dr. L. K. Kung, Mme. Chiang's nephew, who is listed as the "secretary general" of the party.

Coincident with Mme. Chiang's appearance here will be the publication of her pamphlet, "We Chinese Women," a collection of her speeches and writings in 1942. The cover design is her name in red calligraphy. She signs the book Mayling Soong Chiang.

Departs After Monday Talk.

Mme. Chiang's visit here will end when she speaks at 8 p. m. Monday in the Stadium in a program which will be broadcast. A spokesman for the Chinese here said yesterday that she would leave afterward to continue west, en route to San Francisco.

Invitation and admittance cards issued for the reception last Friday will be honored at this week's event, the Chinese consul general, Dr. Chen, announced. Tickets sold for the Stadium appearance planned for March 13 also will be good next Monday.

DEMOCRATS PLAN FLOOR FIGHT FOR NO-SKIP TAX BILL

Washington, D. C., March 15 (AP).—House Democratic leaders decided at a conference today to make an all-out floor fight for an income tax collection system which provides no tax abatement.

A number of Republicans have said they would fight for the Ruml skip-a-tax-year plan, so a notable struggle is in prospect.

Today's conference was attended by Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, Majority Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, and Democratic members of the house ways and means committee, Chairman Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina, Jere Cooper of Tennessee, and Wesley E. Disney of Oklahoma.

Rayburn said later, "I'm going down the line for the committee plan," and others who attended said sentiment was aligned solidly for the "no abatement" bill approved by the ways and means committee.

The committee plan, which is expected to be reported formally tomorrow, cancels no part of a tax year, but provides for a 20 per cent withholding levy against the taxable portion of wages and salaries, effective July 1.

2 War Objectors Accused of Black-Out Violation

Cleveland, O., March 15 (AP).—Two conscientious objectors assigned as orderlies at the Cleveland State hospital were charged today with violating the city's black-out ordinance. They are Louis Lock, 23 years old, of Marinette, Wis., and Bolton Davidheiser, 25, of Columbus, O.

At Sale of Stevens Hotel Furnishings

Fabulous Furnishings of Stevens on Sale.

BY MARTHA MURPHY.

Memories were auctioned off yesterday with the help of the United States Army Air Forces technical training command. The furnishings and furbelows of the Stevens hotel, now Unit No. 1 of the Army Air Forces Technical Training schools, were knocked down to the highest bidders in the former Electric garage, Wabash avenue and Harrison streets. The auction is expected to be completed this week.

More than 60,000 lots ranging from drink muddlers and bellhops' bow ties to Oriental rugs and onyx topped tables are on sale. To the soldiers who helped polish the champagne glasses, green and gold dinner plates and mountains of silver which went on the block yesterday, they represent just so much hard work. To the thousands of people who stayed at the Stevens, they represent the passing of an era.

Proceeds to the Army.

Altho the auctioneers' inventory of 995 pages says the sale is "by order of the Stevens Hotel corporation," proceeds will be credited to the army on the purchase price of the hotel. The price was $6,000,000.

Soldiers guard the entrance to the 21 story garage where the furnishings are stored. They open the door when a buyer rings, usher him to an office to secure credentials, and then escort him into the elevators which once carried only limousines.

A private calls out the elevator signals, "Going up here. This way to silver," with obvious glee. Another warns a customer not to lean too heavily on the tables. All have comments to make.

Big Enough for a Bath.

"See those punch bowls there?" one asked. "There are dozens of 'em, each big enough for a baby's bath."

"These rugs are new. Lots of wool in them that folks can't buy any more," an escort said. "Bidding will be hot on those."

An ingenious system has been worked out to govern purchases of new merchandise. A representative of the office of price administration is on hand to see that ceiling prices are observed. Should two or three bidders bid the ceiling price, each is given a number. A chuck-a-luck wheel is spun and the man with the lucky number gets the lot.

Ranged along the wall behind the carpeting are hundreds of bolts of drapery material. Here is enough gold and silver cloth to garb the fairies of a hundred productions of "A Midsummer Night's Dream." Here are samples of the draperies hung in the Stevens' 3,000 bedrooms and of the spreads which bedecked enough beds to sleep 8,000 persons.

Sales yesterday reached astronomical figures. Lots of 75,000 pieces of dinnerware and 150,000 pieces of silver were purchased at one time. All buyers were hotel, restaurant, or hospital managers or institutional supply dealers. The merely curious were barred by a $50 entrance tariff to be applied on purchases.

The representative of a large Chicago wholesale and retail house which sold many of the lots to the Stevens originally left early in disgust. Bidders were paying more for the used articles than his firm received when they were new, he said.

$100,000 Steel Kitchen.

At regular intervals, escorted tours left for Unit No. 1 itself, to view the $100,000 steel kitchen in the former Continental room, the vault in the executive office, and the five bowling alleys in the service building, none of which could be moved to the garage.

Samuel L. Winternitz & Co., the auctioneers, estimate that the sale will be completed this week. Even the collection of flags of all nations, the decorative ivory tusk, the egg timers, music stands, and 742 cuspidor will be gone.

ONTARIO LIQUOR BUYERS TO PAY $1 FOR PERMIT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., March 15.—A. St. Clair Gordon, chairman of the Ontario liquor board, disclosed today that the new consumers' liquor permit will cost $1, half the cost of the present permit, and will include a section covering rationing of beer and wine.

"We have abolished the 25 cent permit and we don't want to hit those persons who buy very little and who, in the past, availed themselves of the 25 cent permit," Gordon said. "Last year we sold four and a half millions of the 25 cent permits."

Wine rationing is expected to begin April 1, the date the new permits go into effect. The question of beer rationing has not been settled.

WAR OR NO WAR, CHURCHILL GETS RATION PROBLEM

VANCOUVER, B. C., March 15 (AP).—When Miss Smith received an extra ration book by mistake. She thought the honest thing to do was to mail it to Prime Minister Winston Churchill in England. Three times the ration book crossed the turbulent Atlantic. Three times it came back, because the British premier didn't consider it quite within his jurisdiction. Rationing officials did not identify Miss Smith further today, but fervently echoed the hope of the British high commissioner's office in Ottawa "that Miss Smith can be deterred from sending her ration book on new trans-Atlantic journeys."

INCOME TAX RUSH ENDS FOR PAYERS, NOT FOR BUREAU

It'll Take Weeks to Hit Bottom of Mail.

Chicagoans rushed by the thousands yesterday to beat the midnight income tax deadline. Many of them were paying a tax for the first time because of the lowered exemptions. They deluged the internal revenue bureau with so much mail veteran workers estimated the bottom of the huge pile will not be reached until some time next month

Daniel J. Conerty, chief deputy of the internal revenue bureau, estimated 4,500 persons were assisted in filing returns at the United States courthouse yesterday, compared with 6,230 Saturday, the peak day. The office assisted 230,000 persons in filing returns this year.

All Records Fall.

Collector Carter H. Harrison estimated the total number of taxpayers in the Chicago area this year at 2,250,000, which is 800,000 more than last year. "All records for the number of returns filed and the amount of money received will be broken this year," he said.

Harrison said last night that returns filed since Jan. 1 numbered 697,600, with payments totaling $206,887,077. On March 16, the comparable day last year, the returns numbered 749,500 and the payments $150,402,317.

Miss Mary Ann Falzone, 21 years old, of 1516 Taylor street, a war plant worker, was the last person in line to file her return. She ducked under the arm of Romole J. Serasani, a deputy collector, as he was closing the door. "I've just been putting it off," she explained.

Largest corporation return, Harrison said, was a tax of $28,000,000 on which the first quarterly payment of $7,000,000 was paid yesterday. The largest single payment was $15,000,000, received from a corporation which paid its tax in full Saturday. The largest individual payment was a first quarterly instalment of $500,000 on a tax of $2,000,000.

See Heavy Delinquency.

Thruout the country, yesterday was the biggest day in the history of bureau of internal revenue offices. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury John L. Sullivan said in Washington he was certain virtually every one would pay up, but reports from revenue offices scattered thruout the country indicated the delinquencies might be heavy.

Harrison warned that penalties of 5 per cent a month [not to exceed 25 per cent] will be levied on wilfully delinquent payments and the privilege of making quarterly payments becomes revoked.

United States treasury statements showed collections amounting to $473,029,254 had been made during the first 12 days of March, compared with $441,394,702 in the same period last year.

Overheard in Line.

The lines of taxpayers buzzed with complaints. "I remember when my quarterly payment now would have been more than my annual payment," grumbled one man.

A soldier in line thought he knew how he could be elected President some day. "I'm paying my first instalment now," he said, "but you know we can be exempted until after the war. That would be quite a blow then, but I could get to be President by telling the 12 million service men they didn't have to pay."

U.S. WILL EXPORT 4,000 TOOLS THE FARMERS NEED

WPA Wheelbarrows Go to Treasury.

Four thousand wheel barrows formerly used by the work projects administration will be turned over by the treasury department to the office of inter-American affairs in Washington, D. C., for export shipment, William Hershey, assistant procurement officer for the treasury department in this region, said yesterday. Hershey said the transaction was being handled by the office of emergency management.

Tools, tractors, and other implements given to the procurement office by the WPA, which is being liquidated, also will be turned over to the inter-American affairs office thru the OEM, he added.

Equipment Cannot Be Sold.

He explained that all surplus equipment received from the WPA or any other agency must be offered by the treasury department to the army, navy, war plants, and government bureaus to save them purchasing new equipment. Under a Presidential order the material may not be sold, he said.

Hershey asserted it was his understanding that the 4,000 wheel barrows, stacked in a vacant lot at 31st street and Hoyne avenue for some time, are to be shipped to South America in return for rubber.

J. Fred Schultz, manager of the Lansing company, dealer in trucking tools and implements, expressed surprise that the 4,000 wheel barrows would be exported when there was such a great demand for them by farmers and small gardeners. He said he had sent the procurement office a letter asking if he might bid on them, but that he had not received a reply.

Needed by Farms.

"Our farmers need them worse than any one in other countries," said an executive of a large mail order house. "They are needed for war gardens, too. If they put these wheel barrows up for sale, we'd take the whole lot and be delighted to do so. We've been permitted to bid on WPA wheel barrows in other parts of the nation, but not here."

The manufacture of new wheel barrows has been drastically curtailed, and only certain war plants and all householders who have converted from oil to coal heat may purchase them, he said.

37 SHIPS SUNK IN ST. LAWRENCE, COMMONS TOLD

Quebec M. P. Says Planes Fail to Aid Defense.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 15 (AP).—J. S. Roy, Quebec Independent, said in the house of commons tonight that residents of the Gaspe coast at the mouth of the St. Lawrence river had witnessed many battles between ships and submarines but in none of them had the air force played any part.

He declared that there was something wrong with the St. Lawrence river and gulf defenses and suggested that a royal commission should be set up to investigate this situation.

Navy Minister Angus MacDonald interrupted at one stage to ask the member if he thought he was helping St. Lawrence navigation by telling these things in the house.

"He is showing that the minister is incompetent," shouted Jean Francois Pouliot, Quebec Liberal.

Puts Toll at 37 Ships.

Roy said that he believed some 37 ships had been sunk in the St. Lawrence river and gulf area, if the east coast of Newfoundland were included.

He told of having witnessed a battle between one or more submarines and two corvettes about five miles from the bomber base at Gaspe.

Immediately the battle opened local residents had telephoned the bomber station, said Roy. The battle lasted 1½ hours but the first plane arrived at the scene at 5 a. m. next day, he asserted.

Another incident he described occurred Sept. 15 when, he said, the lighthouse keeper at Cape Rosier saw a submarine about a mile to the northeast.

The lighthouse keeper had telephoned the authorities on shore and others had similarly telephoned while the people, seeing a large convoy approaching the spot, gathered to see what would happen, he said.

Two Ships Torpedoed.

The submarine was first sighted at 11 a. m. on a Sunday. Soon after the convoy reached the spot two ships were torpedoed, one at 12:21, sinking at 12:28, and the second torpedoed at 12:22, sinking at 12:32.

No planes appeared to help the convoy escort, said Roy, and apparently no warning had reached the convoy of the danger awaiting it.

He questioned how that could happen when he had been assured there were competent defenses in that area with officers empowered to act without reference to headquarters.

There was no necessity of closing the St. Lawrence river route this season if the government would institute proper defense meansures, he said.

HOOVER WARNS FOOD DECLINE PERILS VICTORY

Finds Degeneration on World War I. Pattern.

situation in America, where food production was greatly increased during the war.

Five present deficits or drains from America's normal larder were given by Hoover as:

A blockade of imports, such as protein feed for animals, our obligations to our allies, extra food for fighting men, extra food for workers, and a decrease in production.

Most disturbing phase of the national pantry situation, Hoover said, is a prospective decrease in food output. He spoke of "uncanny parallels" with what has happened in Europe. Chief of these he gave as the drawing of an undue amount of labor from the farms, much of it skilled, the farm machinery situation, where machines are wearing out faster than replacements, and curtailment of protein feed for cattle.

Time Is Short, He Says.

Many constructive suggestions, Hoover remarked, have been made to federal authorities on food front strategy. He enumerated several of these saying, "I only mention them again because this vaccination has not sufficiently taken even, yet. And time runs short. No man can effect the timing of crops."

Food must win not only the war but also the peace, the ex-President declared, saying that when the war ends, 300 or 400 million starving people in Europe and China will require aid.

Hoover said if degeneration of agriculture is not stopped this year it will be worse in 1944 and still worse in 1945.

Must Be Strong at End.

"And a prudent nation," he said, "would plan for a long war. We must come in strong at the finish."

During the morning the ex-President received an ovation when he appeared before a joint session of the Iowa legislature. He analyzed post-war problems and the possible approaches to peace making. The first new approach he declared would deal with the forces which make for war.

Hoover said the Versailles treaty failed to meet most of these destructive forces, failed to extinguish militarism, stimulated excessive nationalism, and furnished fuel to economic destruction.

Hoover's view was that in approaching the peace making, no general peace conference should be had and no armistice. Instead, he advocated a "conditional" peace which would include armistice provisions to end combat, the establishment of political order and a re-start of economic life before the forces of degeneration get in their work.

General's Wife

Mrs. Brehon B. Somervell, the former Mrs. Louise Hampton Wartmann.

Ocala, Fla., March 15 (AP).—Mrs. Louise Hampton Wartmann and Lt. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, chief of the army's services of supply, were married today.

Only members of the immediate families were present. The couple will live at Fort Myer, Va., where the general has resided since taking up headquarters in Washington.

Mrs. Somervell is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George M. Hampton of Fordyce, Ark. She was graduated from Belcourt seminary in Washington, D. C., a school founded by Gen. Somervell's mother. It was there that she first met the general while he was a cadet at the United States Military academy. Gen. Somervell is 50 years old and also has been married previously.

REPORT JOLIET FLYER MISSING IN NORTH AFRICA

Capt. Clarence R. Rimke.

Mr. and Mrs. August Rimke, 1109 May street, Joliet, were informed yesterday that their son, Capt. Clarence R. Rimke, 26 years old, U. S. army air forces, has been missing in action since Feb. 22. Capt. Rimke, a P-38 pilot in North Africa, apparently was shot down in aerial combat on his birthday.

A letter received last Friday by the Rimkes and dated Feb. 19 informed the parents that their son expected to be home soon and added that he had accomplished something that long had been his desire—the shooting of a German Me 109 out of the air. Capt. Rimke had been overseas for eight months and in Africa since last November.

A graduate of Illinois State Normal college, he enlisted in the air forces and was commissioned in June, 1941. Capt. Rimke received two promotions after leaving the United States.

GOVERNORS ASK FARM HELP FOR PLANTINGSEASON

Des Moines, Ia., March 15 [Special].—Governors and agricultural experts of 12 corn belt states today warned that unless food production is given its rightful place as an industry essential to war, there will be a decrease in acreage and a consequential reduction in the nation's food resources. The bread basket officials, attending the midwest conference of governors on man power and agricultural problems, demanded that more labor and farm machinery immediately be made available for agriculture, especially for the planting seasons.

The conferees, convening at 9 o'clock this morning, held an open meeting at which delegates from each of the states represented offered suggestions looking to a solution of the problem.

Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio stated that Washington has not utilized the state governments to the extent of their authority or ability and the "stark fact remains that unless something is done immediately America will be hungry."

"We are not asking that the army be depleted," he said. "We are not asking that industrial labor be raided, but we do ask that agriculture be given consideration, essential as it is, equal to its importance in the winning of the war.

"The rules and regulations coming from Washington, the valuable time taken in the complicated procedure necessary for the farmer to get action has discouraged him. Many of the rules and regulations, many of the orders and changes do not make sense in his judgment."

Machinery Bungling Cited.

Bungling of the farm machinery program, with machines frozen in the hands of manufacturers, was described by Gov. Bourke B. Hicklenlooper of Iowa. He said several thousand combines which could have been available last fall are in storage.

"Under rationing, they were not released," he said. "One company alone has on hand 1,094 that it is not permitted to sell.

"Tractors, plows, harrows, hoes, binders and other equipment are frozen, or else the pattern for their sale is impractical to the point of foolishness. To illustrate, one company received authority for sale and distribution of 470 rotary hoes. This company made recommendations for area distribution based upon its experience. Experience recommended 101 of these for Indiana, the government allotted 19. Experience recommended 126 for Illinois and Iowa, the government allowed 42. Experience recommended four for Georgia. The government allotted 36. And so on.

Tractor Material Idle.

This same company has had on hand for a long period 90 per cent of the material for construction of over 3,000 farm tractors. This material is unused and idle.

"It is hard to escape the conclusion that inexperienced and impracticable people are writing the rules."

Gov. Dwight Green of Illinois said unless unnecessary restrictions on farmers are ended, a breakdown of food production is threatened.

"From this meeting," he said, "the message can go forth to all America that the "bread basket" of the world has gone "all out" for victory, but that unless millions of farmers are freed from the hampering of bungling burocracy that they will be defeated in their great and patriotic purpose of feeding the armies which are shedding their blood for freedom and the other armies here on the home front which must be given confidence that every source of power in the nation is being employed for victory.

Home Front Unbalanced.

"The confusion and neglect created by the conflictions and futile groping of burocracy have thrown the war effort of the American home front completely out of balance. No one can question the basic fact that victory depends upon three elemental factors—front line power, industrial power, and agricultural power."

In discussing the farm machinery problem, Howard Leonard, Illinois director of agriculture, said he had learned that much steel allocated to the "big seven" in the farm machinery field was lying in their plants.

Great Shortage of Parts.

The lack of replacement parts for farm machinery was mentioned by Gov. Harry F. Kelly of Michigan, who said a recent survey in the Saginaw valley, showed 238 tractors on the floor of 37 repair shops, filling all the standing room, and that they had been there three weeks or more waiting for parts. Gov. Kelly presented an exhaustive study of Michigan's agriculture prepared by a group of farm experts, with specific recommendations designed to aid Michigan farmers in producing food and fibre.

Gov. Henry F. Schricker of Indiana said where his state normally was about 50 per cent agricultural, it is now 40 per cent.

"I believe the time is at hand," he said, "in view of dwindling crops for the federal government to say, for the next eight months, until the end of harvest, 'we will defer all necessary and essential labor on farms.'

"We must make it plain to the authorities in power that the people are entitled to know the truth, and what the situation is likely to be at the end of 1943."

Nebraska to Solve Own Problem.

Gov. Dwight Griswold of Nebraska said his state proposes to solve its own man power problem without waiting further action by federal agencies.

"I am confident," he said, "that by making full use of farm labor resources available the job will be done in Nebraska.

"I believe we will make a mistake if we tear down the draft law by blanket deferments for any group."

A proposal that governmental employés should be used on leave of absence in peak seasons on the farm, was among a series of 11 points submitted by Lt. Gov. Edward J. Thye of Minnesota. Another was that poor producing animals be culled out and that federal agencies should not buy such animals for replacement on other farms.

Suggests Visit to F. D. R.

Gov. M. Q. Sharpe of South Dakota advocated that the governors go to Washington and sit down and discuss the farm problems with the President.

"All they have to do is simply state the facts and materials could be released," Sharpe said.

The South Dakota governor said the farm man power shortage could be cleared by a Presidential order deferring the farmers.

Lt. Gov. Henry Holt of North Dakota, speaking for Gov. John Moses who could not attend because of illness, said his state began working on the farm labor problem two years ago. The first move was to make every farm unit as self-sufficient as possible from a labor standpoint by having women and daughters join in the work ordinarily handled only by the men. Community pooling of both man power and machinery followed. The third step, he said, was to get all available city residents and college and high school students out on the farms during peak seasons.

Declaring that 22 per cent of Missouri's farm man power is in the armed services, Gov. Forrest C. Donnell of Missouri commented:

"There should not be taken from the farms of Missouri for war service any more essential workers unless they are replaced by experienced persons not subject to service in the armed forces."

Donnell also questioned "the advisability of continuing, at this time, AAA limits on production."

ROBBED OF CASH AND BOND.

Philip Baer, 42 years old, 6110 South Marshfield avenue, a street car conductor, was held up by two strongarm bandits near his home yesterday, and robbed of $59.45 and a $25 war bond.

HOOVER WARNS OF U. S. PERIL IN FOOD SHORTAGE

Multiplicity of Decrees Is Denounced.

Des Moines, Ia., March 15.—The text of the address by former President Herbert Hoover before the midwest conference of governors tonight follows:

"I consider it an honor to participate in this most important conference of midwest governors. You represent the great major food supply of the nation. And you have much to contribute to its solution. And that is our sole purpose here. This conference of governors will make its own recommendations. I cannot anticipate their views.

"We have a most difficult war to win. We must win. And to assure winning beyond any doubt we must organize our economic resources for a long war. Any other course would be national folly.

"The strategy in total war is not solely a military question. The home front is as important as the military front.

Can Lose War at Home.

"The home front of the greatest physical staying power, of the greatest resources, of the greatest will to endure and work will give the greatest strength to the military front. A weakened home front will weaken the military front. Wars can be won or lost on the home front in this war as in any war.

"Our country is going strong on the military front. The magnificent ability, courage, and devotion of our army and navy lift the spirit of every American. We have weaknesses on the home front. We at home must show the ability, courage, and devotion to correct these weaknesses.

"One of these weaknesses is in the food sector. And indeed, of the different sectors of the home front, food is the greatest. It stands next to the military effort in importance. Food serves on both the home and the foreign fronts. We have not only the job of feeding ourselves, but also our allies. And if we would have peace after the war instead of the anarchy of starving Europe we must be prepared to meet that also. Therefore our food production must be strengthened for a huge and a long sustained effort.

Limit to Endurance.

"Moreover while our civil population can be deeply deprived of most other consumers' goods there is a sharp limit to what it can endure in food and still be physically effective for its part in the war. Failure on the food sector has lost wars before now.

"We can well explore the experience of nations in the first World war in this particular.

"Prior to that war Russia was a surplus food country. She exported large quantities of food. Her war leaders devoted themselves solely to the military front. They neglected the food production front. Two years later the Russian cities were pinched for food. Mobs roamed the streets howling, 'Give us bread,' 'Down with the czar!' The czar went down, as he deserved. The Kerensky government came to power. It lasted nine months. It could not recover the food production and thus restore in the midst of war the home front of a great nation. The Communist slogan was: 'The rich have hoarded the food; you will find it in their cellars.' The cellars were empty. And Russia collapsed in the war.

Germany in 1914.

"Germany in 1914 produced about 85 per cent of her food supplies despite the blockade. Her war leaders were sure they could ration the population down 15 per cent and therefore had no anxiety about food. They neglected the food front. In three years Germany was dangerously short of food. In four years mobs were demanding bread and the emperor's head. And Germany weakened on the military front.

"France was a self-sustaining food country before 1914. She had to concentrate her man power wholly on the military effort to defend herself. Her food production decreased and she imported more and more from overseas. In 1917, she had exhausted her resources with which to pay for imports. We came into the war and saved her from collapse on the food front.

"I do not contend that these collapses were wholly due to food, but it was the largest factor.

Man Power Drained.

"And we can usefully explore the causes of this food degeneration in these European countries during the last total war.

"Too much man power was drained from the farms in all these nations. Their leaders said the women, children, and inexperienced city people could serve the farms. They could not. The manufacture of farm machinery was turned to munitions and inadequate replacements were made. Fertilizers were diverted to explosives. The fisheries were restricted because of the dangers of the sea and the draft of seamen. The planting was less effective and harvesting less complete. More fields had to be turned to human food and thus feed supplies for the animals decreased. The import of feed from overseas was reduced or cut off. The loss of skilled man power particularly affected the care of animals. The herds decreased and the animal products went down at an accelerated rate every year. As they decreased, more and more of the breeding herd had to be eaten for meat. The degeneration everywhere was first in meats and fats, which include dairy products, and then in breadstuffs.

"Never has there been a greater demonstration of man's dependence on his food animals.

"Before the last war we in America were a great food-surplus producing country. We exported about 10 billion pounds of human food a year.

"In that war our leaders fully accepted the fact that the food front was the next important thing to the military front. Early in the war President Wilson announced:

"'The importance of an adequate food supply . . . is superlative. Upon the farmers . . . rests the fate of the war and the fate of nations. . . . The government will do everything possible to assist the farmers in securing adequate seed . . . an adequate force of laborers . . . and farm machinery.' And again he said, 'The men and women who devote themselves to these things will be serving the country and conducting the fight for peace and freedom as truly as the men on the battlefield.'

Increased Food Output.

"We held enough of the boys on the farm. We increased our food production. We voluntarily reduced our consumption. From these two sources we were able to increase our exports from a rate of 10 billions to a rate of 30 billion pounds per year. We increased our total number of food animals over the war period. We were able to carry Britain, Italy, France, and Belgium on our food back and we were able to save Europe from the after-war famine as well.

"Now what is today's food situation abroad?

"Britain, always a food deficient country, is dependent upon overseas imports. Now cut off from their normal sources of supplies from overseas, a large part of the burden must be carried by the United States.

"Russia was self-sufficient in food before this war. But due to the drain of her man power to the war effort and due to the German invasion she has become partly dependent upon the United States for food.

Nazis Approaching Crisis.

"Germany sought to hold her food front by storing large stocks of food in advance. She has robbed her victims until they are starving. But implacably from the same causes as in the last war her food production is degenerating. In meats and fats particularly, she is steadily approaching a disastrous crisis. Italy is traveling the same road.

"Now what is the state of our larder today? What will it be tomorrow?

"For some months I have devoted myself to this problem in which I can claim some experience. I have traveled into 20 states in inquiry from the farmers, from the processors, from merchants, from housewives and from public officials. I have not depended solely upon statistics.

Partially Blockaded.

"We have today five certain drains from our normal larder.

"First, surprising as it may be to some people, the United States had before this European war ceased to be a great food surplus country. With the exception of the extraordinary harvest of 1942 we were on balance of all foods an importing country. The Japs and the submarine have cut off a large part of these imports. This shrinkage in our supplies of imported vegetable oils alone would be equivalent to the fats produced by 8 or 10 million hogs each year. And we imported large amounts of protein feed for animals. We imported vegetables and sugar.

"We have a surplus of one major food line alone—that is cereals. But as the war goes on we can quickly expend that surplus in manufacture of war alcohol and necessary animal feeds. With this exception the day after Pearl Harbor our national cupboard was potentially partly short of its normal food.

"Second, we are compelled to open our larder, already depleted by blockade of our imports, to help Britain, Russia and others thru lend-lease.

Military Forces Eat More.

"Third, our armed men eat more than as civilians. They eat twice as much meats and fats. And they must have a priority on our larder.

"Fourth, our increased numbers engaged in hard physical labor need more food.

"I have no doubt we can tighten out belt and ration down our consumption to meet these four deficits in our normal larder. That is the deficiency in imports, the drain from lend-lease, from extra supplies for our military forces, and for our workers.

"The fifth and most disturbing thing about our nation-wide larder is the prospective decrease in our food production. Secretary Wickard has repeatedly warned we will produce less in 1943 than in the last year.

Lived Under 2 Illusions.

"We lost some crops, many dairy cows and sheep last year for lack of labor. Yet we had more man power and machines on the farm last year than we can hope for again during the war.

"And we lived under two illusions last year. One was the spell of a record ground crop harvest far above normal.

"The other was the abnormal killing of animals and thus a fictitious appearance of meat supply. A study of the increase in non-inspected slaughter of cattle based on the country hides which came into the market, the abnormal number of dairy cattle slaughtered, the abnormal number of sheep slaughtered, all show that we had an abnormal meat supply. Yet we had a shortage in animal products during the latter part of last year despite this abnormal killing. And it is already much worse this year.

"But all that is not the greatest worry. There are symptoms of a dangerously degenerating agriculture that must be stopped.

"Unlike our case in the war 25 years ago, we have today at work in America uncanny parallels with the same degenerative forces that have been so disastrous in Europe. Like them we have drawn undue man power from the farms. In the recent survey by the county agricultural service, 70 per cent of them report that due to decreased man power there would be decreased acreage planted this year. Fifty-eight per cent of them reported prospective decreases from 11 per cent to 20 per cent in planting. And harvesting requires much more man power than planting. The livestock situation is also acute.

"Work as they will, it is impossible that women, children, and city folks can wholly supply the lack in this skilled craft. Our farm machinery is wearing out faster than the replacement. Our imports of food are curtailed. Our fisheries are seriously restricted. Our protein feed for animals is very short. We are compelled to divert our nitrate fertilizers to explosives. All these are characteristic of European failures.

Price Strangulation.

"And we now have another degenerating force peculiar to ourselves. We have a price system in force that often strangles production and distribution. And prices are often below the farmers' cost and just wage.

"All this sort of degeneration is progressive. Unless it is stopped in 1943, it will be worse in 1944 and still worse in 1945. And a prudent nation would plan for a long war. We must come in strong at the finish.

"Unlike Britain and Russia, we have no great food country standing behind us filling our larder from overseas in this emergency.

"If we wanted any further evidence of this degeneration we can find it in the despair that leads to auction sales, and in the abandonment of farms. We can find it in the undue killing of dairy cattle. We can find it in the shops without supplies for the housewife for days at a time. We can find it in local famines of meat or butter or potatoes or something else. We can find it in the epidemic of black markets all over the country.

Need Remedy Quickly.

"There is no cause for alarm, provided we set about remedy, and quickly.

"Some of us, anxious over this problem, have had the temerity for the last five months to make suggestions to our authorities as to this strategy on our food front. We have supported the secretary of agriculture in his efforts.

"We have made many constructive recommendations. They are familiar to you. I only mention them again because this vaccination has not sufficiently taken even yet. And time runs short—very short. No man can affect the timing of crops. That is inexorable.

"We have recommended that agriculture must rank with munitions.

More Man Power.

"We have insisted that there must be more man power and more machinery on the farms.

"We recommended that the divided and competitive authorities over food in Washington should be consolidated under the secretary of agriculture.

"We recommended that farm and food problems should be more largely decentralized to the states. That method contributed greatly to win the food battle in the last war.

"We recommended that this ancient and inefficient method of price control now in use should be replaced by a simpler and more effective protection to both farmer and housewife.

"We asked that prices to the farmer be increased to cover his costs and labor.

Urges Recruiting of Women.

"We recommended definite organization for recruiting and distribution of agricultural labor, including training of women.

"We asked that the former large seasonal immigration of Mexican farmers be organized and restored.

"We recommended that the army should consider deferring the draft of farm boys during 1943 and the furloughing of farm boys especially for the harvest and for some livestock purposes. I have in mind a letter from President Wilson to Senator Capper in 1918 in which he assured the senator that 'men essential to the continued and undiminished operation of our farms shall be deferred' and that the secretary of war had asked from congress the authority to 'furlough selected men during planting and harvest time.'

"We said an assurance of this coöperation in this war from the army would help restore the confidence of the farmers that they can harvest this year and thus encourage them to plant.

Suggestions Unheeded.

"We said: There is a bottleneck in shipping which for the present limits your sending immediately all your men and equipment overseas. We suggested that this bottleneck should be examined in the light of the desperate agricultural need, to see if some relief could be given in man power and machinery in 1943 without weakening our military effort abroad. We have offered no opinion as to the ultimate number of the armed men required to win the war.

"But we have a right to speak on what it will require to win it on the home front.

"I would not repeat all these recommendations here if they had been heeded. However, an aroused public opinion is getting some results. I have no doubt the governors of our states will be able to advance public understanding, and to offer further constructive recommendations.

Multiplicity of Agencies.

"In traveling about I find there are from 5 to 10 different federal agencies operating in each state, which in some degree affect the farmer. Many of them conflict with each other and with the efforts of the state and local organizations. It would seem to me that the time has come to recognize that the governors of the states should be allowed to make a great contribution in coördination of these agencies. Especially there should be set up in each state somewhere a single place that the farmer can go to and get attention to his particular problems.

"There are questions of the control of food distribution and of the situation of housewives that I could comment on at great length. A price and distribution method which stifles production, produces great areas of scarcity, allows the constant spread of black markets, that in consequence deprives the poorest consumers of their just share of food, is amply subject to criticism. I am disposed, as I said three months ago, to give our authorities a chance to correct these things. But the patience of the country is running short.

"In all this I have discussed the question from our immediate point of view of winning the war. But food must also win the peace.

Must Save Europe's Millions.

"When firing ceases we will be faced with three or four hundred million starving people in Europe and China.

"To save these millions of people after the war is not alone a transcendent act of compassion. It is the only road to peace. Unless we stop the degenerative forces on our food front we will have no supplies for this purpose.

"And unless we stop these degenerative forces we will weaken our military front.

"And I want again to say a word as to the people on the farms. There can be no doubt that the men and women remaining on the job are putting forth the absolutely maximum effort to produce everything they can. They are working a 72 hour week at wages less than any other group. They are showing the highest courage and fortitude. But there are things that cannot be remedied by them alone. You gentlemen will be able to help them greatly in their huge task."

"I'll Always Remember the Red Cross Smile . . . An American Smile"

We heard a young American soldier say these words recently before a huge radio audience. He had been wounded in the battle of Guadalcanal, and it was the Red Cross smile he saw after life-saving blood plasma had brought him back to consciousness. He faced his radio audience with far less courage than he faced the enemy's bullets . . . but his sincere admiration of the Red Cross was unfaltering.

Now, during March, the Red Cross is asking for help. You may grumble about your taxes this month, or about the inconvenience of rationing, or some similar burden . . . but you're not dodging bullets, or sleeping in mud, or meeting the enemy. When you consider that the Red Cross follows your boy wherever he goes, you'll be happy to help. For the Red Cross binds up his wounds, gives him sympathy when he is homesick, writes letters for him when he is ill, and lends money to him when he needs it. It does for your boy what you would gladly do if you were out "there." Give. Give generously now. Give at least one day's pay . . . more if you can.

GERMAN TROOPS GRAB FRENCH IN RAIDS ON HOMES

Remove Youths to Reich in Carload Lots.

BERNE, Switzerland, March 15 (AP).—German élite guards and regular troops tonight were reported to be rounding up Frenchmen for forced labor by house-to-house raids in Lyons and other districts. In some cases the Germans were said to be seizing Frenchmen and shipping them to Germany by freight carload lots without allowing them to communicate with their families.

The Nazis led details of French police in house-to-house night raids. Fear was expressed that even women 18 to 35 years old might be mobilized for work in Germany, advices reaching Berne reported.

A Lyons dispatch to the Tribune de Geneve said the Gestapo [secret police] as well as regular German troops caused "consternation" in the streets of Lyons when they began scanning public conveyances, and ordered all youths able to work to go to Germany.

Whole Areas Blocked Off.

Whole areas were blocked off as squads of French police, headed by German officers, searched houses, floor by floor, with all physically fit males sent without formalities to Germany.

Similar squads descended upon factories at Villeurbanne and Lacroix-Rousse, the dispatch said. There were several instances in which the Germans brought railroad cars to the factories and loaded them with men, sending them off immediately. Because of this, it was impossible to obtain a clear idea of the number being sent away, the paper added.

French youths still were reported to be fleeing to the hills in large numbers. In St. Julien province, one report said, 400 youths were examined and declared fit for labor service, but before the police arrived to transport them, all had struck out for the mountains.

Some Youths Surrender.

German and Italian occupation authorities kept hands off the troubled Haute Savoie district. There the Vichy government had sent more than 1,000 mobile guards with machine guns to rout out more than 5,000 youths who had taken to the woods and the mountains to evade forced labor.

The Tribune de Geneve said the situation there appeared less tense, and that some youths had "surrendered" to the authorities. It said 500 hungry and discouraged youths had returned to villages near Lake Leman yesterday under "paternal" exhortations of French gendarmes.

Some of the youths, the paper said, were discouraged because they said promised help from London by air had not been received. [Fighting French headquarters in London recently said they knew of no such promise.]

Youths who surrendered, the newspaper added, were transferred immediately to Germany.

REPORTS FRENCH BOMBED.

In London the Daily Herald said German bombers hammered at thousands of French partisans holding out in the mountains near Thonon in the Haute Savoie area after an ultimatum to surrender had been rejected.

"Foreign planes—presumably allied—have been dropping food, tommy guns, and grenades to the partisans," the newspaper said.

DOUBT KHARKOV ASSAULT SIGNALS SPRING OFFENSIVE

Believe Nazi Drive Has Two Purposes.

LONDON, March 15 (AP). — Allied sources with reliable information from inside Europe expressed doubt tonight that the German assault upon Kharkov signalized the beginning of a new spring offensive against Russia.

The drive has two purposes, they said.

The first is to keep the Russian air force beyond bombing range of the great Ploesti oil fields and refineries in Rumania, one of Germany's main sources of supply.

The second is to settle a serious controversy between German generals which has been reported raging since Adolf Hitler was said to have withdrawn as active commander of German forces in Russia.

These sources, who may not be identified by name, said information has been accumulating about a dispute between the German high command and the generals directing troops on the Russian front concerning German grand strategy for 1943 in the light of a probable American and British invasion of Europe.

The high command was represented as opposed to a third warm weather offensive against Russia on the grounds that even if it were successful it would expend the last ounce of German man power and material strength. These military leaders were said to advocate retiring within the "European fortress" and dispersing forces thruout the continent to repel invasion.

These sources said the German generals on the Russian front insisted that Russian armies could be smashed and protested the abandonment of the traditional Prussian strategy of attack.

The Kharkov attack, in the estimation of these competent foreign observers in London, was designed as a military "test case" for the contentions of the German field commanders, as well as to hold back the Russian air force.

GIRAUD INVITES DE GAULLE TO AID IN UNITING FRENCH

'Moment Has Come,' He Tells Leader.

ALGIERS, March 15 (AP).—Gen. Henri Giraud cleared the way today for negotiations to end the disunity in North Africa by extending to Gen. Charles de Gaulle, Fighting French leader, a formal invitation to join all the French together under one banner.

This move followed quickly Giraud's announced house cleaning of Vichy trained officials who have been criticized on the ground of axis and Vichy leanings, two of whom were reported today to have already handed in their resignations.

The invitation to De Gaulle was issued in the form of a letter to Gen. Georges Catroux, Fighting French delegate general to Syria, who is expected in Algiers soon to serve as liaison agent between Giraud and De Gaulle.

"Moment for Unity."

"The moment for unity of all Frenchmen of good will has come," read the message of Gen. Giraud, French African high commissioner. "I am ready to welcome De Gaulle to give this union concrete form," he said, adding that "I have already expressed to Gen. de Gaulle my desire to come to an understanding. Yesterday I expressed the principles governing my conduct and there should now be no misunderstanding between us."

Only Two Officials Left.

This warning was followed by the reported resignation today of Gen. Jean Marie Bergeret, former Vichy air force chief, as Giraud's deputy for civilian affairs and as a member of the war committee. Giraud was said to have accepted the resignation. Jean Ribaud, a political adviser and an opponent of collaboration with Gen Charles de Gaulle, also was reported to have resigned.

The removal of these two would leave only Gen. Auguste Nogues, governor general of French Morocco, and Marcel Peyrouton, governor general of Algeria, once Vichy ambassador to Argentina, as the only remaining officials objectionable to the Fighting French.

A large number of formal decrees were impending to carry out Giraud's promise yesterday to repeal all axis sponsored laws in North Africa and govern only by the constitution of the French republic.

London Still Doubtful.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 16 [Tuesday].—Doubt still exists here regarding prospects for complete agreement between Gen. Henri Giraud, French civil and military commander in North Africa, and Gen. Charles de Gaulle despite Giraud's announcement that he is ready to receive the Fighting French leader and give "concrete form" to French unity. Achievement of complete agreement appeared simple, but a lack of friendliness between De Gaulle and Giraud could be detected, observers said.

Vernon Bartlett, member of parliament, writing in today's News Chronicle, stressed that while statements issued over the week-end by the two generals expressing a desire for unity may be encouraging, "neither general yet indicates a readiness to work under the orders of the other or to accept the establishment of a civilian assembly from which they would both take orders."

Insists Assembly Is Necessary.

Without such an assembly, Bartlett said, "it is increasingly doubtful whether there can be any real unity in efforts which will give freedom back to France and self-respect back to Frenchmen."

Editorially, this morning's newspapers were cautious regarding agreement between Giraud and De Gaulle. Giraud's announcement was heralded generally as "an advance toward agreement," but the News Chronicle, the Daily Herald, and other newspapers emphasized that much depends upon the speed and thoroness with which Giraud "implements his words in deeds."

Win Air Medals

Lt. Edmund C. Smith (left) and Lt. Irwin T. Colburn.

Washington, D. C., March 15 (AP).—Awards of air medals to two Chicago area officers of the army for meritorious achievements while participating in more than 200 hours of anti-submarine patrol flight during 1942 were announced by the war department.

The officers honored were:

Colburn, Lt. Irwin T—Bombardier—Son of Cullen I. Colburn, 4309 North Keeler avenue.

Smith, Lt. Edmund C.—Co-pilot—Son of the Rev. Gilbert H. Smith, 12 Park drive, Glenview.

The medals were in recognition of "untiring energy and meticulous care while flying in the war area."

PLANES BATTER ROMMEL FORCES ON MARETH LINE

Bad Weather Stalls Land Action in Tunisia.

ALLIED HDQ., North Africa, March 15 (AP).—Allied planes from the western desert [Libya] battered the Mareth line in southeastern Tunisia steadily yesterday. Fighting on land along the entire Tunisian front deteriorated to patrol action because of bad weather.

However, both the allies and axis were wheeling up reënforcements for the day when storms clear from the northern and central sectors.

It was only because of the dry, sandy wastes in the south that allied planes could carry on their softening up process against the French built belt of Mareth fortifications.

American built Billy Mitchell medium bombers did the greater share of the offensive work. Spitfires and Warhawks made numerous offensive sweeps and also flew as cover for the Mitchells.

Hoosier Downs Nazi Plane.

In one offensive sweep southwest of Gabes on Saturday, American fighter planes destroyed four Messerschmitts and damaged at least four others. Maj. Archie J. Wright of Fountain City, Ind., was credited with downing one of the Messerschmitts.

A formation of enemy torpedo bombers was intercepted off the Algerian coast. One was shot down and "most of the others were damaged," an allied communique said.

The Rome communique, as heard over the radio, claimed that Italian torpedo planes had hit a large ship in an allied convoy off Bone, Algeria, referring probably to the same action.

The Italians admitted damage by an allied air raid against the towns of Prosinone and Pozzallo, Sicily.

The Italians claimed that German E-boats [motor torpedo boats] which encountered a group of British destroyers off the Tunisian coast sank two and hit two others.

Tell of "Tankbuster" Plane.

CAIRO, Egypt, March 15 (AP).—The allied air forces operating with the British 8th army have been using "tankbuster" Hurricane fighter planes mounting heavy cannon against Marshal Erwin Rommel's panzer [armored] forces for months, it may now be disclosed by the lifting of a censorship ban.

In the first four months of use after the 8th army began its drive from El Alamein, Egypt, the tankbusters had direct hits on 74 tanks, 46 trucks, 8 armored cars, 11 troop carriers, and three gasoline tank trucks.

On finding a target—preferably a cluster of tanks—the Hurricanes attack from every angle. Shells fired at point range can penetrate any tank the enemy has in the desert.

ARTILLERY UNIT CITED

WITH U. S. FORCES ON THE TUNISIAN FRONT, March 14 [Delayed] —(AP).—An American field artillery battalion whose batteries of 105 millimeter guns unleashed a terrific shelling and played a major rôle in breaking the back of a German tank attack from the Hatab valley toward Thala in Marshal Edwin Rommel's recent central Tunisian thrust has been commended in a special citation.

The citation said the fire of the battalion commanded by Lt. Col. George C. Wrockloff of Lake Geneva, Wis., was placed "with such accuracy and precise timing that enemy attacks were repulsed and dispersed before they were actually launched."

The shelling, which enabled American tanks to take full advantage of enemy disorganization, was carried out despite severe dive bombing attacks on the batteries during one critical period.

Two Hoosiers Honored.

Technician Richard Wolfe of Columbia City, Ind., was one of seven men cited for remaining at their assigned post and carrying out their duties "in a highly proficient manner, despite heavy artillery fire and continuous threat of attack by enemy infantry and tanks."

Technician Paris Hicks of Jamestown, Ind., was one of eight men awarded the silver star. Hicks was a member of a unit stationed 300 yards from their field artillery battery and the unit failed to receive the orders for withdrawal made necessary by a Nazi advance. The unit remained at their post until enemy tanks nearby began shelling them and then found their battery had withdrawn.

Hicks ordered others in the crew of his vehicle to go back out of danger. He stayed with the concealed vehicle while German tanks roared past. After nightfall he cautiously drove the machine back 20 miles thru enemy held territory.

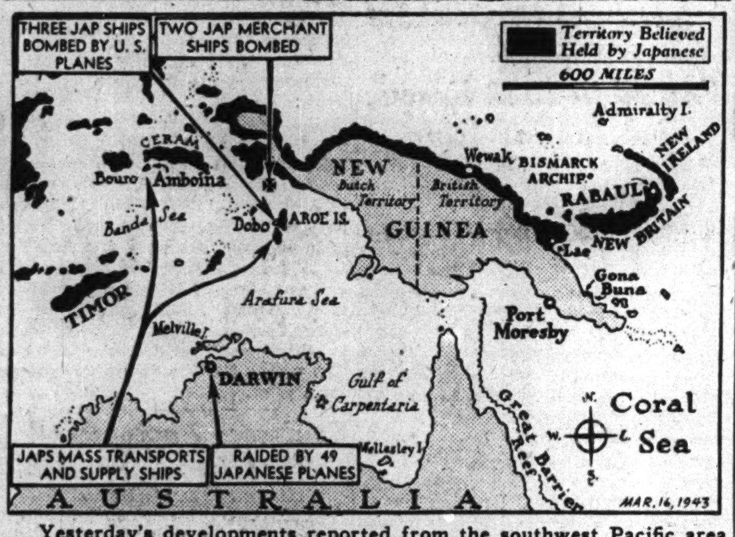
Jap Threat to Australia Told



Yesterday's developments reported from the southwest Pacific area are located and described in the captions on the map.

ALLIED BOMBERS RAKE DECKS OF 2 JAP TRANSPORTS

Troop-Laden Vessels Hit by Bombs.

ALLIED HDQ. IN AUSTRALIA, March 16 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's planes slashed at three Japanese transports in the Aroe Islands north of Australia Monday, damaging two and raking the troop crowded decks with gunfire, allied headquarters reported today.

New evidence of growing Japanese air power also came in a 49 plane raid on Darwin in Australia, during which 2 Jap bombers and 12 fighters were shot down.

Allied bombers and long range fighters pounced upon the transports near Dobo Island, in the area 500 miles northwest of Darwin where yesterday Gen. MacArthur reported growing enemy strength in shipping and troop reinforcements.

"Formations of our medium bombers and long range fighters attacked the convoy during the late afternoon, bombing and strafing from masthead height," said the communique.

Score Near Hits All Around.

"Direct hits were scored on two of the vessels, causing heavy damage and fire, while near hits were registered around all the ships. Our long range fighters raking the decks with cannon and machine gun fire, caused heavy casualties among the troops packed on the deck. One of our planes is missing."

The communique did not mention the enemy convoy approaching New Guinea off Wewak. This convoy of three destroyers and five merchantmen had been attacked two days running, with hits registered on four cargo ships and one destroyer.

B-17s went in search of this convoy, but found no shipping in that area, a headquarters spokesman said. The convoy's fighter cover plus fighters based at Wewak prevented day bombing, and Flying Fortresses in night attacks were hampered by weather and limited hours of moonlight. The coastline was searched, but the convoy had either landed its troops and supplies and withdrawn, or was well hidden.

Two Cargo Ships Attacked.

The Japanese raid on Darwin just before noon by 25 medium bombers and 24 fighters caused "only slight damage and casualties," the communique said. Besides the 14 planes shot out of action, three more fighters and two bombers were so seriously damaged they probably did not finish the trip back to their base.

The smash at Darwin gave emphasis to warnings from allied spokesmen that the Japanese are increasing their air power in the Australian theater.

In other actions, allied heavy bombers attacked two enemy merchant ships in Bitzjaroe bay in Dutch New Guinea, but results were not observed. In the Banda sea, west of the scene of the attack on the three transports, one allied medium bomber struck and damaged a Japanese coastal schooner.

Medium bombers made a night raid on Gasmata in New Britain, hitting the airdrome, and heavy bombers followed up the attack to bomb the building area. At Cape Gloucester, heavy bombers strafed and bombed the airdrome.

Airdromes Pounded.

On northeast New Guinea, the airdrome and town of Trind near Wewak were raided by heavy bombers, and the airdrome at Finschhafen was pounded.

In the Mubo area fighter planes made 10 strafing attacks over enemy positions during the day, and swept the coast from the mouth of the Waria river to Salamaua, encountering no position.

In retaliation, 15 enemy bombers raided the wharf area at dusk at Oro Bay, "causing slight damage and no casualties," the communique said.

U. S. MITCHELL BOMBER HOLED 500 TIMES IN RAID, BUT FLIES HOME

ALLIED HDQ., NORTH AFRICA, March 15 (AP).—"Snow White," an American Mitchell bomber which flew 13 missions unscathed over Nazi strongholds in Tunisia, came back from her 14th raid with more than 500 holes in her trim, green figure—but come back she did.

The official story today of "Snow White's" survival of enemy anti-aircraft and fighter attacks told of her bombardier being wounded by a shrapnel burst but crawling back to his position and letting go her deadly cargo on the target.

Enveloped by anti-aircraft fire and the Messerschmitt 109s swarming in to attack, the pilot, Lt. David A. Sacknoff of Portland, Me., and the co-pilot, Lt. Albert R. Ralcott of Grand Rapids, Mich., pointed "Snow White" toward home. For the next 20 minutes, the gunners, Technical Sergt. Richard L. Wesline of 4543-A 38th street, Milwaukee, Wis., and Staff Sergt. John J. Grace of Philadelphia, carried on a running fight with the Messerschmitts. Armor plating saved Wesline from injury when cannon shell entered the fuselage and exploded against the bulkhead.

THREE TAVERN OWNERS ARRESTED.

Sheriff's police yesterday arrested proprietors of three Cicero taverns for selling liquor to minors. The tavern owners are Julius Panattoni, 39 years old, 1215 South 51st street, Cicero; James Patak, 40, of 22d street and 19th avenue, and Arthur Dallolio, 34, of 1931 South 49th avenue, Cicero. Each was released on $100 bond.

BOMBERS BREAK RECORD: 2 SHIPS IN SINGLE ATTACK

Flares Help Pilots Blast Jap Convoy.

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, March 14 [Delayed]—(AP).—If a heavy bomber lands its bombs on one ship in a single bombing run over a convoy, that is considered good bombing, but in the attack last night on eight Japanese ships 30 miles northwest of Wewak, Flying Fortresses did better than that.

In one run over the target some of the bombers got hits on two ships, which has never before been done in this area.

Ten days after the battle of Bismarck sea, it was a continuation of the same daring and accurate bombing that made that battle of airplanes against enemy ships unusual in the current history of warfare.

Among the pilots was 1st Lt. Neill Kirby of Burlington, Vt., who in last week's battle went along just for the ride and shot down one Zero.

Find Ships in Dark.

The Flying Fortresses found the ships well after dark in a haze thru which the moon barely penetrated—just enough to show the wake of a moving ship about a mile away. The fortresses went in at a low level in another try.

Kirby dropped some flares on one side, lighting up all in sight for the pilot who happened to be on the other side.

One pilot reported that he saw two ships lined up in the light of the flares and made a 90 degree turn straight at them.

Tanker Goes Up.

"The first was a 4,000 ton tanker and she went up with some sure hits from our bombs," the pilot said. "The next was an 8,000 ton transport and she exploded on both sides and burst into flame."

Kirby in turn made his run with the aid of flares dropped by the other pilot. He first hit an 8,000 ton cargo ship, "planting one bomb low and another about halfway up the ship," he said.

Kirby thought that finished his night's work but just as he was pulling up he saw another ship ahead and continued his run.

"Too late," he said. "We saw it was a large destroyer and so there was nothing to do but go ahead. He threw up a broadside of anti-aircraft fire and started twisting in a tight circle. The bombardier, 2d Lt. J. C. Lombard of Scarsdale, N. Y., said, 'Let's try it again, here's another one' and we banked.

"But when we let the bombs go we were slanting about 45 degrees in the bank—and the destroyer was slanting too in a sharp turn. We got a direct hit about 20 feet back from the bow, probably not enough to skin her."

PRIVATE AIR LINE PILOTS TEACHING CREWS OF ARMY

Training Cargo Flyers at Chicago Airport.

A working knowledge of the skill that made commercial air transportation in the United States the greatest in the world is being taught to army pilots, navigators, and mechanics by experts of American Airlines, Inc., in a school operated for the army air forces to train men for the air transport command.

It was announced yesterday that the air lines' school, one of the largest operated in the United States for the army, by private industry, will be entirely installed by the end of the week in the former Illinois National Guard hangar at Chicago airport. The personnel of the school, which will train men in increasing numbers for active service, is housed in a building leased by the air lines company.

Trained by Commercial Veterans.

The army air force pilots are being trained by veteran air line flyers skilled in commercial air transportation, teachers with experience gained from 3 million miles or more of flying on the coast to coast routes.

Army pilots are being given intensive training in instrument flying. A fleet of more than a dozen Link trainers is used to give the future transport pilots a thoro lesson in the technique of blind flying. The devices simulate every condition a pilot may encounter in flight altho he is safely on the ground during this phase of training.

Gets Experience on Cargo Flights.

After he completes his ground school work, the pilot is assigned as third crew member aboard air line transport planes on cargo flights to obtain flying experience.

Army navigators are trained in dead reckoning as well as celestial and radio navigation. Navigation students are given practical flight training and theoretical instruction while in school.

The army air force mechanics are working along side the air lines maintenance experts, who are the only group to have twice won an annual award for excellence in maintenance.

REINFORCED JAPS IN BURMA FORCE BACK BRITISH LINE

Attacks at Rathedaung Cost Heavy Loss.

NEW DELHI, India, March 15 (AP).—Fighting in the Burma war theater reached new heights over the week-end, the allied command announced today, with American and R. A. F. bombers blasting enemy rail lines and British troops repulsing Japanese forces which attacked their left flank.

The Japanese made a series of fierce assaults in the Rathedaung area of the Mayu peninsula, the British said, announcing that they had hurled back all the thrusts and inflicted heavy losses on the enemy.

The British acknowledged a "re-adjustment" of their lines, however, and disclosed that the Japanese had been reënforced substantially in the region north of Rathedaung, 25 miles northwest of the Bay of Bengal port of Akyab.

Smash Rail Viaduct.

A British communique said fighting was continuing and there had been sharp encounters between patrols of both sides. The outbreak of fighting was the first sharp action reported there in several weeks. It was during the lull that the Japanese built up their forces, the British said.

Principal target of the allied aerial smashes was the 2,200 foot Gokteik railway viaduct between Mandalay and Lashio, railhead of the Burma road, attacked by American medium bombers which reported scoring direct hits on the huge steel structure. Other bursts were observed beneath the bridge and on the approaches.

Other bombers of the 10th United States air force pounded the dock area at Moulmein, where hits were observed on warehouses and sawmills and the Pazundaung river railroad bridge. The Pazundaung raid cost two heavy bombers, Start Fires in Mandalay.

The bombers made their run on the target at an unusually low altitude and were intercepted by a force of Japanese twin engined fighters. One enemy plane was shot down and another probably destroyed, the United States communique said.

R. A. F. Wellington bombers attacked railroad yards at Mandalay last night, the allied communique said, adding that "many bombs were seen to burst on the target and some good fires were started." Blenheims also attacked objectives in the Donbaik area yesterday and other planes bombed Akyab last night. Three British aircraft were lost.

CHINESE SMASH DRIVE BY 20,000 JAPS ON YANGTZE

Foe Put to Flight by Counter-Attack.

CHUNGKING, China, March 15 (AP).—A Chinese counter-attack launched Saturday night has smashed an eight column Japanese offensive along 100 miles of the Yangtze river, the high command announced today.

The 20,000 Japanese troops who set out March 8 from Yochow near the border of Hunan and Hupeh provinces in a vain effort to clear the south bank of the great waterway to make it safe for shipping in that area are in flight, except for one body of troops which the Chinese have encircled.

When the drive first opened in Hupeh province, a Chinese spokesman said, the Japanese apparently were aiming at Changsha in Hunan, where they had suffered three previous defeats. The Chinese victory not only erased that threat, but inflicted severe losses on the invader.

Seek to Disperse Chinese.

Most Japanese attacks since the fall of Hankow and Canton in October, 1938, have been undertaken to disperse possible Chinese concentrations menacing their bases.

Observers said the latest collapsed offensive might have been to test Chinese strength as well as to remove a potential threat to Japanese positions. Whether the enemy will try to hold points on the south bank of the Yangtze cannot yet be ascertained.

Throw Back Japs.

With the Chinese on the river, however, Japanese shipping has been in constant danger of mines, machine gun attacks, and artillery barrages.

Fear that the Japanese were set to make a drive on Kunming, capital of Yunnan province on Burma's frontier, subsided in informed quarters after a Chinese communique announced that the Japanese troops west of the Salween river had been thrown back with about 1,500 casualties.

The communique said that at least 1,000 dead were carried to the Japanese base at Tengyueh.

(Berlin broadcasts quoted Japanese newspapers as declaring there were 300 American and Chinese planes in China and warning against the possibility of air raids on Japan. The newspaper Asahi was quoted as saying 17 air bases had been established along a route between China and Russia.)

MUNDA BOMBED FOR 92D TIME; JAP SHIP SUNK

Washington, D. C., March 15 (AP).—Strafing and bombing attacks continue in the southwest Pacific, the navy reported today. Munda was hit again for the 92d time, but no report was made of damage inflicted in what the navy described as a minor raid on that New Georgia Island base.

Liberator heavy bombers also carried out minor attacks against the Shortland Island area and Vila on Kolombangara Island.

The navy reported destruction of a small Japanese vessel by strafing planes which sighted the craft off Rendova Island in the New Georgia Islands. No details were disclosed, but it was presumed the vessel was a small supply ship.

JAPS' RECKONING DAY NEARS, SAYS GEN. CHENNAULT

CHUNGKING, China, March 15 (AP).—Brig. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, commander of the newly formed 14th United States army air forces in the Chinese war theater, said today that after a long period of waiting he could see the day approaching "when we can have equality in arms and then superiority" over the Japanese.

Promises Arms to Chinese.

"Organization of the 14th air forces points the way to intensification of the allied effort against Japan," the general said. "I know China will give her best. You need equipment and you are going to get it.

"We are going to produce more weapons, all kinds of weapons, than all the axis powers combined. We are going to pursue this war to the end our President requires—unconditional surrender of our enemies."

Of the political front, he added: "We need now more than ever a united front, closer coöperation by individuals and by governments so we may present a wall before which the enemy shall break himself and retire."

Honored by Chiang.

Gen. Chennault spoke at an entertainment arranged in his honor by the national commission on aeronautical affairs and attended by many generals and almost the entire Chinese cabinet. Half a dozen baskets of flowers sent to Chennault included one from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

H. H. Kung, Chinese vice premier and minister of finance, said President Roosevelt had selected the "appropriate man" as commander of the new air forces and predicted "Chennault will give us greater achievements not only in defense of free China but also in destruction of the enemy's nerve centers, especially his munitions industry, which is bound to come."

'DUKE' SCHILLER, VETERAN PILOT, KILLED IN CRASH

Capt. "Duke" Schiller.

MONTREAL, Que., March 15 (AP).—Capt. Clarence [Duke] Schiller, internationally known pilot of the R. A. F. ferry command, was killed yesterday in a crash night landing at Bermuda. This was announced today by the R. A. F. ferry command in which he was a senior captain. Some other members of his crew were killed, it was stated, and possibly one man was injured.

Schiller, a native of Onowa, Ia., was a former pilot for Gar Wood of Detroit and commercial flyer in the middle west and Florida and veteran of numerous mercy missions. He was 43 years old.

He served with the Canadian division of the royal flying corps in the last war.

Rescues Atlantic Flyers.

In 1928 he rescued the flyers of the trans-Atlantic plane "The Bremen" which crashed on the lonely Labrador Greeneley Island. The trans-Atlantic flyers were Capt. Hermann Koehl and Baron Gunther von Huenefeld, Germans, and Maj. James Fitzmaurice, an Irishman.

The Windsor, Ont., chamber of commerce chose Schiller in 1927 for an attempt to pilot a plane from that city to Windsor, Eng. A plane was obtained for the flight and christened "The Royal Windsor," but delays in testing and unfavorable weather caused postponements and finally abandonment of the plan.

His ambition to fly the Atlantic was achieved only after he joined the ferry command and started flying bombers to Britain.

Rescued Six Prospectors.

He reëntered Canada's aviation service after flying in various parts of the United States and was assigned to the forest patrol where he flew thousands of miles over timber preserves on fire detection and other work.

One of his longest mercy flights was a 1,500 mile hop to Chesterfield Inlet from The Pas, in Manitoba, to rescue six stranded prospectors. In 1933 he flew 275 miles thru a blizzard with a man who had become stricken with appendicitis on a hunting trip. In 1935 he rescued two Quebec miners who ran out of food in the hinterlands. Once, in 1929, he became lost himself near Baker lake, 300 miles south of the arctic circle, but after two weeks he was found by another bush pilot.

"IF THAT'S A BURLINGTON TRAIN, WHY DO ALL THOSE OTHER RAILROADS HAVE CARS IN IT?"
Burlington Route
GREAT NORTHERN 29017
NORTHERN PACIFIC
NP
M.P.

Senior—First, let's take a look at the map at the bottom of this ad. See all those lines which connect with each other to form a network over the whole country? Those lines represent railroads. The heavy ones are the Burlington. The light ones are a lot of other railroads, each one serving a particular part of the country.

Junior—According to the map, the heavy lines seem to be all hemmed in by the light lines.

Sr.—That's right—and that's why you see the cars of so many different railroads in that Burlington train—in every Burlington train. You see, the Burlington is an important link between railroads of the North, East, South and West.

Jr.—You mean it's an important link because it covers a lot of territory?

Sr.—Well, that's one reason, because the Burlington Lines do total 11,000 miles in 13 states . . . some of them agricultural, some of them industrial, and all of them mighty important in winning this war. But, just as big a reason is that the Burlington serves 22 principal gateways and has more than 200 interchange points within its territory.

Jr.—What's an interchange point, Dad?

Sr.—A place where freight cars are switched from one railroad to another and headed on their way.

Jr.—Is that how all those different railroad cars got in that one train?

Sr.—That's right.

Jr.—Boy, oh boy, that takes plenty of teamwork, I'll bet.

You're right, Son, it does take teamwork. And we of the Burlington, more than 35,000 of us, are proud to be among the armies of railroaders that have teamed up to do the biggest transportation job, both freight and passenger, in history. "Keep 'em rolling" is more than a slogan to us these days—it's our creed.

Banishes The Guesswork And High Cost For The Average Person

NOW at last! One of the world's largest producers does for vitamins and minerals what Henry Ford did for the automobile: banishes the guesswork; banishes the high cost.

An amazing new vitamin-tablet invention containing 8 vitamins and 9 minerals—for the 3 out of 4 who fail to eat a good diet—as U. S. Department of Agriculture figures show.

This new development takes the place of less potent vitamin preparations for the average person:

1. It meets all adult minimum U. S. Govt. requirements for Vitamins A, B_1, B_2 (G), C and D.

2. It also gives you 3 additional vitamins of the B Complex, plus 9 minerals.

3. It meets multi-vitamin principle officially approved by a committee of eminent doctors.

And—it is made to sell at a price millions of people can now afford.

A New Invention

The name of this remarkable new vitamin-mineral tablet is Stams. Full potency is guaranteed as stated on the package. Or your money back.

If you are one of the millions not up to par because your diet lacks vitamins and minerals, Nature can give you more vitality and pep with Stams.

Stams cost you only about 5¢ a day to take—less than ⅓ the price of a package of cigarettes.

JAP PLANES AT KISKA DAMAGED IN EIGHTH RAID

Spring Offensive Opened in Aleutians.

Washington, D. C., March 15 (AP).—Kiska in the Aleutians again has been hit by American planes, with fighters swooping low to strafe Japanese positions there.

The attack, announced by the navy today, was the eighth made this month and presumably indicated a lifting of heavy weather which has postponed any major effort to knock the Japanese from their only position in the western hemisphere.

Several grounded Japanese planes were damaged by the low flying planes which roared over the rocky island. It was the first time in recent communiques dealing with the Aleutians that Japanese planes have been mentioned. Their presence caused some speculation.

The latest in the series of raids which began March 2 was carried out Saturday evening, the navy disclosed. Army Warhawks and Lightning fighters participated in the assault.

There was no mention of any opposition either in the air or from anti-aircraft fire. That could indicate that bombs dropped March 10 on anti-aircraft batteries silenced them at least temporarily.

Spring Offensive Opens.

AN ADVANCED BASE IN ALASKA, March 10—[Delayed]—(AP).—Army bombers today released the heaviest load of explosives of the year on Japanese installations and barracks at Kiska. An officer said this bombing heralded the opening of a mighty spring offensive against Kiska.

Planes, ammunition, and pilots are ready. Today's pay load was 53,500 pounds of demolition and fragmentation bombs and boosted the nine months' total dropped on the Japanese occupied island to 1,437,700 pounds, quoting army figures.

This weight does not include thousands upon thousands of machine gun shells, and 20 millimeter and 37 millimeter cannon shells.

By 9:20 a. m. four fighters dropped 300 pounds of demolition bombs and 24 20-pounders from 7,000 feet elevation. It was a difficult target and the Japanese saved their anti-aircraft fire.

Planes Fill Sky.

Two hours later, Kiska's explosive five minutes began. The sky was filled by Lightnings at two levels, Mitchells at two levels, and Liberators. They swept in from all directions. Four Lightnings provided a top cover to eight others which skimmed in at the rooftops with chattering .45 caliber machine guns and 20 millimeter cannons, punishing two essential installations and adjacent anti-aircraft batteries. That punishment must have killed some Japanese, because several guns failed.

Behind the low flying and strafing Lightnings roared four twin-engined Mitchells. They dropped their 8,000 pound cargo where it would do the most damage. These planes bounced from the concussion of their own bombs—they were flying at near ground level, just missing telephone poles.

Sixty seconds later siv more Mitchells came to drop 206 20-pound fragmentation bombs and three 500-pounder demolitions. Six Liberators let go 36,000 pounds of demolition bombs on the main camp area from 5,000 feet. The anti-aircraft was growing weaker. The 206 "frags" and 35 demolition bombs had broken up guns and destroyed the gunners.

Jap Submarine Base.

Our raiders were especially effective today because there were many targets to work on. The Japanese have installed a submarine base, an almost completed runway and a seaplane base with two hangars, radio installations, and barracks, together with stores of ammunition and fuel dumps.

In the main camp area bombs were dropped on barracks and tents. Barracks are about 15 feet by 40 feet and single tents about 20 feet in diameter. Both are set deep in the ground behind elaborate earthworks.

Hundreds of bomb bursts on gun installations and many buildings in the main area were hit and smoke came from them. Before the raid ended the heavy anti-aircraft fire became thin and almost silent.

NEW TANKS PACK HARDER PUNCH IN SMOOTHER BODIES

Weaknesses of Earlier Models Corrected.

BY STANLEY JOHNSTON.

A visit to the Armored Force school at Fort Knox., Ky., shows that the men charged with devising new and improved weapons with which the United States' new army can meet and defeat the axis have made big advances in the two and half years since the nation began to build up its first armored division.

The three new tanks now in production show none of the bad features of tanks rushed into production at the beginning.

The M-4 tank replaces the M-3a [the first medium tank mounting a heavier than 37 mm. gun built in America for this war], and has been designed to take advantage of lessons learned in battle. In place of the high, straight sides of the M-3a, the M-4 has a cast or welded body that slopes and curves to gain the maximum protection from projectiles that strike obliquely.

75 mm. Gun Moved.

The old 75 mm. gun has been moved from the sponson in the side where it had only a limited traverse and put into a thickly armored turret mounted on top of the low body. It is capable of being fired in any direction regardless of which way the tank faces.

The armament of machine guns, both .50 and .30 caliber, varies in different models of this tank, but is ample in all to enable the crew to pour out heavy fire once the tank comes within range of small arms.

Rubber blocks formerly fitted into the steel treads now have been replaced by all-steel treads to conserve rubber. Tank men seem to approve this change, contending that all-steel tread stands up longer under all conditions.

Like Barbette of Battleship.

Climbing into the turret of this tank is in some ways similar to entering the barbette of a battleship in miniature. There is the same layout of gun breech, sights, phones, and other equipment, together with an impression of security inside a cupola of thick armor plate. There is a difference tho. To gain the thickest armor possible for the weight allotment, the interior space for the crew is no bigger than absolutely necessary.

The M-6 is the pride of the armored force. Its heavy, thickly armored body, powerful engine and hard hitting 3 inch gun answer the tankman's dream. He is protected against all fire, except a square hit from the biggest axis anti-tank gun at close quarters, and is armed with a high velocity gun that shoots a heavier shell than that fired by the Germans' 88 mm.

Adaptation of Earlier Gun.

The M-6 weapon, an adaption of the United States' original 3 inch anti-aircraft gun, but mounted for horizontal fire, is guaranteed to penetrate the armored skin of any tank the axis has or is likely to put into the field, and it would seem to the layman that a few of the M-6 tanks, sprinkled among fast M-4s, carrying rapid shooting 75 mm. guns, soon would disrupt anything the enemy could throw against them.

The armored gun carrier, made up of a fragment-proof steel body on an M-4 tank chassis, is the latest in mobile artillery. It may carry a 105 mm. howitzer, a 75 mm. or a 150 mm. gun.

These fast, maneuverable carriers have been designed to provide artillery that can keep up with tanks. They are not to be considered anti-tank weapons. Their purpose in the armored force is to provide artillery support for tanks and to bombard soft targets suc has enemy transport or infantry.

The M-10 is our latest addition to the tank fighting team. The gun is the same high velocity one used on the M-6 tank. Mounted on the tank chassis, the 3 inch anti-tank gun can keep right up with the advancing tanks to repel an enemy tank thrust or to fire directly into concrete defense works.

WAR CONFERENCE SLOWED BY DOUBT ON RUSSIAN AIMS

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 15.—Soviet Dictator Josef Stalin's Russia-first policy is the great problem of the discussions taking place between President Roosevelt and Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary.

In fact, it was chiefly the development of a critical state of relations between the soviet union and the Anglo-American alliance that caused Eden to take a plane to Washington last week for consultation with Mr. Roosevelt.

The President and the British foreign secretary are considering many questions of the greatest importance relating to the prosecution of the war and to plans for the peace to follow an allied victory over the axis.

Stalin an Unknown Quantity.

In regard to many of these matters, however, they find themselves groping because of the unknown quantity represented by Stalin and his attitude toward his partners in the war. They don't know how much he can be counted on to go along with the Anglo-American conception of the war and the peace outlined in the Atlantic charter despite soviet acceptance of the pronouncement in the allied nations' declaration of Jan. 2, 1942.

In this pronouncement, 26 countries at war with the axis powers declared their adherence to the charter and pledged themselves to employ full military or economic measures against the common enemy and not to make a separate peace.

After an hour's talk with Eden today, Secretary of State Cordell Hull significantly remarked at a press conference that complete understanding among the allied governments is essential to every stage of the war and the post-war period.

With Eden and British Ambassador Halifax in attendance, Hull said he already is beginning to feel better as a result of the initial talk.

Parley Extension Suggested.

He thought that his discussions with the British official might well be extended to embrace councils with representatives of Russia, China, and other allies. The American government, he said, will profit by full and elaborate exchanges of information and even of opinions, within proper limits.

It is the lack of a complete understanding between Russia and the English speaking nations that produced the current crisis. For a long time Stalin was at loggerheads with Winston Churchill, British prime minister, and Mr. Roosevelt over his demand for a second front in Europe to lessen the nazi pressure on the Russian front.

Finally, Stalin, referring to the Roosevelt-Churchill pledge to do something about a second front in 1942, bluntly demanded that the allies "fulfill their obligations fully and on time."

Stalin Renews Demand.

The occupation of Africa was offered Stalin as satisfaction of the promise and the friction was allayed until recently. With the Russians retreating before the Germans at Kharkov, Stalin has renewed his demand for a second front in Europe.

While appealing for a second front to help Russia, Stalin turned a deaf ear to the proposition of a second front in Siberia against Japan to help the United States. A few Siberian air bases might enable America to bomb Japan into submission, but Stalin would do nothing that might involve Russia in war with Japan.

Post-War Plans Indicated.

At the same time, soviet inspired statements have been made that Russia proposes to annex the Baltic republics, Bessarabia, a large slice, if not all, of Finland, and about half of Poland—all of this in contravention of the Atlantic charter. Stalin also has proclaimed against disarming Germany, for which the Atlantic charter declares, thus inspiring speculation that he contemplates the communization of Germany with a Red army for protection.

On top of all that came Stalin's assertion that the soviet's objective is to free Russian soil of Nazi troops, which was widely construed as a delicate hint that Stalin does not subscribe to Mr. Roosevelt's pronunciamentos that allied troops are going to march to Berlin.

As a consequence of these developments, apprehensions that Stalin will make a separate peace with Hitler once the Nazis are driven from Russia, if not before, began to permeate London and Washington.

Wallace Gives Hint .

Vice President Henry A. Wallace hinted at the situation when he warned that another world war will be precipitated if America double-crosses Russia or Russia attempts to spread world revolution. He said that "without a close and trusting understanding between Russia and the United States there is grave probability of Russia and Germany sooner or later making common cause."

Fuel to the flames was added by Ambassador William H. Standley's charge that the soviet government has suppressed public information of the lend-lease aid received from America.

CALL ON BRITAIN FOR NEW CREED TO SAVE ITS EMPIRE

Charges British Peril Own Colonies.

• BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 15.—Saying that the British empire has reached the parting of the ways where it will either fall to pieces or attain new glory and power by adopting a new imperial creed, Capt. L. D. Gammans, member of parliament, has suggested a new viewpoint thru which the empire can be saved.

Gammans, who has traveled extensively thruout the empire studying agricultural, political, and economic problems, made his suggestion in the London Times.

He said the British colonial empire not only has been attacked by the Japanese, but also is menaced by the British themselves, who have lost faith in their imperial mission, and "by quite honest opinion in the United States, which regards its continuance as against the Atlantic charter."

Defends Old Empire.

Gammans defended the old empire. He said it largely comprised "territories which were either largely uninhabited or countries where little flourished except civil war, tyranny, slavery, and sometimes cannibalism."

For these, he said, Britain substituted security against external aggression and freedom from internal anarchy with a marked improvement in economic conditions and an increasing degree of self-government.

The British empire, he contended, established a world order "which satisfied the most acid test of all—it worked." He cited as proof the international relationship which induced Canada, Australia, and New Zealand to join in a war thousands of miles from their own borders. He emphasized there can be no security for small countries unless they themselves are part of some larger organization.

He recommended setting up an imperial defense council to make the empire fulfill its real mission, its "conception of a world citizenship composed of men of many races, religions, and castes under a common symbol paying allegiance to the same ideals of individual liberty and freedom.

Cites Purpose of Plan.

The purpose of this would be to make "the peoples of the colonies think of their common British citizenship not as a burden to be got rid of as early as possible, but as a permanent status in which they take as much pride and bear as much responsibility as the British subjects of these islands."

He urged that steps be taken immediately to allow the educated people of the colonies to aspire to commissions in the army, the navy, and the R. A. F. which are now empire organizations. He concluded by repeating that "this is the critical hour in the history of the British empire," and Britain cannot go back to Malaya and Borneo as if nothing had happened, nor can the Dutch return to Sumatra and Java without changing their pre-war outlook.

Marshal Bowhill Heads British Transport Command

LONDON, March 15 (AP).—Air Chief Marshal Frederick Bowhill, commander in chief of the royal air force ferry command since it was established in June 1941, has been appointed air officer commander in chief of the new transport command, the air ministry announced today. In addition to controling operations of R. A. F. transport squadrons at home, the command will be responsible for organization and control of strategic air routes for all overseas ferrying and for reënforcement moves of squadrons to and between overseas theaters.

SENATE BATTLE EXPECTED OVER WORLD COUNCIL

Proposal Held Potential Brake on War.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 15.—With rumblings of forceful opposition heard in advance, a group of interventionist senators tonight went ahead with plans to introduce a resolution in the senate tomorrow calling for a meeting of allied nations to establish an international organization for prosecuting the war and regulating the peace.

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] asserted he would oppose the resolution to the limit and predicted that its recommendation for a world police force would cause "prolonged and bitter debate and divide the country."

"It's easy to say we are going to police the world," Wheeler said, "but the boys in the army are going to have something to say about that when the war is over. They might not want to police Singapore, the Burma road, Guadalcanal, and every country in Europe to prevent internal as well as external trouble."

Time Called Inopportune.

Wheeler said there are many others in the senate who feel as he does, and added:

"It is an inopportune time to bring up a resolution to commit the United States senate to policing the world until we know what kind of world we are going to have.

"I don't see how we can commit ourselves to a post-war policy until we know what Stalin is going to do. If he insists on having Latvia, Lithuania, and half of Poland, what are we going to do about it? What happens to the four freedoms then?"

Group to Go Ahead.

The resolution will be introduced by Sen. Joseph H. Ball [R., Minn.], one of the few Willkie enthusiasts in congress, with the support of Senators Harold H. Burton [R., O.], Carl A. Hatch [D., N. M.], and Lister Hill [D., Ala.], as co-framers.

They announced their intention to submit the resolution unchanged from the original text after conferring with Sen. Tom Connally [D., Tex.], chairman of the senate foreign relations committee.

In his first comments on the proposal Connally did not manifest much enthusiasm over it, but the delegation said he assured them the foreign relations committee would give the resolution careful consideration.

Satisfied, Say Framers.

Altho there have been vigorous objections expressed to certain provisions of the resolution—particularly the one cited by Wheeler—the framers declared they are satisfied with it but will welcome suggestions for improvement and want a full public discussion of the plan.

After the conference Connally told reporters he has his own views on the resolution and may submit one of his own later. He said, however, that he approved at least part of the Ball resolution.

"I favor the establishment by the united nations of an agency to preserve peace and prevent aggression and conquest," Connally said. "I also favor military and naval sanctions to enforce the action by the international body.

World Assurance Cited.

"I feel I would not oppose a general resolution that at the end of the war the United States would coöperate with the other united nations on all matters growing out of the war. The chief value of a resolution of this kind is to give assurances to the other members of the united nations that we won't abandon them when the war is over."

It was noted Connally did not extend his approval to other proposals in the resolution that the international organization take a hand in prosecution of the war, "establish temporary administrations for axis controled areas of the world" as these are occupied by the allies, and "administer relief and assistance in economic rehabilitation" of these areas."

Interference in War Feared

There was considerable feeling among members of the foreign relations committee that the latter proposals would amount to interference with the military establishment in conducting the war. Pressure for adoption of the resolution now would create acrimonious debate in the senate and create disunity at a time when unity is needed for prosecution of the war, they said.

Nor did some committee members favor a conference of allied nations now, which, it was suggested, most likely would produce controversies concerning post-war plans.

"If we have much more of this violent peace planning, we'll dynamite the war program itself so we won't have any peace to plan," said one member of the foreign relations committee, who preferred to speak without being named.

Wants to See Cards.

"There's no way the senate foreign relations committee could proceed intelligently with a matter of this nature unless the state department puts all its cards on the table and enables us to know the inside reality of all that's going on."

This senator also said that a mere resolution of the senate expressing willingness to coöperate would be lacking in meaning. Such generalities would inspire more suspicion than confidence among the allies, he said, adding that when Stalin does speak he does so specifically and not in generalities.

As to the senate advising the President on making of post-war plans and the peace treaty, this senator said: "I'd just as soon advise if I knew what I was advising about." The resolution to be introduced tomorrow embodies some of the doctrines on post-war plans recently advanced by Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota, a close collaborationist with Ball and also one of the original Willkie men.

War Job Divorce

MRS. MILDRED ZAHNWEH.

Mrs. Mildred Zahnweh, 31 years old, 2247 Augusta boulevard, was awarded a divorce yesterday from Alfred Zahnweh, also 31, a printer, of 2626 Division street, by Superior Court Judge Frank Padden after she testified that he beat her when she insisted on taking a war job. Her attorney, Harry X. Cole, said the couple was married Nov. 7, 1936, and separated last July 7. Mrs. Zahnweh waived alimony.

FOOD COSTS RISE DESPITE CURBS, REPORT REVEALS

Chicago Reflects Trend in National Survey.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 15. — Food costs continue to rise despite government controls over prices, the department of labor reported today. It blamed increased buying of fresh foods "because of short supplies of canned goods" for much of the price rise.

The department reported its surveys and reports from retailers "indicate limited supplies of meats, butter, most canned fruits and vegetable, shortening, tea and coffee." It noted that meats were in "very limited supply all over the country."

Chicago Prices Advance.

Food prices in Chicago between mid-January and mid-February advanced about 1.7 per cent, the department said. Fresh fruit and vegetable prices jumped 5.8 per cent and all food groups except eggs and fats and oils showed gains.

Dairy products costs in Chicago were up 2.6 per cent, cereal and bakery products prices 1.6 per cent, meat prices 0.2 per cent, and beverages 1.2 per cent.

The general level of all food prices in the Chicago area was 14.8 per cent higher than on Feb. 17, 1942.

National Figures Given.

For the nation as a whole the cost of food rose about 1.5 per cent between Jan. 15 and Feb. 15, this year the department reported. This figure was computed after eliminating egg prices, which had declined sharply from the calculations. When egg prices were included the over-all increase in food costs was only 0.5 per cent.

The bureau of labor statistics, which compiles the statistics on food costs, said that its index of food prices "does not completely reflect all the higher costs which are due to necessary shifts in buying different kinds of foods at higher priced stores because of short supplies."

It observed that "the order freezing prices of certain fresh vegetables was effective too late to be reflected in February prices" with the result that fresh vegetable prices rose more than seasonally during the period covered.

Controled Foods Higher.

"Foods under direct control by OPA on Feb. 16, representing about 90 per cent of the total food budget, declined 0.1 per cent over the month but remained 7.4 per cent above May 12, 1942," the department said. [Price controls were ordered last May 12.]

"Meats continue to advance as reports of very limited supplies were received from all over the country. Prices for all of the dairy products except cheese went up again.

"Foods not under direct control [about 10 per cent of the total food budget] advanced 4.4 per cent and are now 33 per cent above the May 12 level." Except for prices of green beans, all of the uncontroled foods sold at higher levels.

British Edict Bars Fish to U. S.; Secret Deal a Blow to Exports

Barred in Bahamas

BY WINIFRED MALLON.

[Copyright: 1943: By the New York Times.]

Washington, D. C., March 15.—With American fish production at practically its lowest ebb and falling steadily below even normal demands despite efforts to increase it to meet the requirements of the army and navy and the allied nations, protests have been received in Washington against British restrictions on the taking and purchase of fish in Bahaman waters which have reduced by thousands of pounds per week supplies of food fish from the greatest potential source south of the Grand Banks.

In addition to an almost unlimited supply of crawfish, formerly obtainable from Bahaman fishermen for five cents per pound or less, food fish on the Bahama banks include red and mutton snapper, rock fish, mackerel, grouper, and tuna.

Enforce Severe Rules.

Fishing in Bahaman waters is restricted to British subjects, and these in turn are now permitted to dispose of their "catch" only under regulations that practically exclude them from a ready year 'round American market.

Boats of American registry are excluded not only from fishing in Bahaman waters but from purchasing directly from native fishermen or from weighing stations. They are permitted to purchase and load only at Nassau, a ruling under which it is asserted profitable operation is impossible.

The difficulties encountered by Americans in attempting to purchase fish are set forth in affidavits by Capt. Edward Nelson, skipper of the Silver Heels, and Clifton Curry, his first mate, the latter a British subject and a Bahaman, with an exporter's license issued by the agricultural and marine products board at Nassau.

Forced to Pay More.

The Silver Heels, owned by the East Coast Fisheries, Inc., sought in vain to purchase at Red Shank Key supplies of fish and crawfish, the latter available at 5 to 6 cents a pound, and was obliged instead to proceed to Nassau, 90 miles distant, where they were compelled to pay from 12 to 14 cents. Not only is the high price at Nassau "prohibitive," according to Capt. Nelson, but the "extreme handling and shipping of the fish causes the spoiling of about 25 per cent of fish brought into Miami."

Prevented from Loading.

Curry said he was told by Basil McKinney, chairman of the Nassau board, that under the ruling of the board he could buy fish and crawfish under his present license, but "I would be prevented from loading same on a vessel of American registry at any place other than Nassau." His affidavit continues:

"He told me the agricultural and marine products board does not want American registered boats on the banks of the Bahamas, nor do they want American registered vessels to run the fish and crawfish after they are bought thru a British exporter."

The East Coast Fisheries, Inc., sent a letter to the colonial secretary protesting the procedure as "a direct discrimination against an American vessel."

With encouragement from the government the Bahamas would supply the United States at least four to five million pounds of food fish and four to five million pounds of crawfish per year, the company's letter stated. It added:

"However, the British government is permitting a monopoly by one group and not permitting any other people to operate, or making it so difficult for them that they cannot begin to operate profitably under the present rules."

According to the East Coast Fisheries, Inc., the "group" to which it refers is "backed by an American firm which seeks to establish a complete monopoly."

Traders Frozen Out

New York, March 15 [Special].—Charges were made here today that a secret agreement between the governments of the United States and Britain prevents American chemical exporters from competing with British products in certain empire colonies. The charges were aired at a meeting of foreign traders held under the auspices of the New York board of trade.

One trader asserted he had asked the lend-lease administration whether it could confirm private advices from India to the effect that a recent decision arrived at between the United States and Britain stipulated that India's copper sulphate requirements are to be supplied solely from the united kingdom.

Given Ruling by Lend-Lease.

He said he had been advised subsequently by lend-lease that "in the interest of conservation of shipping and for various other reasons a decision has been made by the combined export materials committee that Indian copper sulphate requirements are to be supplied from the united kingdom."

This has resulted in a situation, he continued, "whereby American exporters of copper sulphate have sought to deliver their product to South American countries, only to find that in order to compete there with the British product they would have to quote prices at around three-quarters of our present world prices.

Fixed Price in India.

"On the other hand," he added, "when we quoted on copper sulphate to India we were advised of this secret agreement between our government and the British, and also learned that the price charged for British copper sulphate in India was nearly double the price of our product, which has been 'shut out' by the agreement."

SHARERS OF CARS FACING LOSS OF EXTRA GASOLINE

Must Use Transit Service if Available.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 15.—The office of price administration ruled today that henceforth members of ride-sharing clubs will not be eligible for B or C gasoline rations if public transportation services are adequate to carry them to and from work.

The ruling, OPA officials said, will result in the disbanding of many share-the-ride clubs which have been formed in recent months at the urging of government officials.

Room on Transit Facilities.

The OPA said such clubs should be abandoned—and the cars left at home—in localities where OPA regional administrators determine that public transit facilities are not being used to their fullest capacity. Investigations have shown, officials said, that in some communities, there is still room for more riders on street cars and buses, in spite of heavy traffic increases already.

Under previous rulings, local ration boards were authorized to deny supplemental gasoline rations regardless of ride-sharing agreements only if the applicant could use rapid transit lines, such as a subway, elevated, or suburban railroad.

In other instances, it has been a general practice to allow supplemental rations to applicants forming car clubs regardless of atlernative public transportation. The tightening of restrictions was made primarily to save rubber, the OPA said.

Liberalize C Card Rules.

Meanwhile, the OPA liberalized its rules on the issuance of C gasoline rations for drivers engaged in maintenance and repair work.

The amendment lifts the restriction which previously allowed C books only for "structural or mechanical" installations, maintenance and repairs and extends the C book privilege to virtually all types of installation, maintenance, and repair work.

The action was taken, officials said, because the curtailment of production of most durable consumers' goods has made it important that existing appliances be kept in operation.

BANDIT GANG HOLDS UP THREE.

Five bandits invaded the Martin Oil company station at 10408 Indianapolis boulevard early yesterday, menaced Joseph Heller, 7114 St. Lawrence avenue, an employé, and stole $45 and nine gallons of gasoline. Presumably the same men earlier stole $12 from Francis Miller, 9825 Exchange avenue, and $2 and a car from William Morgenroth, 11433 Bell avenue.

DOWNSTATE ILLINOIS, NEBRASKA LEADERS IN MIDWEST GAS DOLE

Downstate Illinois and Nebraska motorists have received the largest percentage of B and C extra gasoline rations in the seven state midwest region, Raymond S. McKeough, Chicago regional administrator, reported yesterday. The tabulation of gasoline rationing for November and December has just been completed.

Of 826,650 motorists in downstate Illinois who registered for A [basic] gasoline books, 230,147, or 27.8 per cent, obtained B books, and 120,117, or 14.5 per cent, got C books. Thus, 42.3 per cent of all the motorists obtained either a B or C book.

In Nebraska, 42.4 per cent of all the motorists obtained either B or C books. The tabulation follows:

	A books.	% of B books.	% of C books.
Chi. Met. Area	719,265	21.2	12.4
Ill., Downstate	826,650	27.8	14.5
Iowa	598,767	28.8	6.5
Minnesota	612,052	22.7	8.5
Nebraska	313,762	32.2	10.2
North Dakota	122,396	22.1	11.0
South Dakota	142,987	26.0	6.6
Wisconsin	730,618	20.3	7.9

There were 4,066,497 motorists registered in the region, McKeough said, of whom 1,007,381, or 24.8 per cent, received B books and 413,102, or 10.2 per cent, got C books, a grand total of 35 per cent.

VOTE FRAUD CASE CONTINUED; HUNT SECOND SUSPECT

Edward Williams, 30 years old, Negro, of 9 East 38th street, yesterday obtained release from the county jail on his own bond and continuance of the vote fraud charge against him until March 29 after he told County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki he would help police locate a second Negro who persuaded him to attempt to cast a fraudulent ballot in the Feb. 23 mayoral primary. Williams is accused of attempting to cast a marked Republican ballot under the name of William Barnet in the polling place at 3355 South State street. He was arrested there by Policeman John Deady.

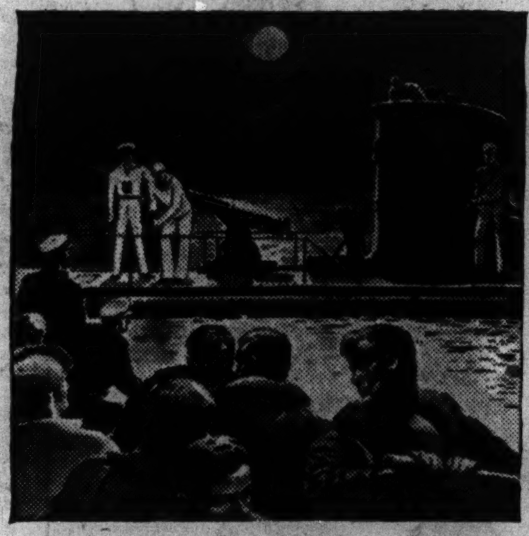
"We did it the hard way...or they'd still be in South Africa!"

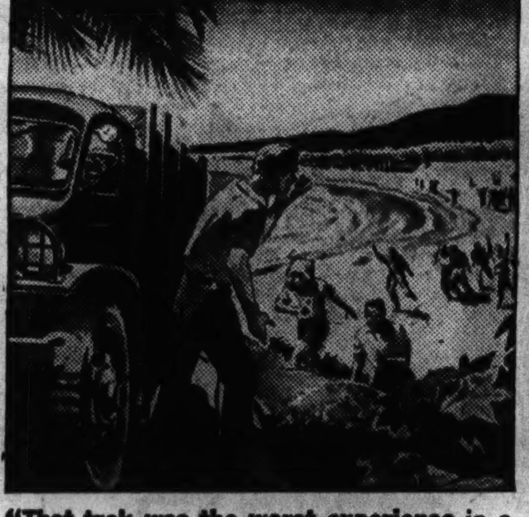
How fifty-two men of our Merchant Marine saved their Navy gun crew from internment in a neutral country. A true story, told by one of the men aboard an Alcoa ship, recently torpedoed off the coast of Africa.



"She sank like a rock... less than 3 minutes after the Skipper ordered us to abandon ship. All men were accounted for and we were pulling away when the submarine surfaced to question us. Having answered their questions we set a course for shore and started rowing . . .

"Next day the sun was red hot. The coast looked cool . . . mighty inviting. We were all for landing there right away, but if we did—the Old Man reminded us—our gun crew would be stuck there for the duration, because it was neutral territory. So we turned away. It was plenty tough going . . . with so many men in the boat, towing more on the raft . . . but we figured it was worth it.

"We finally made shore in British territory. Natives came out of the brush . . . but they were friendly. We camped there overnight, then set out for a jungle outpost up ahead. A few were sent on in advance; the rest of us followed along with the supplies.



"That trek was the worst experience in a seagoing lifetime. Exposed arms, faces, legs were badly sunburned . . . I'll never forget it. Then the miracle: dead ahead, a familiar sight . . . a shiny American-made truck with a grinning native driver and one of our advance party.

"When we piled out of the truck at the post, we weren't pretty to look at . . . but we'd made it! They sure treated us fine. Next day we were put in big army bombers that took us back to civilization, and much-needed rest ★★ Me? I've just signed on for another trip. And here's hoping it'll be up north with the icebergs and polar bears . . ."

SHIPS FOR VICTORY

The American Merchant Marine needs the services of every experienced man who has a license as a deck officer, or as an engineer. If you hold such a license, and are now working ashore, you may serve your country far better by going back to sea, even though the present shore job is war work. The hundreds of new ships which will be completed this year will need men like you as officers. Get full information at the nearest office of the U. S. Employment Service.

BROWN TO SHAKE UP OPA; WILL HIRE CHICAGOAN AS AID

Sweeping Change to Oust Many Young Lawyers.

BY LLOYD NORMAN.

Sweeping reorganization of the office of price administration, including a house cleaning of young lawyers, was foreshadowed last night by Prentiss M. Brown, OPA administrator. The "de-Hendersonization" of the OPA is expected to start in earnest within two months.

Brown conferred in Chicago with Raymond S. McKeough, regional OPA administrator, on his first official visit to the midwest. He will speak this noon in Milwaukee.

The first major step in the OPA shakeup, Brown indicated, will be the appointment of the executive of a large Chicago merchandising firm as his senior deputy administrator, replacing John Hamm who will leave his OPA post June 1. Hamm was the right hand man of Leon Henderson, former OPA czar whom Brown replaced Jan. 20.

Keeps His Name Secret.

"I want a man who has wide experience in the merchandising field and who will be able to run this OPA organization along the lines of a large business," Brown said. "At this time I cannot disclose his name but I expect to make an announcement in a few weeks."

Indicating his program of reorganization, Brown asserted that he already has placed a leading Detroit advertising executive at the head of the OPA information office and has accepted the resignation of David Ginsburg, OPA general counsel.

An efficiency committee of business experts headed by Clyde L. Herring, former Democratic senator from Iowa and now Brown's administrative assistant, will survey the entire OPA set-up in four to six weeks, the OPA chief said.

Praises Committee's Ability.

"This is a good committee," Brown emphasized. "It's composed of business men. Sen. Herring is not only a successful business man but has had a successful career in government."

Under the reorganization program, the trend will be toward greater decentralization of authority and the vesting of greater power in the hands of the local rationing boards, Brown said. Policy and programs will be developed in Washington but the actual application of the price control and rationing measures will be delegated as far as possible to the local boards.

Admitting that he is responding to congressional and newspaper criticism of the OPA, Brown declared there are too many lawyers in the price control section and attributed much of the difficulty in this branch to legal technicalities. He said the lawyers have delayed the progress of adjusting price control measures by their insistence on reviewing every order or price change.

Detroiter to Review Setup.

Next Tuesday, Brown said, he will employ a "top flight" Detroit lawyer to review and analyze the OPA's legal staff and to suggest a program for simplifying and speeding legal interpretations and rulings.

The OPA chief disclosed that Ginsburg disagreed with him on policy matters and has resigned. He said that Ginsburg will not be replaced because "we've got enough lawyers."

Asserting that criticism of OPA and its lawyers has been exaggerated, Brown agreed that in some instances it was justified. He described the general maximum price regulation, which Henderson and his lawyers considered their monumental achievement in price control, as "an unfortunate regulation." The regulation is being replaced gradually by fixed dollars and cents price ceilings.

Brown indicated that his disagreement with Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard on the need for ceilings on live stock prices will be submitted for decision by James F. Byrnes, economic stabilization director.

Brown said live hog price ceilings are imperative to relieve the squeeze on meat packers and to combat illicit meat sales. He noted, however, that the imposition of ceilings on live cattle prices would be more difficult to institute.

75,000 EXPECTED IN SPECIAL NO. 2 RATION REGISTRY

Late registrants for No. 2 ration books, used for rationing canned goods, meats, butter, and cheese, may exceed 75,000 in the Chicago metropolitan area, officials at the Chicago metropolitan area headquarters of the office of price administration, said yesterday.

The belated registration for the books opened in local rationing boards for consumers who were ineligible for the mass registration held last Feb. 23 thru 26 in school houses. Consumers who did not own No. 1 [sugar] ration books were not permitted to apply during the mass registration.

More than 50,000 applications for No. 2 books have been pending in local rationing boards. Most of these came from hotel and rooming house districts where many consumers had not applied for No. 1 books. Many of the late registrants have to file special forms to explain their belated applications for No. 1 books.

Simplified and standard procedure for replacing stolen, lost or mutilated ration books will be announced March 29.

Wallace to Be Gone Month on Latin America Jaunt

Washington, D. C., March 15 (AP).—Vice President Henry A. Wallace disclosed today that his tour of seven Latin American countries will take him away from the capital more than a month. His itinerary starts at San Jose, Costa Rica, Thursday, and ends April 20 at Bogota, Colombia. He also will visit Panama, Chile, Bolivia, Peru, and Ecuador, and will return to the United States about April 25.

MRS. LEO CARR TOSSES PROBLEM BACK IN OPA LAP

On a clear day, Mrs. Leo Carr, wife of the 1942 Republican nominee for sheriff, might have been able to see the great wisdom packed into nine printed pages of questions and instructions that she received from the office of price administration. But it was raining yesterday, and to her it seemed just so much waste effort.

All that Mrs. Carr had done was to sell her Buick automobile to the Rev. Richard B. Connolly of St. Vincent Ferrer church, River Forest.

Mrs. Carr wrote a letter to OPA yesterday relating the circumstances of the sale of her automobile.

In conclusion she said:

"I would appreciate it very much if you would be kind enough to release me from answering your nine pages of printed instructions containing a lot of details that I do not understand. I am only a housewife who sold her automobile, and not a dealer in cars.

"If it is necessary that I comply with the regulations you sent me, I will have to hire an attorney who might understand your instructions."

CURB ABSENCES WITH BONUSES, M'NUTT URGES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 15.—Chairman Paul V. McNutt of the war man power commission today endorsed the use of "incentive vacations" and incentive bonuses for workers to reduce absenteeism in industrial plants.

The use of incentive vacations was advocated recently by Ralph Bard, assistant secretary of the navy. Such vacations, it was explained, would be awarded with pay to employés for exceptionally good work and faithful attendance.

McNutt told a press conference that such action is one of several that might be used to combat absenteeism, but asserted that Washington man power officials are not prepared to lay down any general policy for curing excessive absence from work.

He also advocated, where local conditions justify it, the shifting of hours of stores, doctors' and destints' offices, movies and other entertainment centers to accommodate workers on war time shifts.

HONOR OFFICER WHO TOLD SON OF WAR IDEALS

Washington, D. C., March 15 (AP).—Lt. Comm. John J. Shea, whose letter to his 5 year old son from the South Pacific war zones outlined the ideals for which he fought the Japanese, has been awarded the navy cross for heroism, the navy announced today.

Shea, of Arlington, Mass., is listed as missing in action. He was decorated for heroism in directing the fighting of fires aboard the aircraft carrier Wasp after she had been crippled by Japanese bombing. He last was seen just before a terrific explosion.

RATIONING CURB IS DRAFTED FOR EATING HOUSES

Plan to Limit Amounts and Variety.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 15.—The restaurant trade, from the biggest hotel down to the smallest hamburger stand, will be informed within the next several days the exact amount of meat, vegetables, and other items that can be served in a meal to an individual diner.

The department of agriculture is drawing up an order for presentation soon to the office of price administration for institution and enforcement of this program, food distribution administration officials said tonight.

Officials said the program may be ordered on a voluntary basis because enforcement of such a plan would be an immense task.

Purpose of the program, the officials said, is to assure equitable distribution of available food supplies—to assure the housewife of having as much rationed food to serve her family as the person able to afford a seven course dinner can obtain at a restaurant.

Representatives Called In.

Restaurant trade representatives, including railroad dining car stewards, chain hamburger stand owners, and managers from the swankiest of cafés have been called to Washington to confer with government officials and work out details of the program during recent weeks, FDA said.

Some finishing touches must be given the order before it is ready for announcement, they reported. As it stands now, both the number of meals and the number of products that can be served will be limited.

Under the program each restaurant probably will be told the exact number of ounces of meat that may be served a customer. The number of vegetables this customer could have for his meal also probably will be limited.

Two Vegetables Likely.

For example, informed sources said, a person eating in a restaurant may be limited to two vegetables. If he should prefer a vegetable salad with his dinner, then he would be permitted only one other vegetable.

Further simplification of restaurant menus will be prescribed under the program, the FDA officials reported. Menus of the future may give diners a choice of soup or dessert, but not both.

The food distribution men intimated that restaurant meals will be "standardized" under the program. No ration coupons to obtain restaurant meals are contemplated now, but the restaurants will be subject to OPA food allocations.

Patrons Now Have Advantage.

The officials said that as things stand now, the persons who can afford to eat out often enjoy an advantage over the ordinary family. If a person has enough money, he can practically escape all the burdens of food ration.

While OPA may change the program now being drafted in the agriculture department so that only servings of rationed foods will be limited, food distribution administration officials expect it to go a long way toward reducing restaurant fare to somewhat the same levels allowed all individuals under the rationing program.

48 MORE POINTS ON CANNED FOOD VALID MARCH 25

May Change Values of Some Products.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 15.—Blue stamps lettered D, E, and F in war ration book No. 2—a total of 48 points—will be valid for the purchase of canned and processed fruits, vegetables, soups, and juices from March 25 thru April 30, the office of price administration announced today.

The point total is the same as was allowed for the month of March, the first ration period. The validation of April coupons on March 25 will make it possible for housewives to combine their remaining March stamps with April stamps in making purchases, so they will not be left with a few March stamps of small denominations that are not usable, officials said.

Expire on March 31.

Stamps A, B, and C, valid for the month of March, will expire on March 31 and cannot be used for any purchases after that date, the OPA said.

OPA officials said that possible changes in individual point values of the various rationed foods are now being studied, and that some revisions will probably be announced before March 25. These changes will be based on supplies of the various foods in relation to consumer purchases so far under rationing, and on inequities in the original point table.

Point values for some concentrates will probably be raised to bring them more nearly into line with other products, it was explained. For example, a pound of tomato paste is equivalent in food value to three pounds of canned tomatoes, but has the same point value per pound. Officials said the number of points required for this paste and other similar concentrated products will probably be increased.

Lift Jar Cap Restrictions.

Meanwhile the war production board today lifted previous restrictions on the manufacture of some caps for glass jars needed for home canning to meet a prospective record demand by housewives for canning facilities, because of strict rationing of canned goods.

Russell C. Mower, director of the WPB containers division, said restrictions were lifted after a survey by the department of agriculture showed that American housewives will can an estimated 5 billion 200 million jars of food this year, an increase of 51 per cent over last year.

Mower said today's action will make it possible to supply enough closures to meet the record demand. He estimated that 634 million caps of a new type will be manufactured for the use of housewives.

Three Piece Unit.

The new type is a three piece unit made up of a glass lid, a rubber ring, and a metal screw band to hold the lid in place while the food is processed and cooled. This type will be available in enough sizes to fit ordinary commercial mayonnaise, jam, pickle, and coffee jars used by housewives for home preserving, officials said.

The WPB order continued the prohibition against the manufacture of the familiar heavy zinc, glass lined cap for Mason jars, however.

The permitted use of metal in milk bottle caps was increased by the order from 50 per cent of the 1941 level to 100 per cent.

They're making Southern Colonels out of Yankee Locomotives

If you had been in Mississippi that day you would have sworn you were dreaming!

For there, as big as life and just as powerful, was an Erie locomotive pulling a train of war-laden freight cars.

Seemed like home to one Yankee soldier boy who saw it—and he said so in a letter he wrote us just the other day.

But of course we already knew about that locomotive in Mississippi, and about the 69 other Erie engines now far from home in the service of the nation. For the sale or lease of motive power by one road to another is common practice these days. So is the interchange of other equipment.

Take any train hauling war goods from one part of the country to another. You'll find it made up of rolling stock from all over the nation—reefers from the Pacific, tankers from the Gulf, gondolas from the wheat belt and the ore-producing northwest, flats from Pennsylvania and New York, Ohio and Virginia.

This pooling of resources, this exchange of facilities, makes available to the nation the total power of its railroads. It spreads the transportation load evenly over all areas, saving labor and materials, speeding deliveries. But more than that, it illustrates a spirit of cooperation which not only helped build a great rail transportation system, but which has kept that system great, in war and peace, for long and profitable use by our people.

IN THE BALANCE.

The half dozen senators who conferred with the President on their scheme to subject the United States to a super-government seem to have found him a willing listener.

The precise nature of the program has not been divulged, but enough is known about it to warrant the comment that it can be looked upon with the grimmest suspicion by the people of this country. A super-government is to be created to which the United States will be subservient. The primary purpose is described as the keeping of the peace after this war.

How is that to be done? By placing the men and wealth of this country at the disposal of the super-government. The choice in future between war and peace is to be made not by the representatives of the American people in congress but by a super-government to which the war making power is to be entrusted. Once the decision has been made for us we are to have no choice but to send our sons and brothers to fight wherever they are desired.

In this super-government we shall find ourselves serving the ends of a combination of monarchies, empires, and dictatorships whose rivalries and ambitions have been the common cause of wars for 300 years. Britain has no written constitution to restrain its government. Britain has vast imperial interests to defend against rival empires and against the desires of the subject peoples for liberation.

Russia will be another powerful element in the super-government. Russia has a constitution, but it is a scrap of paper. Russia today is reaching out to reëstablish the empire of the czars and it is preparing to destroy the national independence of Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, and Finland, and to weaken Poland. Russian ambition, now fully revived, played a leading part in fomenting the Balkan wars and the first World war, and there is no reason to doubt that its present policy will be a war breeder.

The scheme that is being touted as necessary to keep this country at peace will, in fact, keep us continually on the brink of war. It will place us in the middle of European intrigue. The costs will be ours to pay. The advantages will go to others.

The program to subordinate the Constitution of the United States to a super-government composed of empires and dictatorships is ominous in another sense. For 10 years in this country there has been a persistent effort to undermine the Constitution. The effort to pack the Supreme court failed, but the plotting has continued. Only last week the house, in a memorable vote, insisted on its constitutional right to levy taxes and rebuked the executive for his effort to legislate dictatorially by decree. That evidence of a rebirth of constitutionalism in this country stung the New Dealers who have been scheming to establish a lifetime Presidency.

We are about to witness in Washington a mass-trial, patterned after the mass-trials of Moscow, in violation of the judicial principles won for us by our forefathers in over a thousand years of martyrdom. The OWI propaganda bureau tells the movie producers what to present in their films. The federal communications commission dominates the radio. The federal bureau of investigation sent its agents about the country to coerce the newspapers. There is even now before congress, in the guise of an amendment to the espionage act, a proposal to reënact the law of constructive treason, the same law by which Augustus Cæsar nearly 2,000 years ago destroyed the Roman republic.

Congress, as we have seen, is in a mood to resist these dictatorial trends and the New Dealers are desperate. They lost control of congress last November. Their greatest hope of achieving the dictatorship now is thru a super-government which would supersede the Constitution. Truly, the life of our republic is trembling in the balance.

PARTNERS SHOULD BE OF A SIZE.

Some very fair words were spoken about the United States the other day by Keith Murdoch, former Australian information minister and managing director of the Melbourne Herald. Mr. Murdoch was disposed to make much more handsome acknowledgments of this nation's motives as well as its tangible contributions in coming to the protection of Australia than have some other empire spokesmen. He stated that we had entered a war "distant" from our direct interests, largely out of a spirit of idealism, and had placed sentiment above strategy in saving his country.

No American can fail to appreciate the frankness of this acknowledgment of the indebtedness of a friendly country far removed. It is only when Mr. Murdoch begins to suggest that the present rapprochement should be made a permanent relationship that Americans may feel that his attentions are slightly embarrassing. In suggesting that Australia would stand in need of a firm alliance with the United States after the war and that she must maintain America's binding interest in the southwest Pacific, Mr. Murdoch said, "We should aim at America joining in control of those islands and strategic parts of the Asiatic mainland which must be held for the white man's defense."

If this is to be considered an invitation to make it our permanent responsibility to furnish protection for the British and Dutch colonial empires and to enforce British rule over the people of India and Burma, Americans can be expected to decline with thanks. Nor is it any too likely that a suggestion of this nature from Australia would be welcomed by the headquarters of the empire in Britain, for the colonial secretary, Col. Oliver Stanley, declared recently that the administration of British colonies "must continue to be the sole responsibility of Great Britain."

If, on the other hand, Mr. Murdoch's invitation is considered as limited to coöperation with Australia alone, Americans will very naturally feel that partnerships can only exist between equals, and that the condition is not met when a nation of 7 million persons proposes an alliance with one of 135 million. There may be much justice in Mr. Murdoch's assertion that Australasia's "security and progress are beyond the single strength of its inhabitants and what Britain in its future strategical situation can afford." But if that is true, those who can neither protect themselves nor count upon Britain for protection should ask themselves whether it is their province to attempt to fix the conditions of other arrangements for their future protection.

MR. STIMSON ON MAN POWER.

Our maundering secretary of war has sought to justify the oversized army which the war department is attempting to muster by suggesting that industry and agriculture should increase their efficiency. Neither farms nor factories are at top efficiency now, Mr. Stimson alleges. Therefore, he asserts, the assumption that every man hour put into the army is a loss to industry or agriculture is not true. The loss can be made up by the greater efficiency of the remaining workers.

Had official Washington been combed to find a spokesman for these sentiments, no more unfortunate choice could have been found than Secretary Stimson. When the question of efficient use of man power arises, he would be well advised to seek the darkest corner available and hope to pass unnoticed. Of all the agencies using man power, his war department is making the least efficient use of it.

He has, probably, between 4 and 5 million men in the army. The sole purpose of the army is to fight, yet of this vast number he has only a few hundred thousand men in North Africa and in the southwest Pacific, where the fighting is going on.

We have been training troops for two years and some of the troops that we started training two years ago still are not judged fit for battle. That is not necessarily a reflection on the troops, but it is a reflection on the training program of the war department. Mr. Stimson and his generals, when they argue for an army of 8,200,000 by the end of this year, can't prove their case by estimates of the number of troops that will be needed on the battlefield. They first have to demonstrate their ability to get the troops there and supply them, and in that respect they have been woefully wasteful of the man power already assigned them.

DEAD DUCK ALLRED.

The general impression that congress regained its independence in the election last November will be put to an almost conclusive test in the senate when that body votes on the appointment of James V. Allred to the United States Court of Appeals for the 5th circuit.

Allred's nomination provides a particularly degrading example of dead duckism. Allred was one of Mr. Roosevelt's appointees to the federal District bench. He resigned in order to run in the Texas Democratic primary against Sen. O'Daniel, one of the pre-war opponents of intervention who was marked for a purge by the Park avenue-Union square axis. The Texas voters preferred O'Daniel, and Allred was left out of a job.

No one can retain confidence in the integrity of a judge who dips in and out of politics at the behest of the man who put him on the bench. If he is so pliant in political matters, what trust can one place in his judicial conscience?

As one who has demonstrated the subservience of the New Deal judiciary to the New Deal executive, Allred has demonstrated a particular unfitness, but he shares as well the general unfitness of the half dozen senators, the score of ex-congressmen, and all the other dead ducks on whom Mr. Roosevelt is seeking to confer social security at $10,000 a year.

These men were not defeated at the polls, in most instances, because they were personally obnoxious to the voters. They lost as the proponents of an obnoxious system of government, in which every effort has been exerted for a decade to make the legislative and judicial branches of the government subservient to the executive. In ratifying appointments by which the executive demonstrates his ability to provide for the ducks who died because they betrayed their constituents to serve him, the senate would be helping to fasten on the country the minority government that was repudiated in November.

DOING THE JOB.

Absenteeism, the nation's worst industrial war disease, is placed at only 3 per cent in Chicago area war plants. The loss in war production occasioned by willful absence from work is much smaller here than in other parts of the country, and the army has complimented Chicago workers on this record. Moreover, industrial surveys have shown unwarranted absences from Chicago plants to be relatively small in comparison with those resulting from illness or other causes equally valid.

Of course, it might be expected that a city like Chicago, which has had a fairly stable labor population for many years, would have much less trouble of this nature than cities depending upon a floating labor supply. That is a consideration that may have brought a number of new war plants here, and which should influence industries in future to think of Chicago when they are considering locations.

But it is more than a fair inference that the record on absenteeism is but another reflection of the same patriotism so conspicuously shown by Chicago soldiers on every fighting front in the world. Soldiers and sailors from Chicago and the west have been in the forefront of every battle. It is only natural that the workers at home should offer the same example to their fellows in other parts of the country.

BREAK THIS AGE BARRIER.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

The rule imposed arbitrarily by some industries setting the maximum age limit for women somewhere between 32 and 40 is not in keeping with the exigencies of total war. In time of peace, when employés are required in smaller numbers, such regulations are not subject to severe criticism. Under normal conditions the expense of training personnel is an important factor, and efficiency dictates that length of service, susceptibility to illness and similar factors be considered.

However, these are minor matters at this time. Workers are required in unlimited numbers and their usefulness is gauged by needs of the moment.

In closing the door to women above 40 a large class of efficient and capable workers is held out of the war effort. In this older group is to be found a larger percentage of widows who need jobs and thus do not have to be persuaded to go to work for patriotic reasons. In the higher age brackets are some also whose children need little maternal care.

Still another group must be considered, those women who have sons in military service. Many mothers earnestly desire to back up their sons by building the weapons on which victory depends. They cannot do their part if war jobs end at 40.

Dr. William P. Edmunds, director of the war man power commission in this area, asserts that industry generally has set age limits "without regard to the physical capability of the women applying for a job." This has been the chief barrier to putting women into industry in the required numbers. The barrier should be broken down.

MUSEUM MUSINGS.

After a rapid reconnaissance of the Field museum in search of material from New Guinea and the Solomons, this column reports rich finds in ethnology and zoölogy. But we saw no special exhibit arranged to give the home-folks a survey course in nature study on Guadalcanal; the museum follows the scientists, not the war correspondents. You have to go downstairs to find the heathen idols and ancestral skulls of Melanesia, and upstairs to see New Guinea's glorious birds of paradise.

The fanciest natives of the South Pacific war zone seem to inhabit the Bismarck archipelago, base of the Japanese convoys which MacArthur's bombers have been harrying. The Field's department of ethnology contains large collections from New Britain and New Ireland, and many of the objects, especially the ceremonial masks, represent an advanced stage of savage handicraft. These fellows also carve slender, openwork totem poles which are more decorative than the Alaskan variety.

The European stork, commonly regarded as quite a German bird, is displayed in a fine stage setting, with his housetop domesticity in full swing. But he has a frog in his bill, not a baby. Near by is a similar layout for the American blue heron, which is nearly as tall as the baby bringer of the Rhine but not as sturdy. Incidentally, the stork is a voiceless bird, according to his museum label, and when he wants to converse he claps his mandibles together in a kind of Morse code. Perhaps this stork talk recalled the chattering teeth of expectant fathers on hospital doorsteps, and so gave rise to the baby legend.

The Field can show you a fine assortment of terns, but fails to identify the species that sent a sacrifice to perch on Rickenbacker's head at the darkest hour.

ECCE MATER!

(The American Red Cross.)

Mother of all the world to all men's hearts;
In all men's hour of need their dearest name;
Beloved by all in whom her mercy's arts
Have fanned anew hope's nigh-extinguished flame—
Behold her now, moving with angel's grace
Of voice and touch among the forlorn of earth,
Gathering in one compassionate embrace
The incommunicable pathos of their dearth:
Tending the wounds, amending the mutilations,
And ending the hunger and nakedness of nations!
Lo! we who have known from of old your motherhood,
And marked from afar your care of the lost and stricken—
Have oft by your side in some stern crisis stood,
And felt our spirits gladden, our heartbeats quicken—
Shall we not grandly, having thus known and seen you,
Aid you in this, the hour of your own new need,
With redoubled unanimity, and glean you
The glorious means wherewith your tasks to speed?
Ay, radiant mother, by all the redeemed who hail you,
America bred you—America shall not fail you!

History of the Gold Coast—XXVI.

Chicago in 1871 was the fourth largest city in the country, having jostled St. Louis from that honored place by its own census, 334,270, taken that year. Of these, 77,758 lived in the north division, making their living on the docks, in the elevators, shipyards, and the 100 factories which lined the river and the north branch, or on the hundreds of steamers, schooners, canalboats, and tugboats with which the river swarmed. The 600 stores scattered thruout the division gave employment to many; likewise, the nine large breweries strung along the lake shore.

The first of these, Lill & Huck's on Pine street between Superior and Chicago avenue, was one of the largest in the country. The next was Sands' Columbian at Pine and Pearson, specializing in ales. At Cedar street and the lake shore was another. Close by on Elm were two more, while Division and State was the center for a group of three. The last was at North avenue, near the pesthouse and close to the shore. The favorite brew of those days, lager, brought to the country by Bavarian immigrants, was fast displacing the heavier beers of the Americans.

At North avenue the first steps were being taken to convert the city cemetery into Lincoln park, which had been created by the state legislature on Feb. 8, 1869. The remains of the first Chicagoans were being exhumed under the direction of Joseph H. Ernst for reinterment in new cemeteries outside the city to the north and south. A start was also being made on the lake shore drive, which was to run along the shore from Diversey to North avenue. Captain John.

POCKETS IN THE COLON WALL.

MANY of us who have passed middle life will present a few tiny balloons on the colon wall. Few, indeed, will exhibit symptoms. Only in the course of an X-ray examination of the bowel will these protuberances be identified. In routine checkups conducted by various clinics, between five and 10 per cent of all subjects will reveal this disorder.

These outgrowths are called "diverticula." They form at a point where a blood vessel penetrates the intestinal wall, weakening it slightly. In appearance a bulge may resemble a blister on the inner tube of an automobile tire. A lesion may arise because of constipation, straining at stool, or an overfilled canal. Probably firm contractions cause some, and it may be that drastic cathartics are in part responsible.

While these projections are more common in the colon, they are found occasionally in the small intestine or in the duodenum. At any rate, they may be regarded as relatively harmless unless irritation develops, followed by inflammation and the formation of pus. Even then, little difficulty will be encountered provided drainage into the channel is free and open. Should the outlet become closed off, an abscess may ensue.

Thus we may account for twinges in the lower left side of the abdomen or soreness that may last for a day or two. Instead of taking a purgative we may limit the diet to bland edibles, possibly using agar [a seaweed] to increase bulk.

Every physician has seen hundreds of these tags without a single symptom. But when one of these pockets becomes infected, we term the condition "diverticulitis." Now and then there will be enlargement of the diseased region, with swelling of adjacent structures. Then it is that the patient is put to bed and treated as tho appendicitis or some other malady were about to blossom.

If the areas of irritation are in the neighborhood of the rectum, irrigations may be helpful. The hose is passed above the "plumber's trap" [the sigmoid] and weak salt solution is allowed to flow thru the apparatus until the return is clear.

Many authorities advise belladonna or other relaxing remedy. This appears to be helpful in preventing forceful contractions which might squeeze foul material into these sacs. A few ounces of olive oil, administered by rectum and retained thruout the night, will prove soothing. It goes without saying that the patient must be cautioned against rough edibles such as seeds, skins, popcorn, celery, etc. No matter how thoroly chewed, these articles may become troublesome. A carefully regulated diet and good bowel habits will aid in preventing recurrences.

There is nothing to get panicky about as, in most instances, the infection will subside under bed rest and good management. Hot water bottles will enhance comfort. Surgery will seldom be needed and then only when obstruction or spreading inflammation demands its employment.

"WHY WE GET DISCOURAGED."

Minneapolis, Minn., March 4.—Interesting in these days when both the press and the air waves carry stories of workers in war plants voting themselves holidays, and of other evidences of the attitude of part of union labor, is a letter recently received from a young man friend of mine, stationed overseas in one of the battle areas where our forces are now meeting the enemy in combat. He writes in part:

"At best, we are isolated here, in a strange land with a foreign climate and a language we can't understand. There isn't one of us who doesn't suffer from the most intense loneliness and homesickness at times. On the rare occasions that we see a recent [two months old] magazine, we can't help but notice the ads of the big corporations which keep praising their employés, the mighty defense workers, who are the real soldiers of production, and who are really winning the war by working so hard, even on Sundays for time and one-half pay.

"It rather sickens us over here. We like to think that we are making sacrifices, too. To us, Sundays are just days of the week, and we don't know what time and one-half is. We can't use our cars, either, for obviously they are not over here with us, and many of us put a lot more than 10 per cent of our income into bonds. We work hard, too, without being able to see a movie afterward, drink a coke, eat a steak, or even talk to those whom we love. The attitude of the American public toward the defense workers is one reason why we get discouraged and feel low at times."

NO SEAT FOR A CRIPPLED CHILD.

Chicago, March 8.—I was sitting in a Central avenue bus this morning. When a stop was made at Schubert street the driver saw a little crippled girl with braces on her legs and using crutches. He shouted, "Don't get on, we ain't got no seat for you." A lady who intended to help this little girl get on the bus said, "You are the third driver who has told her the same thing." The driver slammed the door and left the little girl standing, and the weather at the time [7:50 a. m.] was exactly four degrees below zero. The fact remains, however, that there were empty seats in the front of the bus and if there had been no seats I am quite sure some one would have gladly given this little girl a seat. Then this same driver poked along leisurely to North avenue.

WAR PROGRAM FOR NEIGHBORS.

Chicago, March 1.—Here is a suggestion for the housewife who complained the other day of being unable to get work to do at home which would permit her to assist in the war while still giving her child the attention she considers necessary.

Food shopping is becoming more difficult and cooking unprocessed foods is becoming increasingly necessary under rationing. Both take a great deal of time. Many wives, no doubt, would welcome the idea of some one woman shopping and cooking for a whole group of neighbors. Those relieved of the burden could do war work all day and stop by in the evening to pick up the family dinner, already partially or completely prepared.

The woman who undertook the task of freeing her neighbors for war work would be serving just as surely as those who go into factories. She would probably have little more work preparing a large roast or stew than a small one, and could be at home when her family needed her.

Helen Bugbee.

FODDER EATERS.

Chicago, March 8.—With Mr. Wickard recommending that we eat animal foods, a paragraph from Thomas Mann's "The Magic Mountain" is singularly apropos: "There were those who wanted to make him [man] 'healthy,' to make him 'go back to nature,' when, the truth was, he never had been 'natural.' All the propaganda carried on today by the prophets of nature, the experiments in regeneration, the uncooked food, fresh air cures, sun bathing, and so on, the whole Rousseauian paraphernalia, had as its goal nothing but the dehumanization, the animalizing of man . . ."

As one who wandered for years thru the labyrinth of diet obsession, living now on this and now on that nutritional, with its accompanying psychological level, I am in a position to state that if we begin as grain eaters we shall all end as Gandhis, eternally in a state of contemplation and inaction, oblivious to the real world. Man evolved into a highly civilized and energetic mentality when he progressed from bulky vegetable foods with small energy value to refined grains and animal proteins. The vitamin madness with its trend toward bulky foods has for years been gradually reducing man again to his former animal level.

The very acceptance of a situation calling for semi-starvation would seem to indicate that our "leaders" have already descended to the negative state of the grain eater. [Grains are not a substitute for meat, all radio and movie propaganda to the contrary notwithstanding.] A positive leadership would "fight to the last ditch" to maintain the high stage of evolution it has taken millennia to reach. All "leveling" religions grow out of vegetarian minds.

The prophets of a new heaven and a new earth are not satisfied to have brought us to our knees. They are determined that we shall ambulate on all fours.

WHERE THE SHIPPING SPACE GOES.

Chicago, March 5.—Does the administration want us to use V mail when writing to our brothers, sons, nephews, etc., in foreign war service in order to conserve cargo space so that the New Dealers will have room for shipping the fourth term propaganda magazines, issued by the OWI at taxpayers' expense, such as the latest overseas publication "The Life of F. D. Roosevelt," referred to in today's Tribune?

PAY ROLLERS WOULD DODGE LABOR DRAFT.

Chicago, March 8.—Newspaper accounts of the Austin-Wadsworth American Legion approved universal service bill either point out that it violates the 13th amendment to the Constitution or that it permits the drafting of men from their present jobs for work in a private occupation, activity or employment, but not in any war industry; but all fail to list one particularly objectionable feature, viz.: that it exempts from service any officer or employé of any of the 48 United States or of any political subdivision, or of any agency of a state—namely: employés of counties, cities, townships, park districts, and sanitary districts, unless the governors of the states consent in writing to the drafting of any employé.

Charles V. Falkenberg.

MEDALS TO PIN ON THEIR COATS.

Chicago, March 10.—Some months ago congress, at the request of the executive branch, passed a bill permitting American citizens to accept decorations from allied governments without the specific congressional approval formerly required by law.

There can be no objection to the award of foreign decorations for bravery in war, or for leadership or administrative ability in operations with our allies. However, some of our allies in the past, in their dealings with the officials of other nations, have shown a lively appreciation of the services of these men to said allies rather than to the nation to whom they owed their loyalty.

With that in mind, congress would do well to amend the lend-lease act to provide that no civilian or military official having responsibility for the disbursing of our money, war materials, or food supplies should be permtted to accept from any nation receiving lend-lease aid any order, decoration, or medal, except on specific approval of congress.

If some such step is not taken, Washington will eventually blossom out with a bewildering and dazzling array of ribbons proudly displayed on the breasts of the burocrats whose dearest aim in life is to ape the gaudy display of the representatives of foreign governments.

FALSE FRONT FARMERS.

Cicero, Ill., March 11.—We visit friends in Indiana who are farmers. They have a neighbor who rents a farm and works in a defense plant in South Bend, making $70 a week on a punch press. He sold off his cattle and let the land lie idle, except for 10 acres which he put in corn [for a front].

The land owner gets two-fifths of this on shares for use of the land, but no other income off the place. Then this renter claims exemption for service as a farmer. Why not comb these defense plants and send the farmers back to the farms?

BAYS AT THE MOON.

Chicago, March 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—One of our neighbors has a dog which is allowed to run the streets, day and night. It annoys people by jumping up on them with its dirty feet and it barks at passing school children, scaring some of the little ones. What's more, the pup bays at the moon all thru the night and there's nothing we've been able to do about it. The owner pays no attention to our complaints. When a dog stands under your bedroom window and barks half the night, it's not an easy matter to fall asleep. What can we do?

T. P.

Section 98—42 of the municipal code provides: "If it shall appear that any dog has in any manner disturbed the quiet of any person or caused an abrasion of the skin, or attempted to bite or snap at any person within the city, the owner or keeper shall be fined not less than $5 nor more than $200." We suggest that you try complaining to the police. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

Test Your Horse Sense

By Dr. George W. Crane

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correctcorrect answers on page 36.

1. The word "puny" describes which of the following physical characteristics? Tall Strong Weak Old
2. Approximately how much of the surface of the globe is dry land? 3/4 1/2 1/4 1/10
3. Which one of these cities is referred to as the Hub? Boston New York Chicago Cincinnati
4. Which one of the following do chemists regard as the greatest solvent? Alcohol Water Nitric acid Gasoline
5. A patient who said his physician had collapsed his lung, would be suffering from which of these diseases? Cancer Tuberculosis Angina pectoris Hemophilia

[a] North America
[b] Europe
[c] Antarctica
[d] Africa
[e] Asia

[v] 6,000 feet
[w] 3,000 feet
[x] 2,000 feet
[y] 1,900 feet
[z] 980 feet

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

PARENTS LEARN 2 DAY GUEST IS NOT SAILOR SON

Welcome Youth, Thinking Boy Had Changed.

Port Washington, Wis., March 15 [Special].—Johnny Meisnest, 19 year old veteran of Pearl Harbor and numerous subsequent engagements in the Pacific, came home from the war a week ago Saturday and spent the week-end with his overjoyed father and mother, who had not heard from him for a year. Or did he?

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Meisnest said today they are now convinced the personable and affectionate young man whom they welcomed back to the family fireside as their son actually was some one else. To support this belief they have a wire from Rear Adm. Randall Jacobs, chief of navy personnel in Washington, stating that Johnny is now on sea duty in a submarine.

"We thought it was Johnny," said Mrs. Meisnest. "He looked like Johnny and talked like him, but he had changed a great deal. We thought the strain of the battles he had been in could do that to him. He was heavier than Johnny had been when he enlisted on his 17th birthday, but that was natural. He didn't talk about the past or show much knowledge of his former life with us, but we thought the war could have done something to his memory."

Boy Leaves Suddenly.

All that is known for a certainty is that a young man in a navy work uniform who said he was Johnny Meisnest appeared Saturday night at the modest Meinest home in the small village of Knellsville, a mile north of here. He was accepted joyfully and without question by the Meisnests, and accompanied them to church the next day. He greeted neighbors and old friends, posed for his picture for the local newspaper, exchanged friendly conversation with an old sweetheart and accepted an invitation to talk before the local Rotary club.

But Sunday night the boy stepped out of the Meisnest home and did not return. The worried parents appealed to the Red Cross, which in turn made inquiries in Washington. Doubts that the boy really was Johnn, were expressed by old acquaintances as news of the disappearance spread thru the city. The parents admitted they had some doubts also, but were undecided in their own minds until the wire from Adm. Jacobs arrived Saturday, they said.

Miss Evelyn Smith, a member of the family which operates the widely known Smith Brothers restaurant here, where Mrs. Meisnest is employed, said the mother was so happy over the return of her son that she arranged to take a leave of absence from her work to be with him during his leave.

"She was puzzled and a little sad that the war had changed her boy so much," Miss Smith said, "but she did not seriously doubt his identity. She told me that on the night of the boy's arrival, after he had been greeted and put to bed in her son's room, she woke up and asked her husband, 'Can it really be Johnny?' and that he replied. 'Of course. How could it be otherwise?'

Just Wanted Affection.

"All the boy wanted was affection," the mother said. "After breakfast Sunday morning he came into the kitchen and helped me with my baking. He had a rating as a 2d class cook, which seemed right because Johnny enlisted as a 3d class cook."

"He wasn't trying to get money," said the father, who is employed in a local dairy. "He said he had come from a naval base in Connecticut and I told him I would give him money to go back. But he told me he had $16 and that was all he needed."

Miss Smith said the boy was first picked up on a highway about a mile north of Milwaukee by a Port Washington man who thought he recognized him after he had seated himself in the car. "Aren't you Johnny Meisnest?" she quoted the motorist as asking, and said the boy answered that he was.

"This man then said he would drive him right to his parents' home and told him the Meisnests had moved since he enlisted," Miss Smith related. "He drove up to the Meisnest house about 11 p. m. and woke the family up shouting that he had brought their boy home."

Welcome Any Time.

Several persons who knew Johnny before he enlisted and who talked with the visitor during his Sunday at "home" said today they were unconvinced the boy was Johnny. One boyhood friend of Johnny's said he challenged the identity of the visitor and asked him to write his name, and that the boy responded by writing in an unfamiliar scrip and spelling the surname "Meissner."

I LICKED MY CONSTIPATION

Of course, it wasn't due to anything organically wrong with me. It was just ordinary constipation, due to lack of "bulk" in the diet.

A dose of some medicinal laxative gives only temporary relief for such constipation. You got to find something that gets at the cause and corrects it. I found just that—in KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN.

ALL-BRAN is a wonderful-tasting breakfast cereal and a swell way to start the morning. Eat it regularly, drink plenty of water and—if your constipation's like mine—you'll "Join the Regulars," too! ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek, Michigan.

Martha Raye as she looked yesterday, back in New York.

New York, March 15 (AP).—Martha Raye, screen and radio comedienne, said today she shed 22 pounds and contracted yellow fever when entertaining troops in North Africa and Britain, but after some scheduled film work on the Pacific coast, she hopes to return to the war theaters.

Miss Raye returned to New York after four months overseas, part of the time with a troupe, but most of the time as a one woman theatrical task force. She estimated she had traveled 100,000 miles by air and another 50,000 by land—automobile, train, jeep or anything available on wheels or hooves.

"The boys need a little more entertainment and more letters from home. Mail is the most important thing, the boys told me," she said.

SERVICES REJECT 1,000 WEEKLY AS 'MENTAL' CASES

Experts Discuss Ways of Rebuilding Men.

Need for helping in the recovery and rehabilitation of men rejected for military service or discharged for neuropsychiatric reasons was emphasized yesterday by speakers at the 34th annual meeting of the Illinois Society for Mental Hygiene at a luncheon meeting in Field's Wedgewood room. Thruout the country 1,000 men are being discharged weekly.

Dr. David Slight, head of the psychiatric department of the University of Chicago, who is beginning his fourth consecutive term as president of the society, said that plans are under way to increase the psychiatric force necessary to meet the increased load resulting from the war. Harold G. Webster, Detroit, executive secretary of the Michigan society, told what is being done in his state to remove stigma from men rejected or discharged.

60,000 Illinois Rejections.

Since the beginning of selective service 20,000 Michigan men have been rejected for military service because of mental reasons. For Illinois the total is 60,000 and current rejections are 4,000 a month. Since the start of selective service 7,500 men have been discharged from the army, navy, and marine corps and returned to Illinois, according to Dr. Conrad Sommer, chief medical officer of the Illinois department of public welfare.

Three thousand of the Illinois men who have been discharged were mental cases at the time of their release, according to Dr. Sommers. Of these, 300 have been admitted to state institutions for mental cases and 100 have been discharged as cured. Many have been returned to military service.

Rejections Lead to Rumors.

A survey of the first 2,354 men discharged in Illinois showed that 1,141 received certificates of disability discharge. This group included most of the men discharged for physical disability and those with psychiatric defects. A sampling of 1,141 showed that 25 per cent had neuropsychiatric defects and an additional 575 were known to be definitely psychiatric.

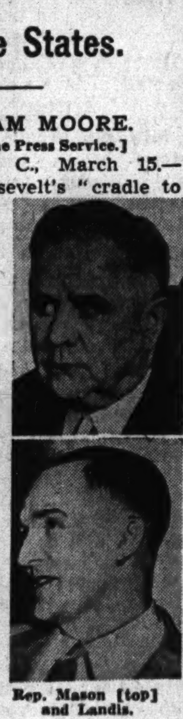
"Psychiatrists are helping to screen out those men who do not have the mental and emotional aptitudes to meet the tension of military life and service," Webster said.

"Plans must be made to protect and serve men rejected and discharged because of neuropsychiatric disorders and emotional instabilities. Much harm can be done."

SECURITY PLAN IS 'GOOSE STEP' WAY OF LIFE—LANDIS

House Warned of Scheme to Police States.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Rep. Mason [top] and Landis.

Washington, D. C., March 15.—President Roosevelt's "cradle to the grave" security plan was given a blistering denunciation in the house today.

Rep. Noah M. Mason [R., Ill.] warned the house that it is a scheme to enable Washington burocracy to police the states. Rep. Gerald W. Landis [R., Ind.] branded the program "the goose step to every aspect of American life."

Rep. Mason said the security plan would saddle the nation permanently with rationing of price control, and bring American business and industry under government supervision.

Reads Significant Paragraph.

The Illinois congressman read the house this paragraph from the security plan as submitted by the National Resources Planning board, headed by Frederic Delano, the President's uncle:

"Where a state refuses to comply with the federal requirements in accordance with the federal law, or refrains from participation in the program, the federal government should have the power to operate the program within the state with federal personnel until the state demonstrates its ability and willingness to reassume its responsibilities."

"As I see it," Rep. Mason commented, "the above paragraph sums up the real intent of the 'cradle to grave' security plan. It is a scheme to give the federal government control of every activity of the nation, with the states pushed back in to a position of impotence if they are not entirely obliterated.

Will Be Policed by Washington.

"The paragraph indicates that any state which doesn't coöperate with the program is to be policed from Washington until it sees the light.

"It means war controls fastened permanently upon the nation, including rationing and price control. It means government control and supervision over American business and industry.

"In fact it means just exactly the situation Italy has today, That Germany has today, that Russia has today, and no matter by what name you call it, the word 'totalitarianism' covers it."

Rep. Mason urged that congress give particular thought to the program because, he said, it contemplates an annual expenditure of 6 to 7 billion dollars.

Piled on Top of Present Taxes.

"The cost of this program," he said, "piled on top of the heavy taxes that are being heaped upon the American people as a result of necessary war expenditures—and unnecessary expenditures in support of a tremendously expanded federal burocracy—should cause members of congress to ask themselves, 'where are we going to get the money?'"

Rep. Lansis said:

"The post-war program presented by the National Resources Planning board is built upon a foundation of debt. We must not borrow our way to dictatorship by adopting this plan. It is the goose step to every aspect of American life.

"No elected official or appointed burocrat has the right to abolish that for which millions of American boys are fighting."

The planning board submitted its program with the approval of the President last week after congress had repudiated the group by cutting off its funds.

TAKE WAR JOBS AND RELEASE MEN, WOMEN ADVISED

2½ Millions Needed, Armstrong Says.

Two and a half million additional women will be needed in war jobs before the end of 1943, Paul G. Armstrong, state selective service director, said last night at a dinner meeting sponsored by the women's executive committee of the state department of public instruction in the Palmer House. In the audience were 600 club women and women business leaders, with some representatives of industry.

"The potentiality of women for direct war effort is recognized now as never before," Armstrong said. "There are 13 million women in this country between the ages of 14 and 65 without children who are now at home and are not employed. There are 9 million housewives with one or more children who are qualified to work if nursery schools are available."

Have Great Stake in War.

"There is no group which has a greater stake in the war and can do as much in it as the American women. They must take a greater part in the work if victory is to be won."

Armstrong said Maj. Gen. Henry S. Aurand, commanding officer of the 6th service command, recently told him that 2,665 army men have been released by him for combat service and that they are being replaced by men on limited service, men over draft age, and members of the WAACs. Women are needed in all the services as well as in the Red Cross, he declared.

"Every woman who joins the services, or goes to work in a plant, releases a young, physically fit man for combat service," he explained. "If you read the columns of want ads in the daily papers, you will find unlimited opportunties in industry. I have seen women running virtually every machine in all kinds of shops."

Urges New Attitude.

"One change many women must make is their attitude toward this war. Some cannot reconcile themselves to allowing husbands, sons, or sweethearts to go into service. . . We must forget the 'let George do it' idea."

He urged that housewives take good care of members of the family working in war plants, that employers hire some housewives for work between 10 and 4 p. m. daily, and that children find neighborhood employment or help overworked neighborhood housewives.

FINANCE AUDIT HALTS INQUIRY IN LAKE COUNTY

The Lake county grand jury inquiring into the financial proceedings of the Grant township supervisor's office in the period from April, 1937, to April, 1941, adjourned yesterday while the Chicago public accounting firm of Arthur Young & Co. makes a new audit of the books. The Taxpayers' league of Grant township requested the investigation, and E. E. Cook, chairman of the legal committee, appeared before the grand jury again yesterday. Frank Stanton was township supervisor from 1925 to 1941. In the latter years he was not a candidate for reëlection.

SERVICE STRIKE SHUTS DAYTON'S PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Rooms Cold, Pupils Are Sent Home.

Dayton, O., March 15 (AP).—All of Dayton's 49 public schools closed today as 140 nonteaching employés struck to enforce demands for a pay increase. Thirty thousand students are affected.

Supt. Emerson Landis ordered the closing an hour after classes opened "to protect the health of the children." He said temperatures in classrooms averaged 54 degrees, 18 degrees below normal.

Charles J. Bauer, business agent for the AFL Municipal Employés union, said he had been ordered to "win the strike and I am going to win it."

Wage Demands Vary.

School firemen, janitors and engineers, members of the municipal employés' union, are asking wage increases ranging from 10 to 25 per cent. Beginning employés, on $18-$25 weekly scales [payable every two weeks] are asking $24, payable weekly, and workers receiving $39 a week [payable every two weeks] ask $44 every week.

All employés are demanding a 44 hour week with time and a half for overtime. The union also resquests civil service rights, including sick leave privileges, vacation with pay, and a contract agreement with the school board.

Board Rejects Pact.

Carl Eberhart, a member of the board of education, issued a statement signed by all board members asserting the board will not enter into a collective agreement with any organized group representing its employés.

He added that courts had held school boards lack authority to enter bargaining agreements and that the board would observe the ruling.

LENTEN SPECIAL

IT'S EXTRA EASY TO GIVE UP MEAT THIS LENT

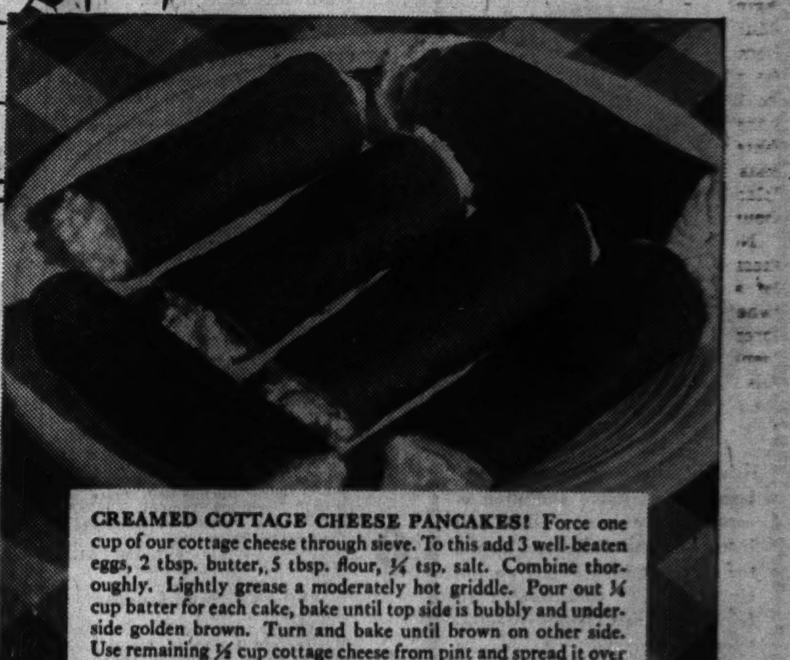
YOURS FOR CREAMED COTTAGE CHEESE

Bud Bowman

LOTS OF FOLKS ALREADY have gotten into the habit of going without meat once or twice a week at least. Beefsteak and chops and such aren't so awfully plentiful (as though you didn't know)—because our fighting men and fighting allies need all we can send 'em. But we still have creamed cottage cheese!

YES I SAID creamed cottage cheese. That's the kind we make . . . Bowman's Creamed Cottage Cheese. Adding real honest-to-goodness cream makes Bowman's different than ordinary kinds . . . richer, more nourishing, and oh that wonderful flavor. Perfect for salads or eating as it comes from the jar.

YOU'D BE SURPRISED how many swell main dishes you can easily make just as good and nourishing as meat ones . . . with creamed cottage cheese. Something to remember for Lent! Like meat, it's a great body-builder and it's rich in milk minerals and precious protein.



CREAMED COTTAGE CHEESE PANCAKES! Force one cup of our cottage cheese through sieve. To this add 3 well-beaten eggs, 2 tbsp. butter, 5 tbsp. flour, ¼ tsp. salt. Combine thoroughly. Lightly grease a moderately hot griddle. Pour out ¼ cup batter for each cake, bake until top side is bubbly and underside golden brown. Turn and bake until brown on other side. Use remaining ½ cup cottage cheese from pint and spread it over the six cooked pancakes. Fold into thirds and serve at once with jelly or syrup. Yield: 8 pancakes, 5 inches in diameter and wonderfully delicious.

LENTEN MEAL PLANNING is ever so simple when you have Bowman's Creamed Cottage Cheese and our new leaflet of suggestions. Both are available from your friendly Bowman man or your food dealer where our products are sold. Eyes right and you'll see about creamed cottage cheese pancakes. Look even better on your table . . . for breakfast or supper.

COUNSEL FOR ICC CALLS TRACTION MERGER UNSOUND

Holds Modernizing Plan Would Be Shelved.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Severe criticism of the proposed 179 million dollar Chicago traction consolidation was expressed yesterday in a hearing before the Illinois Commerce commission by William R. Morgan, assistant attorney general. He declared that the scheme was not only unsound financially, but that the hopes of car riders for modernized service under the plan would be "purely illusory."

Morgan, assigned as counsel to the commission by Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett, upheld the recent report of two commission examiners recommending that permission to merge the elevated and surface lines be denied. He also expressed the opinion that the report had been too kind to certain parts of the plan.

Questions Future Fares.

Among the objections he stated were:

Proponents of unification have never admitted what fare would have to be charged to carry the 179 million dollar capital structure.

The city ordinance embodied as part of the scheme does not compel the proposed company to carry thru a modernization program and the contract for the program has "escape clauses as wide as a barn door."

None of the recognized banking authorities who acted as negotiators for the plan had appeared as a witness to testify to the commission that the proposed securities would be sound.

The ordinance would put 400,000 suburban residents and their local transportation under control of a transit board appointed by the mayor of Chicago and without giving them any choice.

Sees SEC Disapproval.

"This company," Morgan averred, "does not agree to do a single thing except obey orders of the transit board. The funds the surface lines have built up for depreciation and renewals can be used to pay reorganization costs and can be retained for payments of interest under certain conditions. If that happens, modernization might have to wait for years."

He indicated further that the proposed securities would not meet the standards of the securities and exchange commission and declared that the commerce commission was the wholly responsible body which alone had to certify to the reasonableness and the necessity for the merger.

Other objectors to the consolidation will be heard today and the ICC then will take the case under advisement.

MACHINE NAMES DRYMALSKI'S SON FOR APRIL RACE

The Democratic organization yesterday made a quick switch in its ticket for the city election April 6. Paul Drymalski, because of his health, withdrew from the nomination for city treasurer about noon and in less than an hour the city central committee had filled the vacancy by nominating Raymond Paul Drymalski, his son.

The younger Drymalski has been acting city treasurer since the legal incumbent, Thomas S. Gordon, was elected to congress and found he could not surrender the treasurer's title or responsibilities. The city council thereupon designated Raymond as deputy treasurer and attorney.

The new nominee was born in Chicago 34 years ago, attended Loyola academy and Notre Dame, Harvard, and Northwestern universities, receiving the degree of doctor of jurisprudence from Northwestern. He has served as an assistant state's attorney and as an assistant United States attorney. He is married and has two children. The family residence is at 3611 North Avers avenue.

WEATHER TODAY: COLDER, STRONG WINDS, AND SNOW

H. S. Kenny, government forecaster, last night predicted much colder weather for today. Rain, flurries and strong winds also are expected, he said. The further decline in temperatures was predicted as an aftermath of a night time drop which was expected to take the mercury down to near 30 degrees above zero. Up to 7:30 p. m. yesterday, the rainfall measured 1.29 inches. Kenny said this was not unusual for March. The rain formed pools rapidly because of the frozen ground, Kenny said, thus making it appear heavier than it was.

300 War Workers Strike Against Hiring of Negro

Wheeling, W. Va., March 15 (AP).—Three hundred employés of the J. L. Stifel & Sons calico factory here went on strike today because a Negro had been hired, Plant Manager Warren Chapin reported. The official stated the concern has been working full time on war orders, and less than a year ago the plant was given a combined army-navy "E" for production.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Mrs. William F. Brennan, 5138 Hirsch street.]

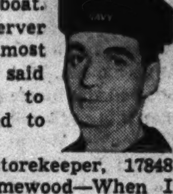
THE QUESTION.

Did you ever appear at a scene just in time to save a situation?

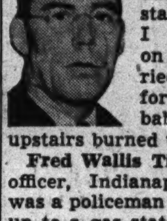
WHERE ASKED.

Michigan avenue and Washington street.

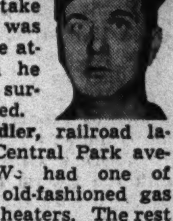
THE ANSWERS.



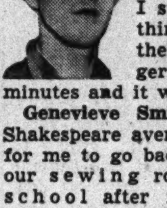
Voyne Parsley, third class petty officer, Cincinnati, O.—I saw a man bobbing up and down in the river near a boat. I threw a life preserver to him and he was a most grateful man. He said he had intended to drown, but decided to change his mind.



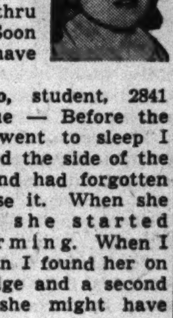
D. G. Fraser, storekeeper, 17848 Parke avenue, Homewood—When I drove into our garage I saw smoke pouring out of a neighbor's upstairs windows. Inside I found two children on the stairs. I carried them away just before a wall caved in. A baby I didn't know was upstairs burned to death.



Fred Wallis Titus, first class petty officer, Indianapolis, Ind.—When I was a policeman I drove up to a gas station. As I stepped inside the door, I saw a man take out a gun. He was about to hold up the attendant, but when he saw me he was so surprised he surrendered.



Clifford L. Chandler, railroad laborer, 3732 North Central Park avenue—We had one of those old-fashioned gas water heaters. The rest of the family had gone out and left it on high. I stopped in for something and found the thermometer at the danger mark. A few more minutes and it would have exploded.



Genevieve Smialek, student, 2536 Shakespeare avenue—It was unusual for me to go back into our sewing room at school after it was closed. It was lucky I did, for I found a red hot electric iron, still on and burning thru the ironing board. Soon the room would have been afire.

Florence Crisanto, student, 2841 South Union avenue — Before the baby went to sleep I lowered the side of the crib and had forgotten to raise it. When she awoke she started squirming. When I went in I found her on the edge and a second later she might have fallen out, head first.

2 SOON TO ENTER ARMY DIE IN STOLEN AUTO

Two young men who were to have been inducted soon by the army were found dead late yesterday in an automobile parked in a garage they had rented at the rear of 1650 South Christiana avenue. Police believed they were killed by carbon monoxide fumes after they fell asleep in the car.

The victims were Chester Paprocki, 20 years old, 2638 West 23d street, who was to have been inducted today, and William J. Schreiber, 21, of 1512 South Kenneth avenue, scheduled to enter the army March 25. The automobile in which Joseph Kaczmar, 18, of 1917 South St. Louis avenue, found their bodies, police said, had been reported stolen Feb. 27 by Harry E. Miller, 616 Cornelia avenue.

The police reported that Schreiber was released from the county jail last November after he served six months for theft of a ring. Kaczmar said he went to the garage to buy an automobile battery from the two.

2 BANDITS RAID BANK IN INDIANA; FLEE WITH $1,800

Brookston, Ind., March 15 [Special].—A hot chase was being conducted thru northwestern Indiana tonight for two bandits who held up the Farmers' State bank here this afternoon and fled with $1,800.

Carrying revolvers, the two unmasked men, about 35 years old, forced Cashier Miller Kent and Assistant Cashier Jessie Alkire, the only occupants of the bank at the time, to stay in a side room while they scooped up the money and ran to their car.

State police at nearby Lafayette were on the trail soon after the bandits fled north from here, and communities in that direction were warned to be on the lookout for them. But a short time later it was reported that their car had been abandoned at St. Pierre, about 40 miles north of here, and that two men believed to have been the bandits got on a bus going south. The search quickly doubled back in the opposite direction and the alarm spread southward.

EGGS STOLEN FROM TRUCK.

John H. Brown and Harold Deoore, who operate a trucking agency in Flora, Clay county, told police yesterday that some one stole 10 crates of eggs valued at $95 from their truck while they were asleep in the cab at 1500 South Sangamon street.

APPROVE BROOKS PLAN TO PROTECT NEGRO WORKERS

Unions Face Penalties for Racial Bans.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 15.—Sen. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] today won another round in his fight to eliminate racial discrimination in employment when the senate civil service committee approved an amendment to the government pay raise bill providing that benefits of the bill shall be denied any union guilty of racial discrimination.

The amendment had been sponsored by Brooks and Sen. William Langer [R., N. D.], for inclusion in the measure which provides a 21.6 per cent increase in the base pay for overtime work by government employés.

Flat Increases for Some.

Those employés not engaged in work lending itself to an overtime schedule would get a flat increase of $300 a year under the bill. This measure to replace temporary overtime pay legislation expiring April 30. The house passed the pay raise bill today by a vote of 383 to 4.

During senate committee hearings on the legislation, Edgar G. Brown, director of the National Negro council, charged that skilled trades unions of the American Federation of Labor have been discriminating against members of the Negro race.

Commended by Brown.

Adoption of the anti-discrimination amendment is "the greatest advance in the fight for the Negro's right to work and utilize the skills God gave him without discrimination by labor unions," Brown said after today's action.

"Senators Brooks and Langer championed the successful adoption of this vital legislation prohibiting discrimination against 15,000 vitally essential Negro navy yard and bureau of engraving civil service workers," he asserted. "The 13,000,000 Negro citizens of America and these workers are eternally indebted to the senate civil service committee and the senators who supported the amendment."

ARMY'S GLIDER PLANS CHANGED; DROP CONTRACTS

Sharp curtailment, if not abandonment, of the army's glider training program was indicated here yesterday with reports that contracts of all pre-glider and basic glider schools for pilot training have been canceled by the army.

John Wilson, former head of a glider school at Lockport, and more recently organizer in Texas of one of the six basic glider schools given government contracts, said he had received notice of cancelation of his contract as of Feb. 15 "for the good of the government service."

Wilson said it was his understanding that only two advanced glider schools are now training glider pilots. A surplus of students had at first been accumulated from the many preglider schools and later the six basic schools built up a surplus which the two advance schools have not as yet been able to train.

CHICAGO DRIVE FOR CRUISER LAGS $449,000 BEHIND

Yesterday's series E war bond sales for the Cruiser Chicago totaled $1,494,206, bringing the drive up to $26,550,995 on the 27th day of the 40 day drive to raise $40,000,000. The figures place Chicago $449,005 under the goal of $1,000,000 a day, Oscar G. Mayer, chairman of the cruiser committe, announced. He said, "We had hoped to have a substantial surplus on hand at this point, but worries of food rationing, income tax, and the like have taken up much of Chicago's thinking. . . . We are now in the last stretch with 13 days to go. In that time we have to close the gap of nearly one-half million dollars as well as keep the pace of a million a day."

Friend of the Yanks' Kin

By Sally Jay Brown.

[This department will answer questions covering problems related to the social welfare of relatives of service men, both in the column and by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent with inquiries.]

M. S. asks: "Is it true that packages still may be sent to sailors and marines overseas but not to army men?"

ANSWER: In general, yes. However, a late bulletin from the postoffice announces that packages of not more than eight ounces, if they are sealed and sent as first class mail, may be sent to soldiers overseas. They may not, as a rule, be insured or registered, and no package exceeding that weight will be accepted without a written request from the service man, plus the written approval of his commanding officer.

G. G. Writes: "It has been my understanding that for parents or class "B" dependents to be eligible for family allowances, they must provide documentary proof that the service man has contributed to their support before entering the service. Many boys are now joining up immediately after graduating from high school. Obviously a boy of that age has never helped to support any one, even tho his parents might be in dire need. Just how can dependency be shown in such a case?"

ANSWER: According to the office of dependency benefits, the law provides that any class B dependent of a soldier in one of the last four pay grades who is now dependent upon the soldier for a substantial portion of his support is eligible for a family allowance, regardless of whether he has previously been dependent upon the soldier. The affidavits necessary for the class B dependents of army men cover the income of the dependent from all sources, as well as the former contributions by the service men in some cases. The form which this department has for distribution supplies all the necessary information.

Mrs. C. S. writes: "I have a son in the army and another in the navy. Both boys plan to file for assistance for me, because I am a widow and unable to work. Can you tell me what papers I will have to file in order to receive a family allowance?"

ANSWER: Requirements concerning the administration of the family allowance differ in the various branches of service. Class B dependents of army men must provide affidavits of dependency, those of navy men need not do so, unless the navy department specifically requests them. We are sending you a bulletin which covers the rulings of all branches of the service in regard to family allowances. Any reader may have that information by sending in a stamped addressed envelope.

ALLMAN SHIFTS 2 LIEUTENANTS AND 22 OTHERS

Police Commissioner Allman announced the transfer of two lieutenants, six sergeants, 15 patrolmen, and one policewomen yesterday in what he said was a move to distribute the pay roll more equitably.

The lieutenants were Joseph Fallon, from district 28 to 25, and Leroy F. Steffen, from district 24 to 28.

The sergeants were Ignatius J. Sheehan, from 16 to 10; Salvatore F. Corsi, from 39 to 22; Joseph F. Kakacek, from 22 to 34; Francis J. Donahue, from headquarters to district 30; John W. Mulherin, from headquarters to 16, and Michael J. Healy, from 24 to 26.

The policewoman was Mary McKeon, transferred from district 1 to 29.

Lt. Finney III. and Louisiana Girl Are Wed

BY JUDITH CASS.

SURPRISING news concerns the marriage of Dr. and Mrs. William P. Finney Jr.'s elder son, Lt. Finney III., who claimed Miss Grace Truman Hurt of Shreveport, La., as his bride last March 2. The ceremony took place in the post chapel at Hendricks field, Florida, where Lt. Finney is awaiting further orders.

No announcement had been made of their engagement and the Finneys did not know of their son's plans until he arrived here on a brief leave several days before the wedding. The former Miss Hurt is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Hurt of Shreveport, formerly of Texas.

Lt. Finney, who served with the royal Canadian air force before transferring to the United States army air forces, formerly was an instructor at Blytheville, Ark. His oldest sister, Mrs. William H. Lippitt, and her husband are attending medical school at Johns Hopkins. The second daughter of the family, Miss Pamela Finney, also is in the east taking her preliminary nurse's training in Connecticut. The Finney home is in Winnetka.

Dale Bogert Is Engaged to Army Air Lieutenant.

Also of romantic interest is the announcement Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert P. Bogert are making of the engagement of their daughter, Dale, to Lt. Grover C. Baldwin Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin of Paris, Ky. Lt. Baldwin of the army air forces is a bombardier instructor at Deming, N. M. Mrs. Bogert and her daughter have just returned from a trip there.

No date has been set for the wedding, but after it takes place the north shore will be losing one of its prettiest and most attractive young women. Miss Bogert, a favorite amateur fashion show mannequin, attended Sweetbriar college and now is taking a course at the School of Domestic Arts and Science. Lt. Baldwin was graduated from Washington and Lee in 1939 and was a senior in its law school when he entered the army.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus F. Kauffman of Washington, D. C., formerly of Winnetka, announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Nancy, to Lt. William Robert Blaikie of the marine air force, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Blaikie of Chicago. The wedding will take place on Saturday in the John Timothy Stone chapel of the Fourth Presbyterian church.

Badminton Tournament to Be Held in Glencoe.

Action in the sixth annual midwest badminton tournament to be held at the Central school in Glencoe next Saturday and Sunday is being telescoped into two days instead of the usual three of pre-war years. Miss Pearl Peterson of Detroit is coming to defend her title as women's singles champion and Jack Riday and Dean Foote of West Allis, Wis., will be here to defend themselves as doubles champions.

Many other familiar faces will be missing, however, as some of the best known players are serving in the army and navy. Among the 150 contestants will be some from St. Louis, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Indianapolis, and South Bend. Roger Baird is in charge of billeting the out of town players. Honorary chairman of the tournament is R. Ward Starrett. Twenty-five men from Great Lakes and an equal number from Fort Sheridan will be guests of the Badminton association each day.

Cercle Francais Planning Benefit Musical and Tea.

Members of the Cercle Français are looking forward to a benefit musical and tea for which Mrs. Louis Mann is opening her home in Sheridan road on March 30. The cercle usually has a large benefit each spring, but it was not held last year as the organization simply made a donation to the Red Cross out of its treasury. Younger members of the cercle will help with the party on the 30th. Today members will hear Phyllis Haserin in a group of piano selections and a French reading by Mrs. Milo Lewis at its regular Tuesday tea.

Romia Bull, who is celebrating her eighth birthday today, always has an interesting birthday party. It won't be given until next Saturday afternoon, however, and what the entertainment is to be is being kept a secret. Romia's grandmother, with whom she and her brother, Bartle Bull Jr., are spending the winter, is in Florida and may not be back in time for the celebration.

The North Shore circle of the Chicago Wellesley club will meet this afternoon in the Evanston home of Mrs. E. R. MacLaren to hear Mrs. Ira Nelson Morris' talk, "Memoirs of a Diplomat's Wife." Mrs. Morris' late husband at one time was United States minister to Sweden. Mrs. Lambert Davis and Mrs. Walter M. Sackett will be assistant hostesses.

WOWs' 10th Post Organized in City with 30 Members

Chicago's 10th post of the WOWs, Women Ordnance Workers, Inc., was organized last night when a committee of employés of John E. Fast & Co., 3123 North Crawford avenue, received their charter and constitution at the national WOW office, 31 North State street. Thirty women are charter members of the new unit which has elected Mrs. Grace Kuhn, 4344 North Newcastle avenue, president.

The vice president is Mrs. Sadie Smyth, 7254 Eberhart avenue, and Miss Helen Grzelak, 2441 Cortez street, is secretary. The Fast plant has 400 women war workers.

The second night of the "Ice-Capades," taken over by the men's and women's boards of the Northwestern University settlement as the first benefit in three years on which all of the boards have co-operated, drew more than 4,000 spectators to the Chicago Arena last night. In the picture at the left, Miss Peggy Hill (left) and Miss Jane McKenna register unqualified enjoyment over one of the novel skating acts. At the right are Miss Jeanne Stenson (left) and Miss Muriel MacChesney, also among spectators.

Teapot Fantasia.

Would you like a cup of tea from my new-fangled teapot?
It hasn't any handle and it hasn't any spout,
It stands by itself on a corner of the mantelpiece
And when you try to lift it, the bottom falls out.

It makes quite a spot on the corner of the mantelpiece,
Its decorated dome is as cute as it can be,
The neighbors all adore it, and I wish that I could pour it,
But when you come to think of it,
there isn't any tea!

Jap Propriety.

Japanese propriety has not been in high favor in this country since the impeccable diplomacy of Mr. Kurusu some 16 months ago, but an example of its incongruity comes in a letter from Lt. [j. g.] Ralph W. E. Reid, formerly a staff member of Northwestern university, who now is with the navy in the southwest Pacific. Reid told of an air force officer in his unit who, living in Japan shortly before the outbreak of war, hired a Jap to teach him the Japanese language. The Jap came daily, and was impressed with his position in instructing such a dignitary. Consequently, he appeared each morning resplendent in cutaway, striped pants, spats, gloves, and top hat. He came by bicycle, and, to keep his pants immaculate for his personal appearance, carried them in a basket on the handle bars. Arriving in front of the officer's home, he would don his pants and enter. Leaving, he would bow his way out, remove his pants, put them in the basket, and pedal away, confident that he had met the situation with propriety and dignity.

Jeanne Madden in Recital; Piano Symphony Plays

Jeanne Madden, protége of Queena Mario of Hansel and Gretel fame, appeared in Kimball hall last evening under the auspices of Omicron Gamma chapter of Sigma Iota Epsilon. Her program was carefully chosen to exploit the particular kind of music for which her voice was suited and included 18th century arias by Monsigny and Handel, a relatively modern aria by Granados, and the usual French and American groups.

Miss Madden has a natural flexibility which makes coloratura and lyric passages relatively easy for her. However, there is a great deal that she needs to learn from the purely musical point of view if she expects to be convincing. Much of the ineffective interpretation that I heard was due largely to a lack of directive word accent. Many singers, and Miss Madden is one of them, fall into a trap; they do not allow a phrase to mold itself by the natural accentuation of the text and melodic line. The result is unclear phrasing and the failure of dynamic impact at the proper moment; often the entire balance of a short song is impaired.

In Miss Madden's case, this dynamic failure was especially noticeable in her Handel aria ["O had I Jubal's Lyre"] and in her French group. It struck me that her voice had certain color qualities that should have lent themselves well to French songs but there was always the matter of French phrase coloration that got in her way and partly spoiled the natural cadences of the text.

There are some good points too. She has impeccable pitch and a voice which is pleasant in color. There is a slight break in it toward the top but nothing that could not be overcome.

Miss Antoinette Rich and her 19 girl piano encemble were back again at Orchestra hall last evening, this time augmented by a junior group which likewise added up to the magical 19. By this time, one would hardly be surprised to find 19 pianists forming groups all over Chicago and the middle west.

Miss Rich again chose a program which fitted every need; it ranged from Mozart's D minor piano concerto to Grofe's "Grand Canyon Suite." I did not hear the latter, but I am sure that it could not have surpassed Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" with its soft blue light which permeated the scene at precisely the proper moment at the beginning of the final peroration. This was a sight that would have warmed the heart of the famous Patrick Gilmour and his orchestras of 1,000 to 5,000 players.

One real spot of pleasure was added by the playing of 15 year old Irene Eckert. This youngster has a good talent which would have showed to better advantage had she not been buried under a barrage of converted orchestral accompaniment that would have sunk a better man than Horowitz. At any rate I would like to hear her under more auspicious circumstances. Her fluency is excellent and her tone, altho small, is well balanced.

In a way, I was disappointed that the entire cast could not perform en masse so that relative sonority might have been studied at first hand.

Women in War Work

—By Kate Massee—

When officials of the Dearborn and Lake garage decided to hire women, they advertised. They said something to the effect that they wanted women to drive the cars up the garage's ramp and park them. They mentioned that the women would wear overalls. They got two responses.

So Clifton H. Stowers, president, and Ray W. Farris, manager, sat down and revised the advertisment. They captioned it, in big letters, "Hikerettes," and they changed the overalls to uniforms. This bit of psychology brought in 20 applicants, seven of whom are now working steadily. Mr. Farris said that his greatest trouble is getting them to go home when they should. "They just don't want to stop working," he said.

They went over big with the men customers, who have been loud in praising their efficiency and courtesy. The management wasn't so sure how the women would take it. "They took it just fine, tho," Mr. Farris said. "They seem to feel that it establishes, once and for all, that women are as good drivers as men."

Before they were hired, the hikerettes took tests to determine whether they were good drivers. Mr. Farris tested them with his own automobile and created complex situations just to see whether they could get out of them. Those who could were hired and taught how and where to park the cars. Mr. Stowers said they have proved more careful than the men hikers, and seem to take more of an interest in their work.

After a training period of a week or less they start to work. They receive $24 a week in salary, and when they do get tips they've found that they are better than the men's. Mr. Stowers said they're going to be needing more women drivers as time goes by. He expects to lose to the army what remains of his male hiking personnel within the next 60 days.

Five of the girls are working the day shift and two are on nights. Those at night are attending school during the day time. Among the hikerettes are Marion Roof, 3311 North Hoyne avenue, a former west coast defense worker, who later was employed in a filling station, and Miss Vera Riedl, 2819 North Halsted street, formerly employed in a bakery shop. Miss Riedl won some fancy praise—and a quarter tip—from a truck driver who asked her to bring down his truck. She did, carefully and skillfully. "That's swell," he said, "it hasn't any brakes."

Hikerette Evelyn Von Rath, 27 East Harrison street, is a former model. She likes her present job better because it's more exciting. She also used to drive automobiles cross country for a transport company. Mrs. Helen Lambein of New York is another of the hikerettes. She used to be a long distance telephone operator in New York and came to Chicago to be near her husband, who is studying to be an aviation machinist's mate at Navy pier. She had a great deal of driving experience, too, on her father's farm. Mrs. Frances Carpenter, 2015 West Washburne street, is a former punch press operator. "Car hiking is more exciting, tho," she said.

All the excitement comes, the girls agreed, in driving up and down the ramps. They like it, too, because they have an opportunity to meet so many different types of people.

N.U. Settlement Benefit Draws Sold-Out House

BY HARRIETT PRIBBLE.

The home front received a firm and resolute bolstering last night from the men's and women's boards of the Northwestern university settlement, which filled the Chicago Arena for the settlement's 1943 benefit—the second night performance of the "Ice-Capades."

To be sure there were a few barren spots of empty seats whose purchasers no doubt were frightened away by the pelting rains which preluded the evening. But at least those seats were sold, enabling the committee to pat itself on the back for a sold-out house and a turn-out of more than 4,000 spectators.

For Mrs. Roger Faherty, chairman of the ticket committee, the duties which her post involved didn't end with the opening bars of the red and white military pony chorus. Long after most of the spectators had found their places she was back at the ticket office arranging to have some of the board's soldier and sailor guests moved to seats of better vantage.

Mrs. Faherty, whose black wool and Persian lamb ensemble was spiced by a red feather toque veiled in black, saw the show with her husband and the Henry T. Robertses, who took their guests on to supper later. Some of the others in the same party were Gen. Roy D. Keehn, Mario Lasso of the Mexican consular staff, and Rear Adm. Alex M. Charlton, newly assigned inspector of naval material in the Chicago district, and Mrs. Charlton.

Mrs. John Quincy Adams' pert costume was typical of the casual sports costumes thruout the audience. Over a trim gray suit and white blouse she wore a street length cape squared off in dubonnet, gray and white plaid. The dubonnet shade exactly matched her little hat, a swirl of shiny dubonnet straw pierced by a white feather.

Mrs. Herbert Butz, arriving with her husband, pinned a corsage of gardenias to her dark coat just before they climbed to their seats. The junior James S. Penningtons arrived with Mr. and Mrs. D. Wendell Fentress, and the Frank A. Millers were with the junior Eugene F. McDonalds.

Among the others seated around the gleaming ice parquet with its design of red stripes and blue stars were Mrs. Ernst von Ammon, Capt. Benyaurd B. Wygant, the Charles Wrigleys, the Walter V. Smiths, Mrs. Robert Cavenaugh, Miss Barbara McNulty, Mrs. Tyson Betty, Miss Muriel MacChesney, Miss Jeanne Stenson, Mrs. Mark A. Brown, Mrs. James G. Shakman, Mrs. Russell D. Hobbs, and Miss Jane McKenna, who arrived in a party of five young girls in dark dresses and fur jackets.

White Pigskin Gloves Create Fashion Effect

BY REA SEEGER.

Those fabulously beautiful and dramatic long white pigskin gloves are here! Much has been said about the stunning contrast of these gloves, but you really have to see them to appreciate their limitless possibilities. And while they're anything but modest in price, especially those slipons that will reach the elbow over any sleeve of suit, dress or coat, they are the best buy of the times.

Spanking white pigskin gloves such as these contrast most effectively with everything in a wardrobe . . . dresses of stark simplicity, simply cut and fitted suits, and the coats and coat dresses offered for first spring high fashion parade. The leather is amazingly soft and supple; the color the whitest white seen since the advent of sharkskin material. Because of the smooth texture, these do not soil as quickly as the softer doeskins, and the long wearing performance of pigskin has never been equaled, no matter what the color.

Because these gloves are expensive, they naturally should be pampered and coddled. Expert dry cleaning methods are the only solution. But they do emerge from wash water with their pristine white shade and their original lustre if you are an expert at the trick. It's much safer and far more satisfactory however, to send these long, luxurious pigskins to an experienced glove cleaner.

There are short street gloves of white pigskin to wear with suits and clothes. Some have contrasting stitching, some are brief slipons, and others have a smart single white button. But brand new arrivals that crush smartly and effectively around the wrists and well up on the arms are the last word in costume dramatics with black, navy, oxford gray or bronze green and dark tones of brown.

Fashion Group Show Theme to Be 'Let's Talk About Clothes'

"Let's Talk About Clothes" is the subject chosen by the Fashion Group of Chicago for its sixth annual—and second war time—fashion show and luncheon to be held on April 13 at 12:30 o'clock in the grand ballroom at the Drake hotel. Instead of the usual parade of some 60 mannequins, there will be a fashion forum, to be conducted by the fashion editors of Vogue, Harper's Bazaar, Mademoiselle, and Women's Wear Daily. Pointing up the informal discussion will be the appearance of models, wearing the type of clothes which those in the know have decreed are the best taste and the best values in war time.

Mrs. Lois E. Barnes is regional director of the Fashion Group, which is composed of around 100 topflight experts in fashion and coördinated fields. Tickets for the show, priced at $2.50 each, may be purchased by calling the Fashion Group headquarters, Central 1257. Reservations will be made in the order received and checks must accompany requests.

MISS JUNE ADELE RAMSER.

Miss June Adele Ramser's engagement to Corp. Robert Van Cave is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Ramser of River Forest. Miss Ramser, a graduate of Mount Vernon seminary, is attending Northwestern university. Her fiancé, son of Mrs. Irene V. Cave of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., attended Northwestern before entering the army last fall. He is stationed in Texas.

Thru the Looking Glass

Caught in a cold climate recently with not so much as an ounce of soothing skin lotion in our luggage, we renewed acquaintance with an old time preparation and found it such a comfort and so efficient we can't resist mentioning its virtues again.

One of these virtues, and a good one in these times, is its inexpensiveness. It's cheap enough to use generously without any nagging thought that you are being an extravagant hot house plant. You can use it as a hand, face, and body lotion, and if your experience with it duplicates ours, you'll find that it's wonderfully effective as all three.

It's transparent and thin, with little scent, and what there is faintly suggestive of orange blossom. It's not creamy, nor is it oily; it pours out of the bottle like water and works into the skin in double quick time, leaving not the slightest film or feeling of stickiness. But it does the work of oiling and softening just the same; so efficiently that it can do an overnight repair job on rough elbows or knees or skin that is badly chapped.

This can be used after the daily bath or a couple of times a day. Because it doesn't stain or ooze back you can rub it into the parched, itching skin and forget about it. The red, taut skin surface will be relieved almost immediately. We have also found it wonderfully effective in soothing that peculiar skin roughness that so many dry skinned people suffer from contact with linens subjected to harsh bleaches. Travelers who find some hotel linens particularly irritating should stow this in their bags.

"Man Snatcher"

By Nina Wilcox Putnam

Copyright: 1943: By Ines Eliot

SYNOPSIS: Mary Jo Laurence has been happy with her husband, Tony, during their 18 years of marriage, in spite of Tony's deformed foot and his many failures in his work as a builder. A false boom brought them to Key West two years ago and caused them to buy a tract of land they have been unable to sell. Now they have a prospective client, Col. Bassett, a retired army officer. He and his wife are coming to dinner at the Laurences' tonight. While Mary Jo is housecleaning, she hears a shot. From her window she sees a man lying back of Cinqua's tavern and sees another man crouching in the bushes nearby. When she goes out to shop she passes the tavern and Sibyl Cartwright, an old actress, comes out and tells her that Ed Tutwiller, brother of Pop Tutwiller, fisherman and friend of the Laurences, has just committed suicide back of Cinqua's. He had got into some money trouble. Mary Jo decides not to mention the man she saw in the bushes, as she fears any publicity of her testimony might hurt Tony in his business. At Chan's, her Chinese grocer, she sees a luscious, worthless looking woman selling stolen milk bottles to buy gin. En route home Mary Jo picks up a letter from her brother, Pete, saying he is coming to Key West to hunt a job. But the dinner for the Bassetts is such a success that everything seems bright again. Col. Bassett wants to buy some of their land and have Tony build him a house. He is to give Tony a check the next day. But shortly after the Bassetts leave, Col. Bassett returns and says he has been called back into service and cannot go thru with their deal. When the Laurences return from Ed's funeral the next day, Mary Jo suggests that Tony try to work with Don Waterman, a none too scrupulous rival, who needs land to build cheap houses. Tony decides to talk to Waterman that very nigh altho it means he must make a round of saloons. Tony returns late with Waterman and his girl friend, Mrs. Maisie Bergen. All three are tipsy. Mary Jo recognizes Maisie to be the woman she saw at Chan's and notices that Tony is smitten with her. Waterman agrees to a partnership with Tony and Tony drives him and Maisie to a roadhouse. Returning, he finds Button, Maisie's 6 year old son, outside of a saloon. He brings the child home with him. The next day Maisie comes by and asks Mary Jo to keep Button for awhile, as she and her husband, Culver Bergen, have no money to feed the child. Mary Jo agrees on condition that Bergen give his consent. In the meantime, Mary Jo has decided to help out the family expenses by making pies. She hopes to get Chan and Pop Tutwiller to go into partnership with her, Pop to furnish the pineapples, Chan to furnish other ingredients as well as the outlet.

INSTALMENT XIV.

IDEA SOLD.

As the car turned the corner, carrying Tony and Maisie out of sight, Mary Jo went back into the house. She had to find a repair job she could handle. The obvious one lay on the kitchen table where the fresh baked pies were cooling.

She knew pies. She would put everything else out of her mind and concentrate on selling pies to Chan. She found a flat basket and laid the pies in it, a strong and shining seagrape leaf under each. As she finished doing this, Button rushed in and grabbed her skirt.

"Jose an' Bill are here!" he shouted breathlessly. "We're goin' swimmin'. Mums said I could. She said I needn't go to school today."

Mary Jo glanced out into the yard where two barefoot boys, a bronze Cuban kid and a redheaded young Conch, were tussling to the endangerment of her gardenia bushes.

"How did they find out?"

"Mum passed 'em in the car. She told 'em."

"Well, then I suppose it's all right." Mary Jo went to the door and the boys stopped their scuffle and stared at her.

"You boys see that Button gets back in time for dinner," she said, "12 o'clock. Hear me?"

"Yes, Señora!" said the Cuban boy. Button joined them with a whoop, and they ran off. None of them had bathing suits or towels. They'd simply swim in their pants and let the sun dry them out, but it never seemed to do them any harm.

Mary Jo fetched her basket and set off down the street. The mere fact of doing something practical had given her confidence and she could tell herself, with more conviction now, that she must not allow herself to go imagining things about her husband. They had such an ancient bond of well-weathered experience between them that she was a fool to be afraid. As she walked, she sang under her breath, and the song promised triumph over difficulties:

"What foe fear I who have the Lord
To be my banner and my sword?"

At Chan's, Sibyl Cartwright in immaculate baby-blue was selecting oranges with her white-gloved hands and eying two very young sailors speculatively. When Mary Jo caught her at it she edged over.

"Look lonely, don't they?" she half whispered. "I always feel so sorry for the new ones. I wonder if I ought to buy them a drink?"

"Ever think of buying a lonesome stranger anything else?" asked Mary Jo.

"What else is there to buy them down here?"

"I'll bet they'd rather have homemade pie!"

"There isn't such a thing in town!" Sibyl shrieked derisively. "Besides, they'd rather get pie-eyed!"

"You wait and see! There isn't a boy in the world who doesn't go for pie!"

Chan, majestic behind his counter, was unreceptive about her idea, altho polite enough. He sniffed at the savory morsel Mary Jo offered him, and tasted it skeptically.

"Very nice," he said, "but I prefer steamed buns."

Mary Jo explained that she'd like to use his store as an outlet for her product, but Chan shook his head.

"I already have a contract with a bakery. I cannot honorably break it. Besides, how do I know these pies with the little faces would sell?"

Mary Jo glanced toward the very young sailors. They were looking over the commercial cakes and cookies. She took courage and raised her voice.

"Hey, fellers! Amble over here a second, will you?"

They came sheepishly, and Mary Jo recklessly cut one of her pies in half.

"Just to oblige me," she said. "Try this, will you?"

"Thanks," said the first sailor with a distinctly Brooklyn accent. "I take anythin' free!" He put the entire slice into his mouth. The second boy had removed his cap and nibbled hesitantly.

"Great day in the mawning! Man, but that's good!" he told her. The boy from Brooklyn grinned from ear to ear, pointing to his mouth which was too full to permit speech, and rubbed his stomach expressively. Chan leaned bulkily on the counter, watching the experiment with impassive oriental eyes, while from the sidelines Sibyl Cartwright teetered on her white kid heels and peered at the scene like a curious bird.

"Well?" said Mary Jo turning to Chan triumphantly.

"Boys like," he announced succinctly. "We talk."

In his office where teakwood chests elbowed American business furniture Chan renewed his reluctance as soon as he found out that Mary Jo wanted him to supply everything but the fruits, and to make some arrangement for an extended credit on which he could feed her family.

"Sugar, shortening, spices perhaps," he said, "but no pans, no money! You know what I think most important for spare money. China relief."

Mary Jo clung doggedly to her determination to put this thing over. China relief was all very well but, what with Pete coming down and now a child in the house, she needed some American relief and needed it immediately.

"I want to call them China pies," she said. "That's why I put on the faces. You make a big display of them and let people know your part of the profit will go to China relief. Then you put an ad in the paper about them."

"No advertisments. Advertisments are an unworthy way to attract trade. Merit is sufficient."

"Nonsense! The only concern which can make money without advertising is the U. S. Mint. But I figger these pies will be their own ad anyways!"

He didn't say anything for a few minutes but she could see that she had sold him the idea.

"What about pineapples?" he finally asked. She explained that she thought she could get those without putting out any immediate money. It would be a three way deal—so much to Pop, so much to Chan and the remainder to herself for her work.

"You get pineapples put along roadside," said Chan. "My truck has to pass there anyway. It will be very salubrious thing for my driver to stop. He is a reckless man and drives devilishly, as tho on the Burma Road. Yes, an extra stop will be good for his soul—perhaps help to keep it in his body."

And so it was finally settled. Mary Jo walked out of the store with a new feeling of enthusiasm. She had roped and tied Chan and now all she had to do was corral some pie plates and a few extra kitchen utensils. Just outside Sibyl was waiting for her. The old actress grabbed Mary Jo by the sleeve.

"I saw that!" she thrilled. "I saw those boys eat them. The pies, I mean. What are you going to do—sell them?"

"If I can find money to get plates to bake them in, I sure aim to do just that!"

"I—I'd like to help!" said Sibyl. "Would you let me lend you the money?" Mary Jo stared at her in amazement. The old woman's face was eager.

"You said something the other day about responsibility," Sibyl persisted. "I've been thinking that over because I don't get to talk to many women. And I don't think you quite understand about me, Mary Jo, and the kind of responsibility I take on."

"Go on, sister!" said Mary Jo gently.

"When I said I had appointed myself hostess to Key West all these years, I meant it," the old lady continued. "Nobody really knows that but you because I'd never mentioned it out loud before. But when I was young we used to entertain a great deal, my husband and I. And Henry always said the only way to entertain was with liquor. Well he's dead now, and I haven't any home—just a hotel room. But by living that way I can still afford to entertain. In the cheaper bars, of course. That's why I buy those drinks for strangers—they usually don't mind accepting from me."

"Gosh all hemlock!" said Mary Jo. "So that's it!" The older woman nodded vigorously and smiled.

"Yes, that's it!" she said. "But lately, with all these young men—just babies some of them seem to be—pouring into town since the selective service started, I've been wondering if I was doing just the right thing. Maybe they'd rather have pies. If you bake them, I'll soon find out. Lots better for them, of course. How much money do you need?" Mary Jo looked at her admiringly.

"Sister, you've got something!" she said. "I didn't aim to protect the boys far from home when I started this pie-notion, but it might be that you've hit on a good work to do. I need ten dollars and if you've got it, I'll borrow it from you."

"Bless you, Mary Jo! You make me feel quite important!"

With Sibyl's ten dollars in her pocket, Mary Jo's excitement increased. She had temporarily forgotten everything but her new project when she swung into the little bystreet ending abruptly at the water's edge, where Pop lived in a small house buried in flaming hibiscus bushes.

Theater Guild Tries Out Its Musical Show

BY CECIL SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 15.—The Theater guild is in the midst of the riskiest and most gruelling undertaking known to show business—the production of a musical comedy. Only once before, with the original staging of George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess," has the guild entered the domain of lavish and costly musicals; and the record of "Porgy and Bess" was one of fairly consistent weekly losses both in New York and on the road, not because it was a failure but because it cost so much to keep the production going every week.

Now that almost a decade has passed in which to forget the travail and disappointments of that first "Porgy and Bess," the guild has embarked on a new undertaking which in some ways parallels the old one. The new show is called "Away We Go," which tells nothing about it until you learn that it is a musical comedy version of "Green Grow the Lilacs," the enchanting Oklahoma folk play by Lynn Riggs, in which Franchot Tone and June Walker played under guild auspices in 1931. Richard Rodgers has written the new musical score—without the collaboration of Lorenz Hart in the lyrics this time. Oscar Hammerstein II., author of book and lyrics for "Show Boat" and many another operetta success, has performed the same chore for "Away We Go." Agnes De Mille makes her bow as a Broadway choreographer, and Rouben Mamoulian has been retrieved from the movies to be stage director, a task he had also performed for the guild's version of "Porgy and Bess."

Last week-end, "Away We Go"—which probably will soon have its name changed to "Oklahoma"—embarked upon its tryout performances in the relative privacy of New Haven, Conn. A stern code of professional ethics prohibits me from reviewing a performance which will be immensely revised during three pre-Broadway weeks in Boston; but I can be permitted to say that "Away We Go" will not be an unqualified success unless a great deal of revision does take place, despite its attractive decors and hummable score. Its style and tone are not secure. Particularly in the first act it lurches from the folk play mood into heavy melodrama, then successively into typical musical comedy format, and finally into a long dream ballet, a la "Lady in the Dark." Miss De Mille's choreography makes use of many steps and designs already familiar to ballet audiences in "Rodeo," without as yet achieving an equal solidity of structure.

Alfred Drake, last seen in Chicago in "One for the Money," has the one time Franchot Tone part, and he handles it with suave naturalness and good vocalism. Other principals include Joan Roberts, Celeste Holm, Lee Dixon, and Betty Garde, and the principal dancers are Mark Platt [known as Marc Platoff in his Ballet Russe days] and Katherine Sergava, formerly of Ballet theater.

A couple of news items are worth passing on. Al Rosen has finally gotten his "Harem Scarem" into rehearsal, and it will open in Chicago April 26 at the Harris. "Let's Face It," the Cole Porter musical, will not tour this spring. When Danny Kaye left, to be replace by José Ferrer, he took away two of the best songs in the show, which were written by his wife, Sylvia Fine, and were his personal property. Mr. Kaye is said to have a "Gentlemen's Agreement" with Horace Schmidlapp, one of the members of the producing firm, to return from Hollywood for a road tour next year.

Stage Notes

John Wildberg, producer of "Cry Havoc," the war play about volunteer nurses at Bataan, took a look at last week's receipts at the Studebaker box office, discovered them to be $1,400 more than the previous week's intake, and forthwith extended the engagement one extra week, or thru Saturday evening, March 27. After that the play will continue its tour of Theater Guild subscription cities, and may wind up with a return engagement in New York. Mr. Wildberg apparently wants to challenge comparison with "Proof Thru the Night," another production of the same play, which was a New York failure earlier in the season.

Another theatrical engagement extended yesterday was that of "Ice-Capades of 1943," at the Chicago Arena. Originally booked thru next Sunday, the ice show will add some new skating stars and continue for at least another week. Tickets for the extra performances go on sale tomorrow at the Arena and the Hub.

Welfare Group to Meet.

Members of the Winnetka junior board of the Infant Welfare society will meet at 10:30 o'clock today at the home of Mrs. William Mabie, 1192 Chatfield road, Winnetka.

[ADVERTISMENT]

Clean, sanitary toilets put an end to this worry

There must never be any doubt about sanitary toilets. But nobody likes to scrub the bowls! It's not necessary. Sani-Flush cleans without scrubbing. Each application cleans away many recurring toilet germs and a cause of toilet odors. Do it at least twice a week.

Don't confuse Sani-Flush with ordinary cleansers. It works chemically. Cleans the hidden trap. Sani-Flush is absolutely safe in septic tanks* and toilet connections when used according to directions on can. Sold everywhere. Two handy sizes.

*FREE—For Septic Tank Owners—Eminent scientific authorities have proved how easy and safe Sani-Flush is for toilet sanitation with septic tanks. Write for their interesting report. It is free. Address: The Hygienic Products Company, Dept. 51, Canton, Ohio.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., March 15.—George Raft, who's reading three movie scripts at once, says if they don't suit him he'll return to New York and go regularly on the Reader's Digest show, which would leave Betty Grable dancing with tears in her eyes with Sailor Bob Stack. . . . I asked Bob Benchley why he was doing a yarn on Queen Anne. He replied, "Because she had the shortest reign. That's as long as any queen can hold my interest." . . . Clark Gable looking superb at Dave Chasen's. I got a hug and kiss. . . . Mooey Gaynor, a Baltimore debbie, taking all of Al Vanderbilt's time left over from the navy. . . . Morton Downey got the biggest hand from ex-sister-in-law Connie Bennett during rehearsals for "Stage Door Canteen." I'm told the real stars of the "Stage Door Canteen" picture are Helen Hayes and Yehudi Menuhin. He stops the show.

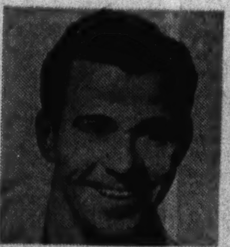
New Reason.

June Havoc blames the Legion of Decency for canceling her air show. She complains they're striking at her sister, Gypsy Rose Lee, thru her. Come, now, June, let's be fair! . . . Joan Crawford, who's gotten reams of publicity on how much she's helping the AWVS nursery school, had better pitch in and work instead of talking about it. It develops she's been there only twice, for publicity purposes, and the girls who are doing all the work are becoming overtired of her boasting. . . . Oscar Levant, who wrote "A Smattering of Ignorance," is better known for his ad lib than his courtesy, so came out second best to Regine Kurlander, who dropped in for an interview. He refused to talk at all. After which she remarked, "I had no idea you were like this, Mr. Levant. You were so modest in your choice of a book title."

Two Goodies.

Metro's just bought the novel "Memo to a Firing Squad," by Capt. Frederick Hazlitt Brennan. It will have an all star cast. And for Alexander Korda they've closed the deal for "Romance of Henry Menafee," by Paul Gallico. The yarn is woven about a circus. It will be made in England, and undoubtedly they'll use their British players who are under contract to them, such as Vivien Leigh, Robert Donat, and many others. . . . Dolores Costello, who got her first break at Warner's, is being welcomed back there. She plays Maj. Davidson's wife in "This Is the Army." . . . Tom Evans, Madge's brother, who did such fine photographs of Carole Lombard and Merle Oberon, died suddenly at the base hospital in Washington, D. C.

Got Ideas.



Dennis Day.

Now that Don Loper's working at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer on the "Ziegfeld Follies," he wishes the studio would let him do Johnny Green's "American Symphony" with our symphony orchestra, José Iturbi, Tommy Dorsey and his band, and weave it into a picture and ballet. As Don tells about it, it sounds fascinatingly new and different. . . . Bonita Granville, Tim Holt, and Mrs. Holt are mighty red faced about that careless remark Bonita made about her going to marry him. Their divorce action hasn't started yet. . . . Don't know why somebody doesn't begin a buildup for Dennis Day in Harold Lloyd type comedies. He's a natural.

Dressed Like Stars.

Paulette Goddard, Jinx Falkenburg, and Brenda Joyce sure dressed like stars. Can't say the same for Lucille Ball, Marguerite Chapman, and Esther Williams. Bob Hope in rare form. Now I know what keeps him well—golf. He's as relaxed as a bucketful of ashes. So is Guy Kibbe, who wore a reversible cap. Inside was red, and when he made a bad shot he wore that side out for courage! Said in Canada he had only girl caddies. When Paulette and I heard he paid them $5 to go around with him, we were furious—we'd have caddied for him! . . . Didn't see Mickey Rooney or Don Ameche. Eddie Bracken was so modest the crowd didn't know he was a picture star. . . . Bob Hope cracked at me, "Your lungs are going to get such an overdose of oxygen you'll have to have a day in bed." He didn't know that two days a week Sir Charles Mendl and I go for six mile hikes.

Another Celebration.

At Romanoff's for the Charlie Morrison party, Doris Stein and Lela Rogers wore the same hat. 'Twas so pretty neither minded. Jules Stein got those stitches on his forehead going to his M. D. for a checkup. Automobile accident happened two blocks from doctor's office! . . . And speaking of auto accidents, could that big buildup Herman Mankiewicz is getting in another paper be because he wrote "Citizen Kane"? Mrs. Ira Gershwin's injury is very slight indeed . . . Charles Laughton is so sorry he ever told folks he had housemaid's knee. What his friends call it bears not the slightest resemblance to what the doctor calls it.

History Professor to Talk at Caxton Club Luncheon

The Caxton club will hear the story of "Soldiers of the Old Frontiers" from Dr. Louis Pelzer, professor of history at the University of Iowa, at a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock Saturday in the Mid-Day club. An authority on the dragoon campaigns of the United States army on the great plains frontier, Dr. Pelzer is the author of "Marches of the Dragoons in the Mississippi Valley" and is editor of the Mississippi Valley Historical Review. The meeting will be open to military guests, for whom the lecture will have special interest.

Medill School Given Collection on Career of Gen. G. H. Harries

The Medill school of journalism of Northwestern university has been presented with an important collection of materials relating to the career of the late Gen. George H. Harries, one of the oustanding journalists of the eighties and nineties, Dean Kenneth E. Olson said yesterday.

The collection consists of two large scrapbooks containing clips of Gen. Harries' dispatches, original manuscripts, photographs, maps and other memorabilia of Harries' career as an ace reporter for the Washington, D. C., Star. The presentation was made by Mrs. Alice E. Jenkins of Wolf, Wyo., widow of the general.

As representative of the Star during the Ghost Dance outbreak among the Sioux in 1890, Harries' dispatches attracted national attention and led to his appointment by President Harrison to the three-man commission named to settle the difficulties growing out of the Indian affair. He fought in the Spanish American and in the World war, and was retired as a general in 1927. He was a former president of a firm of Chicago municipal engineers.

Cooking Editor Lists Ways to Stretch Points

Daily Food Bulletin

PROCESSED FOODS: Forty-eight points in A, B, C blue stamps good thru March 31.

SUGAR: Coupon No. 12, 5 pounds, good thru May 31.

COFFEE: Coupon No. 25, 1 pound, good thru March 21.

MEATS, CHEESE, FATS: Rationing starts March 29.

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Catsup and chili sauce are rationed, so when fresh, homegrown tomatoes are available next summer many of us are going to be making our own. Meanwhile we'll use our commercially bottled sauces with more discretion. There's still sauce in an "empty" bottle, usually, so we'll rinse it out with vinegar or French dressing and make good use of every bit of the tomato flavor.

Points-high raisins must be used carefully now. In many dessert recipes we can cut the amount of raisins in half with good results. Sometimes we'll want to add nuts to make up the difference. Often we can use other dried fruit [except prunes, which also are 12 points a pound] with a lower point value in place of raisins. Sometimes chopped fresh apples [unrationed] will do.

Gravy often is the answer to stretching meat flavor. Good gravy may be made even from bacon drippings. Save the meat fat and drippings to make gravy for leftover meat on the second day of serving. Melt down extra fat you find on pork or other meat and use it in cooking. These days it is better to use up all of our kitchen fats than to have any left over at all. Chicken fat provides good shortening and fine flavor for baked goods. Ordinary strained meat drippings, including bacon fat, make excellent shortening for anything except cake. This kind of fat is likely to dominate the flavor of cake, but is excellent in hotbreads and cookies.

I think that most families find it wisest to budget their ration points, plan menus for a week, and spend a week's allowance of points at a time. But several women with small families have told me that they're making one shopping trip to use the family's points for the entire month.

"I like this way of doing it better," one homemaker tells me. "I know pretty well what we'll need most in the month, and I'm going to buy those foods and then do my meal planning with the purchased rationed goods on hand."

There aren't many good cookbooks available for homemakers interested in fish cookery. So I'm glad to report that I've found a good one. It's called "How to Buy and Cook Fish." Atlantic Coast Fisheries company is the publisher, but the book is available in most of the big book stores and department stores in Chicago, at a cost of 50 cents. There are pretty color photographs in it too.

Another new book which just came to my desk is "Meatless Meals," by Jean Prescott Adams, Albert Whitman & Co., Chicago. Price, $1.50. The author's real name is Mrs. Leona Malek, and she's a former Chicago newspaper cooking editor, now a counselor in home economics. She knows what she's talking about. Her book includes menus, recipes, information on meal planning and nutrition.

War Time Menu for Wednesday

BREAKFAST
Orange Juice
Griddle Cakes, Sirup
Milk Coffee or Cereal Beverage

LUNCH
Homemade Vegetable Soup
Peanut Butter and Bacon Sandwiches
Fresh Rhubarb Sauce Milk

DINNER
Cheese Souffle Frozen Lima Beans
Tossed Salad [Spinach, Lettuce, Radishes]
Whole Wheat Refrigerator Rolls
Broiled Grapefruit Milk Tea

Use only tenderest leaves of spinach for salad, saving rest for dinner vegetable another night. Make enough roll dough for two meals, storing remainder in refrigerator.

Homemade Vegetable Soup: For an easily prepared soup, use chopped packaged vegetables sold on vegetable counters, cooking them until tender in meat stock made from bouillon cubes and water. Or use a small cracked soup bone, and a little lean beef, cut in pieces. Add cold water, and bring slowly to a boil, skim and then simmer, covered, 3 to 4 hours. Add sliced or chopped vegetables [carrots, onions, celery, potatoes, turnips, and salt, and simmer 1½ hours longer. Add additional salt, if needed.

Housewives to Advise OPA on What to Do, Says Volunteer Leader

Washington, D. C., March 15 (AP).—American housewives soon will tell OPA what to do, members of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt's press conference learned today from OPA's "typical housewife," Mrs. Philip Crowlie of Huron, S. D., who is organizing an advisory council of volunteer housewives for her consultation with OPA.

Mrs. Roosevelt said she considers Mrs. Crowlie's job "very important" since she can "help enormously to interpret rationing to the American women" and also because she can present "the American woman's point of view to the people making the rules and regulations."

Mrs. Crowlie indicated she thinks rationing regulations have been okay with the housewife so far, and Mrs. Roosevelt said the White House is ready for meat and cheese rationing. Already, she said, it is serving butter only at breakfast.

Dale Collection Paintings Lent to Art Institute

More than fifty 20th century French paintings from the Chester Dale collection of New York will be placed on indefinite loan soon at the Art Institute of Chicago, Potter Palmer, president, announced yesterday. This will be the first time the complete group has been shown to the public.

The exhibition will be open the last week of April. The pictures are said to include famous examples by Picasso, Braque, Derain, Matisse, Utrillo, Vlaminck, and other leaders of French modernism. Three special galleries on the second floor of the museum will be devoted to the showing. Mrs. Dale is to supervise the installation.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale searched Europe and America for years to assemble outstanding and unusual examples of this period. They also collected notable 19th century French paintings, and those pictures are now on loan at the National gallery in Washington.

The group at the Art institute will include 10 works by Picasso. There will be his family of "Saltimbanques," done in 1905, and the "Gourmet," the canvas of a child reaching for a bowl of porridge, which was painted in 1901.

The "Tragedy" and "Juggler with Still Life" of Picasso's "Blue" period will be in the exhibit, with the portrait of Mme. Picasso, dating from 1923, and the "Still Life" [1918] and "The Lovers" [1923].

Braque, co-inventor with Picasso of Cubism, will be represented by five works. The most unusual of the group are two large canvases, each of a nude woman with fruits or flowers. The Dale collection is also said to boast the greatest group of Modigliani in existence. Chicagoans will see five, among them "Gipsy Woman with Baby," well known thru many reproductions. Other painters represented will be Chirico, Gromaire, Marie Laurencin, Leger, Lurcat, Marcoussis, and Soutine.

Hadassah Gatherings.

Member groups of Chicago Hadassah will hold district board meetings and tithe rallies thruout the city today.

TODAY'S $5 PRIZE RECIPE

Whole Wheat Griddle Cakes.
[One dozen small cakes.]

- 2 cups whole wheat flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
- 2 cups sour milk or buttermilk
- 2 tablespoons melted shortening
- ½ cup chopped dates or raisins [optional]
- 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Mix dry ingredients together, combine egg yolks, milk, and shortening, and add to dry ingredients, stirring until well blended. [It may be necessary to add a little more flour or milk; the batter should be a thin one]. Fold in dried fruit and egg whites and bake by spoonfuls on hot, lightly greased griddle.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

Some of my regular readers have probably observed that I use a great many hands in this column in which elimination and throw-in plays are the key to success. This repetition is both purposeful and inevitable. No other class of plays can be used as often or to such great advantage, hence, my great desire to make these plays thoroly understood by and available to all bridge players.

Here's another typical deal:
North, dealer.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 club	1 heart
3 clubs	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
4 clubs	Pass	5 clubs	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

North, despite his unbalanced distribution, should have accepted a three no trump contract, which could have been made against any opening lead except that of the heart ace, virtually a double dummy lead. In fairness to North, however, it is equally true that the five club contract should have been fulfilled. West's penalty double was not good.

West opened the ace of hearts and, after viewing the dummy, shifted to a spade. Declarer then took the trump finesse, despite West's bid and double. After West won with the trump king he could lead any card in his hand outside the diamond suit and simply wait for the setting trick with his diamond queen.

Declarer should have given West his due and placed every outstanding key card in his hand. On winning the second trick with the spade king, the spade ace should have been cashed. A low trump then should have been led. But after East followed suit declarer should have put up the ace, ignoring the finesse. The line of play from that point would be comparatively simple. The king of hearts should be cashed and South's third heart ruffed in dummy. A small diamond should be played to the ace and the third spade ruffed away. A trump lead would put West in, and he would have the unenviable choice of leading a heart, giving declarer a ruff and a discard, or a diamond up to declarer's K-J tenace.

Child Learns Thru Activity and Curiosity

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"How is Billy?" I asked his grandmother.

"Wonderful," she beamed. "But he keeps his mother on the jump. It's amazing the things he gets into, even in the few hours I spend there visiting him. I play with him, too, and do all sorts of things that make him laugh, and I amuse him, but even so, he has to be watched every minute. He's 21 months old today."

Reaching my desk shortly after this conversation, I found this letter:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans:

"Could you please help me out? My boy, aged 19 months, is an active, mischievous child. He touches everything and breaks things. I spank him, but at the same time I try to explain to him that he should not touch. But it doesn't help.

"Would I make a mistake if I should put him in his play pen? He never did like the play pen and has not used it for 5 months. If he should get used to it, would it slow him down in learning things and learning how to talk? He is picking up words quickly. And would he get sufficient exercise?"

If this little son, at 19 months, wasn't full of incessant activity, bubbling with spirits, and possessed by curiosity about everything within sight or reach he wouldn't be normal. And that would be something to worry about.

No, this is the way he should be. And in telling his, and other mothers that, I am giving them the greatest possible help. Because to understand what makes a child click is the foundation of wise management. Understanding sheds a light which makes clear what to do and what not to do. It makes life happy and interesting both for mothers and for their very "small fry."

Knowing then that the little boy is being normal and not naughty, this mother will change her ways. Knowing that his sense of touch is going to help him to learn about the world in which he lives [his home], she will let him satisfy that sense to a reasonable degree.

There will be some things he may not handle. On the other hand, the average household has innumerable furnishings and objects, fascinating to a child, which may become his playthings, besides his conventional toys.

The kitchen alone is a bonanza for a baby. Clad in sturdy but attractive little overalls, and made a companion by his mother instead of an object of correction, he can not only have a wonderful time, but can learn to use his muscles and thru them, his mind.

As to the play pen, as some small children never like them and this one has for five months not used his, it seems advisable to "skip it."

Engagements

Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Quillin of Stony Island avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Bette Jane, to Lt. Barton A. Gleason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Courtney R. White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

The Home Front.

And then there was the boss reported by F. N. "He was an army lieutenant in the last war; now as secretary of this company, manager of two departments, defense and priorities officer, he spends his days fighting his way thru the entanglements strung by the WPB, the OPA and the NLRB. The other afternoon he signed the last of a pile of reports, documents and appeals to Washington, mopped his brow and sighed, 'I'll be glad when this is over. It is absolutely the worst war I ever fought'!"

Gremlins in the Cash Register.

They mix up our nickels, our quarters, our dimes,
Our dollars, our fives and a ten;
And if we're not careful, well—one of these days
We're likely to land in the pen.

So we'd better get rid of the pests right away
Or sorry some day we shall be.
We'll battle these Gremlins by keeping our heads
When counting our money . . . you'll see!

What's Cookin'.

The girls in the office of an association of life insurance companies decided they wanted to do something more personal than just collect money, twice a month, for various war services. They wanted to feel, at least, that their contributions represented their coöperative efforts. So the assistant treasurer in the office had a plan. Why not serve lunch each day to the office force of 12 or 14, charge 50 cents for the lunch and use the money for war work? It wasn't a simple matter at first, according to Mildred Hammond [who confides the story in the White Collar Girl's ear] and with rationing it grows even more difficult. However, they have a small hot plate for coffee making, a couple of grills to heat food, and willing volunteers. The entrées are prepared at home by the girls, in turn; one brings the main course [sandwiches or meat loaf for sandwiches] and another makes the dessert. The men in the office bring food prepared by their wives.

To date, enough money has been earned in this ingenious way to send 24 cakes and a turkey to a service men's center, also to send a check for $30 to the Red Cross for the Greek Relief Fund. "Just an idea for other small offices," suggest the white collar girls, "and you might tell them we've had a lot of fun over what's cookin'."

Eighteen Million Strong.

"Current estimates indicate that the number of women in the labor force of the nation will increase from 15.0 million in October, 1942, to 18.4 million in December, 1943, an increase of 3.4 million. It is estimated that 1.2 million to 1.7 million of the 3.4 million women will be mothers of children. The number of children involved will be from 2 to 3 million. About 6 per cent of these children may be expected to be under 2, 40 per cent from 2 to 5 years old, 54 per cent from 6 to 16 years of age."—Katherine F. Lenroot, chief of the Children's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor.

"Where," inquires R. C., who forwards Miss Lenroot's statement, "are these child-wardens going to come from to take proper care of the children?"

Gov. Stassen to Speak at Institute of Human Relations on April 8

Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota will be the luncheon speaker at the seventh annual Institute of Human Relations, Dr. James M. Yard announced yesterday to members of the woman's committee of the Chicago Round Table of Christians and Jews, who met for a conference and tea at Mrs. Bertram J. Cahn's home, 227 East Delaware place. Gov. Stassen recently became president of the International Council of Religious Education.

The institute, which will be held April 8 in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Sherman, will have for its theme "From Neighborhood to Worldhood," Dr. Yard said. Other speakers scheduled are Dr. Saide Mossell Alexander, national secretary of the Urban league; Dr. Frank Alexander of the Institute of Psychoanalysis, author of "A New Mind for a New World," and Dr. Francis E. McMahon of the University of Notre Dame. The institute is conducted by the Chicago Round Table of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. Dr. Yard is midwest regional director.

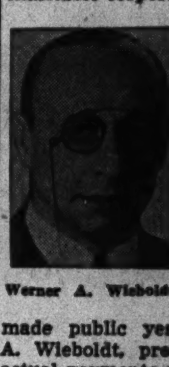
The Wieboldt Foundation, a Chicago charitable corporation founded by Mr. and Mrs. William A. Wieboldt in 1921, appropriated $160,850 for charitable agencies in the year ending November, 1942. This was an increase of $11,850 over the $149,000 appropriated the previous year, according to the foundation report made public yesterday by Werner A. Wieboldt, president. The year's actual payments were $168,200, an increase of $20,750 over 1941. Seventy-nine of the total of 116 requests received assistance.



Werner A. Wieboldt.

The largest appropriation authorized for any one group was $17,000 to the Chicago Community fund. The second largest amount, $15,000, went to United Charities of Chicago. The Red Cross and Chicago Boys clubs each received $10,000. The foundation's over-all report for the 21 years of services shows $3,517,002.66 has been provided for charity.

Donations are made primarily to agencies benefiting the Chicago metropolitan area or to alleviate suffering caused by a major catastrophe within the United States. Grants are not made for political, religious, racial, or other propaganda. The foundation seeks to help eliminate as far as possible those causes necessitating charity.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wilbur Fiske of Upton, Mass., formerly of Chicago, announce the marriage on Feb. 14 in Charleston, S. C., of their daughter, Wilma, to Lt. [j. g.] Andrew J. Reed III., son of Mr. and Mrs. Reed Jr. of Hyannis, Mass. Both Lt. Reed and his bride were graduated from Massachusetts State college, and he was a member of the first naval reserve class at Northwestern university. Lt. Reed's father was executive secretary for many years of the South Shore Y. M. C. A.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry H. Bell of Parnell avenue announce the marriage on Jan. 2 in New York of their daughter, Gloria Ruth, to Lt. Samuel M. Sterling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sterling of Berkeley, Cal. The bride was graduated from Longwood academy and attended the University of Illinois. Lt. Sterling, a graduate of the Polytechnic College of Engineering in Oakland, Cal., is stationed in Newark, N. J., with the army air forces.

Mrs. Harry N. Roe of Pine Grove avenue announces the marriage on March 3 of her daughter, Mildred Edith, to Jerome F. Golding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Golding of Clarendon avenue.

Household Forum

By Louise Bargelt

[Have you some household help that saves labor or conserves materials? Is there some special convenience you would like? We'll be glad to pass on our ideas to our readers.]

Genevieve Ludwig, 5645 Madison street, Chicago: "I accumulate small ends of soap of all kinds in a dry can, and when the can is full, I put them thru my meat grinder. This saves soap and gives me a box of fragrant soap flakes. It is better, I think, than putting odds and ends of soap in a jar with water, which makes a rather messy concoction at best.

Mrs. George B—, Des Moines, Ia.: I use colorless nail polish to paint over labels on the medicine bottles in my bathroom cabinet. Any spills from medicine won't make the ink run and blot out prescription numbers, etc.

Joyce T—, Evansville, Ind.: We are all starting a shoe conservation program at our house. No more "quick drys" for my children's shoes. When shoes get wet now, we stuff them with paper and keep them away from heat. We find this helps to dry them back to shape, and without danger of cracking either.

Ruth H—, Chicago: It would be a time saver if some one manufactured fireproof linings of some disposable material, to make for easier cleaning of our household ash trays.

Mrs. Grace F—, Evanston, Ill.: I use a toy flour sifter for sugaring cakes, pastries, etc.

Now—your idea—PLEASE!

Women Voters Open 22d State Convention in Springfield May 12

The 22d state convention of the Illinois League of Women Voters will be held from May 12 to 14 in Springfield, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. Florence Fifer Bohrer, the president. To coöperate in curtailment of travel, the league plans to combine its biennial legislative school with the convention program. Headquarters will be set up at the Leland hotel, and Mrs. Thomas D. Masters Jr. of Springfield will serve as chairman of local arrangements.

Social welfare chairmen of member units thruout the state will gather here Friday morning in headquarters at 225 North Michigan avenue to make recommendations for the league's welfare program. Mrs. T. H. Ludlow will preside.

The Cook County league will meet at headquarters today for a school of government, with Mrs. J. A. Nyberg, vice president in charge of Chicago affairs, presiding. James W. Errant, manager of the Municipal Employés society, will speak at 10:30 o'clock on civil service in Chicago, and at 1 o'clock Prof. S. H. Nerlove of the University of Chicago school of business will discuss the city's traction problem.

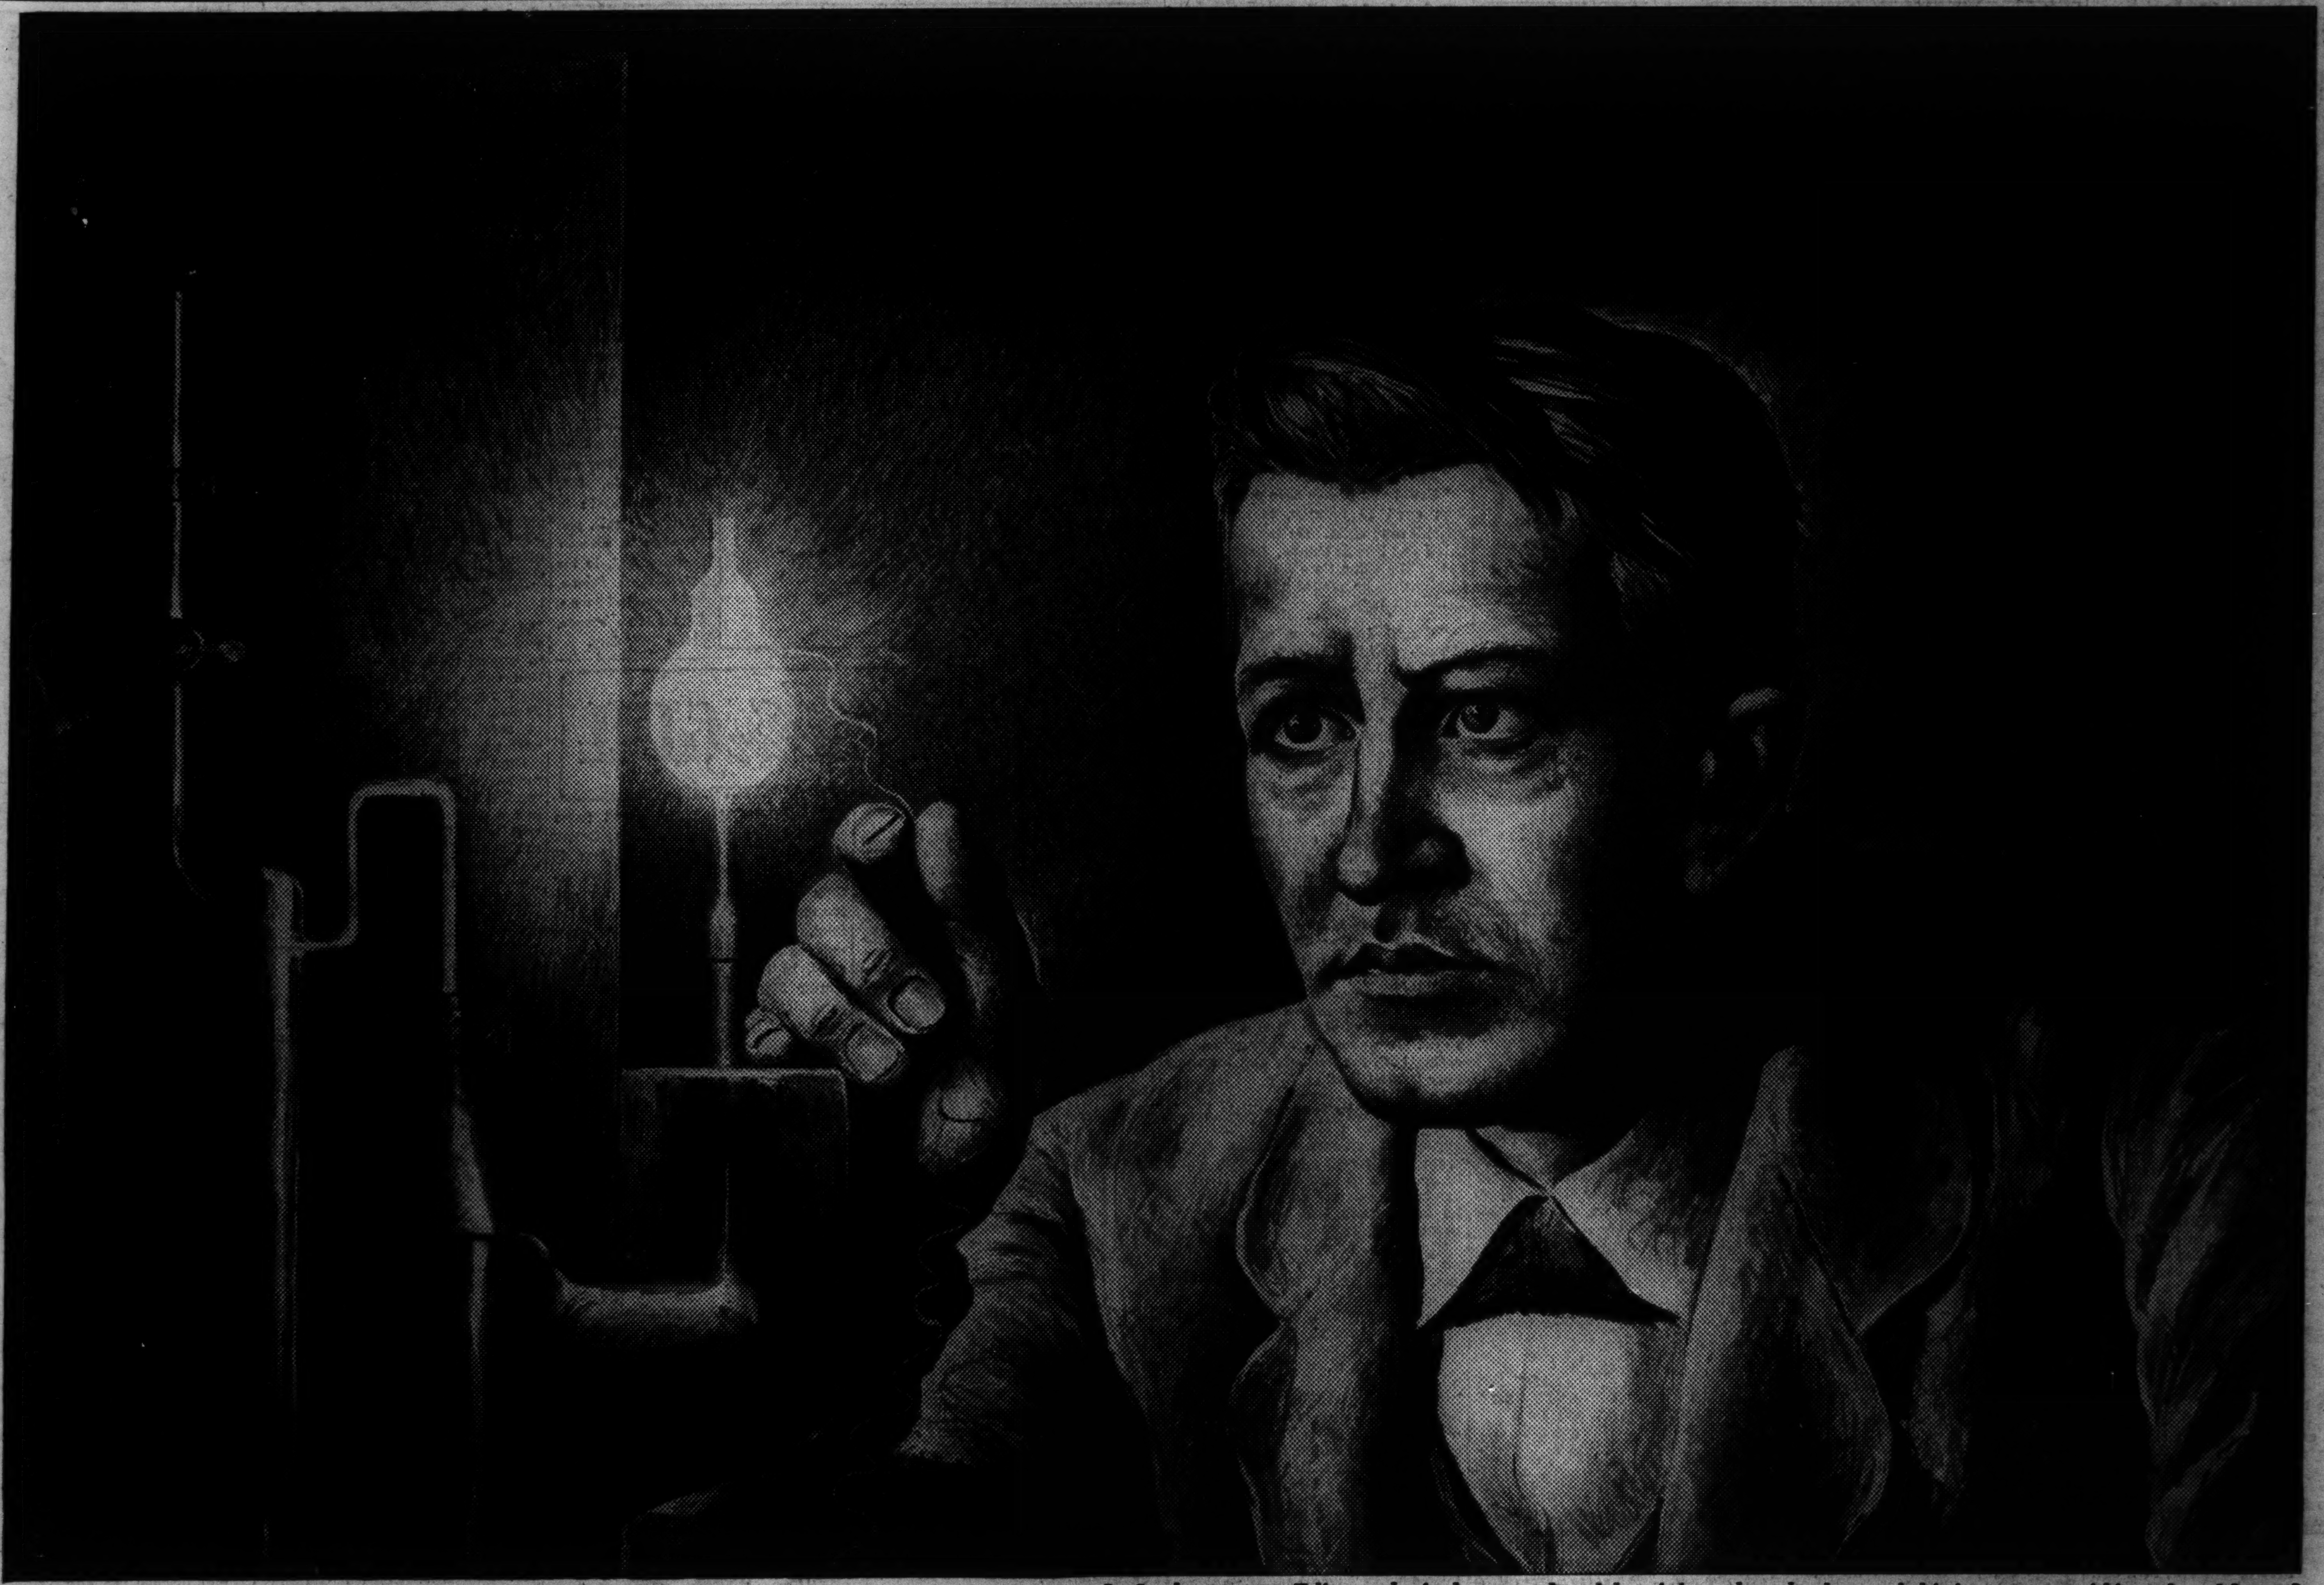
HAROLD GRAY



On October 21, 1879, Edison carbonized a cotton thread, bent it into a horseshoe loop, sealed it in a vacuum within a glass globe, and turned on the electric current—and the incandescent light was born. In twenty years its industrial value had become $750,000,000.

READING ... his only school ... now millions read by his LIGHT

HIS MOTHER was the only person who understood from the start the kind of mind Thomas Edison had.

The boy's head was so big, the doctors feared brain trouble. His father worried about his stupidity. When, at 9, he started to go to school, the teacher declared he was "addled."

His mother then made up her mind to teach him herself—by reading with him.

Before he was 12 he had read Gibbon's Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, Hume's History of England, Burton's Anatomy of Melancholy, the Dictionary of Sciences—and had even tried to struggle through Newton's Principia.

He developed a taste, a passion for reading which increased through the years. Reading fed his mind, stimulated his wonderful gift of imagination, touched his inventive genius into flame at a thousand points.

"If ever there was a man who tore the heart out of books, it was Edison," wrote his biographer.

THERE IS NO GREATER SOURCE of wealth to a nation than the habit of reading among its people. Not every man is an Edison, who can create, by his genius, material wealth alone amounting to sixteen billions. But through reading, every man, woman and child immensely multiplies a natural power to create and produce.

In more than 7,500,000 American homes today, this great fructifying influence is exercised by The American Weekly.

Its stirring stories of real life—tales of love and crime and human passion, mystery and adventure—bring to millions of hard-working Americans the same thrill and satisfaction and release from toil that the great inventor found in his life-long enjoyment of "human interest" stories.

Its vivid, stimulating articles on popular science, on history, biography, medicine, art, religion, are written with a clearness and accuracy that would have delighted a mind like Edison's. He got his first job of "peanut butcher" on trains in order to earn money to buy just such literature.

So complete is the authenticity of every one of these articles in The American Weekly that copies are used every day by instructors in schools and scientific institutions all over the country.

Who can measure the vast productive power of this mighty magazine which is distributed from coast to coast through 20 great Sunday newspapers?

The national advertiser who associates his product with such a towering institution is tying it up with the greatest force known in advertising. He is making his advertising message, like the rest of The American Weekly, the week-after-week reading HABIT of more than 7,500,000 families.

Cock-A-Doodle-Doo!

The months of January, February and March each recorded the largest advertising revenue ever recorded for any January, February or March in the history of The American Weekly.

To our clients—large and small—our grateful and genuine appreciation for this recognition of the medium with the greatest readership in the world.

PUERTO RICANS FIGHT IN N. Y. GOLDEN GLOVES

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

BILLY EVANS, president of the Southern association, spoke, we feel, for the vast majority of baseball men when he said in reply to a suggestion that league competition be discontinued for the duration: "It takes no courage to quit." . . . And perhaps the New York congressman who urged the abolition of world series and All-Star games should be reminded that last year these events netted a half million dollars for army and navy relief. . . . Barney McCosky of the Tigers, who was a member of the Detroit All-City basketball team when he played for Southwestern High school in 1935, still knows the location of the hoop. . . . He was the high scorer on the Administration team, which won the Ford Basketball league championship this winter. . . . Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Patch, commander of the army troops on Guadalcanal, was a star pole vaulter while at West Point. . . . Jim Hogan, traveling secretary of the Phillies, joined the organization as an office boy 40 years ago. . . . He has seen the club finish in the cellar 15 times. . . . The Georgetown university starting basketball team includes two Dutchmen, an Irishman, a Russian, and an Italian. . . . Virgil [Spud] Davis, the Pirate catcher-coach, is starting his 16th major league campaign. . . . He has served with the Yankees, the Phillies, and the Cardinals [twice]. . . . Walter Johnson's record of four wild pitches in one inning still stands. . . . Joe Yankitis, former Duquesne university basketball star, has been cited for the purple heart in North Africa. . . . Pete Spotti, former welterweight battler from Pittsburgh, is home on furlough after four trans-Atlantic trips as a navy gunner. . . . One of his ships, a tanker, was torpedoed off Florida. . . .

Tony Janiro, the 16 year old Golden Gloves featherweight champion from Cleveland, who is preparing for the inter-city bouts in Chicago Stadium March 31, hopes to become a professional but not because of the money. . . . Says Tony, "It seems funny they will pay a guy for something that's so much fun." . . . Tony is a student at Ursuline High school in Youngstown, O., and considers it fortunate that his principal, Father Gallagher, is a boxing fan. . . . "He doesn't mind my going away for tournaments," Tony explains, "just so I make up the work when I get back." . . . Fred Vanzo, former Northwestern and Detroit Lions blocking back, has been commissioned an ensign and assigned to St. Mary's Pre-flight school. . . . Tossup.

I saw two brothers shaking hands,
Then the younger hailed a cab;
For one was garbed in a business suit,
The other in olive drab.

Like Corsican twins, each seemed to sense
The other's inmost mind—
So seldom before, thru all the years,
Had one been left behind.

I wonder which was hurt the more,
As that taxi pulled away—
The husky gunner, bound for war,
Or the one who had to stay.

CARDINALS GRAB THEIR BATS AND START SWINGING

Champions Waste No Time at Cairo, Ill.

Cairo, Ill., March 15 (AP).—The world champion St. Louis Cardinals, only major league team without a real man power problem, opened spring training in a hurry today. They started right off with batting practice in a race against time.

Manager Billy Southworth has a little more than a month before the pennant campaign to get his players in condition, in contrast with extended southern training trips of other years, and he doesn't intend to waste any of it.

A year ago today, for example, the Cardinals won their sixth straight victory and seventh in ten exhibition games, defeating the New York Yankees at St. Petersburg, Fla., 5 to 3. But that was Florida and this was Cairo, Ill., 12 months of war later, and there were many differences.

War Brings Changes.

There was no sleek bus waiting for the players at their hotel. They walked—1 2-10 miles—to their improvised clubhouse and another five-eighths of a mile to Cotter field.

The first session was somewhat limited because Southworth had a squad of only 17, but the group included eight pitchers. Each toiled five minutes on the mound in a vigorous batting drill.

The staff included Morton Cooper, Ernie White, Howard Pollet, and Harry Gumbert of last year's team; Bill Beckman, who finished the season with the Cardinals, and Rookies George Dockins, Ted Wilks, and George Munger.

Six Are Unsigned.

Six players, Pitchers Harry Breechen, Howard Krist, and Max Lanier; Catcher Ken O'Dea, and Outfielders Harry Walker and Stan Musial, still are unsigned. But most of the squad of 32 players was expected in time for tomorrow's practice.

Going over the roster, Southworth pointed out his infield and catching staff were intact, his pitchers were plentiful, and he had seven outfielders from whom to choose. This left only the weather as the principal worry.

REDS MEET MUSCLE EXPERT.

Bloomington, Ind., March 15 (AP).—Within Indiana university's big fieldhouse, the Cincinnati Reds romped thru opening workouts today—a session complete even to an introduction to scientific relaxation by Bill Miller, self-styled muscle magician hired by the club.

Two hours of pepper drill, running and bunting were indulged in by 24 on the squad, including Shortstop Eddie Miller and Outfielder Mike McCormick, who signed contracts upon arrival.

BROWNS BUCKLE DOWN.

Cape Girardeau, Mo., March 15 (AP).—Outfielder Glenn McQuillen, recently reclassified 1-A, reported for the opening workout of the St. Louis Browns today. He said he hoped to get in a few weeks playing before the army called him.

The dozen players on hand were put thru a strenuous setting-up drill by Manager Luke Sewell and Trainer Bob Baumann before they moved outdoors for bunting and fielding practice.

INDIANS ARE SET.

Lafayette, Ind., March 15 [Special].—A rain or shine schedule calling for daily workouts from 10 to 1 o'clock was announced today by the Cleveland Indians following a preliminary meeting of the squad with Manager Lou Boudreau. On rainy days the squad will drill in the Purdue university fieldhouse.

Twenty-three Indians arrived at their war time spring training site today. Seven others are expected tomorrow or Wednesday. Goeffrey Heath, outfielder from Seattle, Wash., was the lone listed holdout.

YORK LAST TIGER TO SIGN.

Evansville, Ind., March 15 (AP).—Rudy York signed with the Detroit Tigers today, bringing the club's roster to 27 men—just two over the midseason playing limit.

Manager Steve O'Neill disclosed that York was the last holdout.

Edward [Dixie] Parsons, who sat out Sunday's drill, also signed his contract today and was behind the plate in the club's workout.

TRAINER MAKES PHILLIES GROAN

It's All Part of New Setup for Eighth Placers.

Hershey, Pa., March 15 (AP).—An hour after they arrived at their spring camp here today, 11 members of the Philadelphia Phillies had their first taste of a new kind of big league conditioning routine under the direction of Trainer Harold Bruce.

The squad wen thru a half hour workout of running exercises, calisthenics and ball tossing, while Manager Bucky Harris, newspapermen and visiting soldiers watched from the sidelines.

At the end of the drill, Si Johnson, veteran pitcher, groaned, "Boy, my back feels like it's broken already!" Johnny Podgajny, another pitcher, asked, "Is he really going to keep this up all season?"

Owner Cox to Work Out.

William D. Cox, new owner of the club, is due Wednesday, and Bruce said Cox plans to put on a uniform and work out himself.

Johnson and Prodgajny came here from Philadelphia, along with Player-Coach Chuck Klein, Third Baseman Merrill May, Second Baseman Danny Murtaugh, Catcher Mickey Livingston and rookie Pitchers Andy Lapihuska and Frank Seward, Manager Harris, Traveling Secretary Jimmy Hagan, and Bruce. Waiting here were Coach Earl Whitehill, Outfielder Danny Litwhiler and rookie Pitchers Johnny Miller, Bill Webb, and Dale Mathewson.

Pitcher Walter Beck, Outfielder Ron Northey, and First Baseman Babe Dahlgren are expected tomorrow, and Pitcher Charlie Fuchs by the end of the week.

A'S LOSE 3 MORE TO ARMY.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 15 (AP).—Connie Mack said today that three more members of the Philadelphia Athletics are entering the army, raising the club total to 23.

Mack said Pitcher Fred Caligiuri has been inducted at Warren, Pa.; Pitcher John Savage will become a second lieutenant upon his graduation from Staunton [Va.] military college this spring, and Catcher George Yankowski, a member of the army reserve at Northeastern college, Boston, is awaiting his call to active duty.

Another pitcher, Bill Salerno, 23 year old semi-pro of Sharon Hill, Pa., was added to the A's roster today, bringing the total to 11 moundsmen who will report for training at Wilmington, Del., next Monday.

Malaria Sends Barney Ross to N. Y. Hospital

New York, March 15 (AP).—Corp. Barney Ross, hero of the marine corps on Guadalcanal, was taken to the United States Navy hospital at St. Albans, Long Island, early tonight suffering from a recurrence of malarial fever which he contracted in the war zone.

The navy public relations office said this condition was not serious but was unable to say how long Ross would remain in the hospital.

Ill Three Days Last Week.

Ross arrived from Chicago and the west coast late Friday for a series of Red Cross appearances altho he confided to friends that he had been ill for three days early last week.

He was scheduled to participate in a huge Red Cross meeting in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Friday night, before approximately 20,000 spectators, he received the Edward J. Neil trophy from former Mayor James Walker as the man who did most for boxing in 1942 and last night he was the guest at a private party where he received the Ring magazine's merit award for 1942.

Both citations were given the former champion of the lightweight, welterweight and junior welterweight divisions for killing 22 Japanese late in November while protecting three wounded fellow marines during an all night vigil on Guadalcanal.

Wife Is His Substitute.

His wife, Catherine, accompanied him here from the west coast and substituted for him at the Red Cross meeting tonight.

Ross was stricken in his hotel shortly after addressing a Red Cross gathering in the lobby of the New York Life Insurance building.

His wife called a private physician but later the marine was carried from the hotel on a stretcher and taken by ambulance to the hospital.

HAWKS' PLAYOFF HOPES HINGE ON GAME IN DETROIT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 15.—The sorely tried Chicago Blackhawks, approaching their fiftieth and final game of the 1942-'43 National Hockey league season, tonight entrained for Detroit, where on Thursday they will close their regular season against the league champion Red Wings.

The luggage of the Chicagoans, who last night suffered a 7 to 5 defeat by the Rangers, including a disputed goal that led Manager Paul Thompson to level his fists at Referee Norman Lamport's chin, included two interesting items. One was the precious half game margin by which they now hold fourth place and a Stanley cup chance over the Montreal Canadiens. The other parcel included the bundle of IFs on which the Hawks are hoping to maintain their slim advantage over the pressing Canadiens, who close their campaign on Thursday also, against the Rangers in Montreal.

The Hawks can gain fourth place and the last spot in the playoffs Thursday IF:

1. They beat Detroit.
2. They tie Detroit and the Rangers tie Montreal.
3. They lose and Montreal loses.
4. They tie and Montreal loses.

But their activity for the season is over IF:

1. They lose and Montreal wins.
2. They tie and Montreal wins.
3. They lose and Montreal ties.

[The teams would thus have the same number of points, but Montreal would be the winner of the place on the basis of having won more games].

Kansas City, Mo., March 15 (AP).—Lee Savold, 195, Des Moines, knocked out Jack Marshall, 201, Chicago, in the second round of their scheduled 10 round main event in Municipal auditorium tonight. Marshall went down for an eight count in the first round.

SELECT SQUAD TOMORROW FOR CHICAGO BOUTS

Capacity Crowd Sees Tourney Opener.

BY ARCH WARD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 15.—Eight boxers from Puerto Rico were among the field of eastern seaboard fighters who tonight began a three day tournament that will determine the personnel of the New York squad for the 16th annual Intercity Golden Gloves bouts with Chicago at Chicago Stadium, March 31.

"We didn't make the trip from the Caribbean just to see New York," said Max Gonzales, lightweight champion of the island. "We're going on to Chicago where we'll show that Puerto Rico develops boxers as skilful and courageous as those of any other country in the world."

Has Held Three Island Titles.

Gonzales, whose home town is San Juan, has a record of 14 victories in 15 bouts. He has been Puerto Rican bantam, feather, and lightweight champion.

"Nobody believed us when we told them a few weeks ago," Gonzales added, "that we were going to New York to fight the toughest guys in the eastern section of the United States, but the fans back home are so enthused now that they are pulling for us to qualify for the Chicago match."

Gonzales, 19 year old metal sheet worker, drew a bye in tonight's round, which was conducted at the Ridgewood Grove arena in Brooklyn. The semi-finals will be held in the same spot tomorrow and the finals are scheduled for Madison Square Garden Wednesday night.

The New York Daily News, sponsor of the eastern Golden Gloves tournament, has had the coöperation of the Philadelphia Inquirer, Washington Times Herald, Newark News, Charlotte [N. C.] Observer, and the Trenton Times, as well as the El Mundo-El Imparcial of Puerto Rico, in the promotion of this year's meet. All those centers are represented with complete teams.

Capacity Crowd Sees Bouts.

Tonight's bouts drew a capacity crowd of 5,500. Fewer than 5,000 unsold tickets, all in the upper balconies, remain for the finals at the Garden.

Competition never was keener in the opening round of a New York meet than it was tonight. There were no knockouts in the first two hours of action. Winners were determined in most cases by wafery margins and as a rule both boxers left the ring exhausted from the fury of combat.

The first Puerto Rican to survive the opening round was William Hernandez, 18 year old bantamweight who is a student at Mayaguez. His left jab was forever bouncing off the nose and jaw of Rocco Del Viscovo of Newark and he occasionally shook up his opponent with solid rights. William Palou, a fellow townsman of Hernandez, won his way to the 126 pound semi-finals by defeating Norman Giles of Newark, a private in the army.

No Holdovers on Team.

New York will have an entirely new team to send against Chicago. Only one member of last year's Intercity squad qualified for the Tournament of Champions. He was Thomas Walker, 23 year old hospital attendant from Harlem, who was whipped tonight by Jimmy Caraway of Washington.

The Charlotte, N. C., team was the most popular group in tonight's competition, due, no doubt, to the presence of five soldiers from Fort Bragg.

Floyd Is a Puncher.

The sharpest puncher of the first round was Jack Floyd, a tailor's helper from Philadelphia, who floored Danny Migliacci of Trenton three times with lefts to the stomach, in winning an easy decision in the 126 pound class.

The navy made a sweep of its two

CHICAGO PACKS A PUNCH—NEEDS IT!

Six Can Throw Heavy Wallops at New York.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Chicago's Golden Gloves fighters have an unusual amount of hitting power this season, and judging by reports from the east, they'll need it, too, when they clash with New York's champions in the Intercity matches in the Stadium March 31. Six of Chicago's eight champions either stopped or knocked out at least one of their opponents in the semi-finals and finals of the Golden Gloves tournament. Earl O'Neal, Chuck Hunter, Morris Corona, Samson Powell, Reedy Evans, and Walter Moore were the fighters who dealt so summarily with their adversaries.

The eastern representatives will be chosen on the basis of their showing in New York's Tournament of Champions which began last night. There will be more bouts tonight and the finals will be held tomorrow in Madison Square Garden.

Evans Packs a Punch.

Evans turned on the heaviest artillery of all in Chicago's recent Golden Glove matches. Out of the four opponents who faced him in the Tournament of Champions and the finals, only one was able to finish the fight on his feet. This was Tom Attra, 1942 light heavyweight champion, whom Evans overthrew in the quarter-finals. Earlier in the tournament the Chicago 175 pounder had stopped Carmen Fredericks of Cleveland before even one round was over. After disposing of Attra, Evans went on to knock out John Hubbard of Milwaukee in the semi-finals and William Zielke, Camp Grant, in the final.

Corona, veteran of many previous Golden Gloves encounters, has been noted more as a clever boxer and ring general than as a hard hitter. This year, however, his timing has been sharpened up so much that he's getting all his weight into his punches just at the instant it does the most good. He demonstrated this in stopping Charles Busalacchi of Milwaukee in the welterweight final.

Corona Plants Right to Jaw.

Corona tagged the Milwaukee boy with a right to the jaw soon after the opening bell and Busalacchi dropped for the count of nine. A minute or so later, Corona nailed him for eight and the referee stopped it

DETROIT TEAM PROVES RIGHT TO BOWLING TITLE

Strohs' 6,134 Pins Win Victory Tourney.

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

The bowling fans of every one of a half dozen cities in the middle west will tell you that their city has the nation's best bowlers. They won't name an individual or, in most cases, a team, but will insist that man for man the star bowlers of Chicago or Cleveland or Milwaukee or St. Louis are the best to be found.

Detroit fans learned yesterday that their claim is good insofar as team ability is concerned. They had believed all along that their Stroh's Bohemians were the country's best team. And when that team captured the match game championship last November, then defended it successfully in the last few weeks against the Chicago Budweisers, A. B. C. champions, they had to prove only that they also could go in tournament play.

That last doubt was cleared up Saturday and Sunday when the Strohs emerged as the No. 1 team in a field of 48 of the country's best quintets participating in the first Victory tournament put on in the Auditorium Theater Service Men's Bowling center—for the benefit of that center. The Strohs gained a tie for 10th place at the end of the first half of the event Saturday, then on Sunday shot a 3,184 series which gave them a six game total of 6,134 and the $2,000 first prize.

None Gets Past a Graduate of War Dog Class

[This is the fourth of a series of stories dealing with the training of dogs for war.]

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fort Robinson, Neb. March 15.—No dog trained here for sentry work is considered a well finished graduate of the six weeks training course until it has been given considerable work at night. Practically all sentry dogs are used after dark, so the training staff on this post sends out groups of canines and handlers several nights a week to work in the hills or woods near the training field.

A number of sentry courses are available with much the same surroundings and situations a dog will meet when he actually starts his service either in this country or elsewhere.

Dog Is Taught to Freeze.

The dog is led over the various courses on a long leash and taught to freeze or give a low growl when any strange sound is heard, or when the dog's sensitive nose detects the presence of a stranger. Some of the courses are equipped with small sheds in which soldiers hide. It's up to the dogs to find these men and signal their handlers that a possible enemy is in hiding.

At the end of the six weeks of training the average canine graduate is so sharp that he's bad news to any prowler who tries to get past a sentry or conceal himself.

None Able to Get By Dogs.

One practical test given to a group of advanced dogs recently took place on the top of a hill near the training ground. After dark the trainers placed a group of handlers and their dogs in a circle. Each was given a certain amount of territory to patrol in the dark. Then a group of enlisted men was sent to the hill with orders to crawl past the sentries and their dogs. They were urged to take their time and to make no noise as they inched their way over the ground.

Not one man was able to get past the dogs. Working on long leashes the dogs either caught the scent of the men crawling near them or heard them, signaled the handlers that something was wrong, and then had the fun of closing in to make a capture.

Trainers Keep Careful Records.

Altho the army training course given sentry dogs is on a mass production basis and lasts only six weeks because Uncle Sam needs a lot of these four footed helpers in a hurry, the trainers keep careful records on both the animals and the men who handle them. Each dog has a report card on which the trainers mark his response to agitations, score his alertness, obedience record, and behavior under gunfire. "Car break" is another heading on the report card.

This phrase was a puzzler to us. 2d Lt. M. B. Godsol, director of the K-9 division, said it meant car sickness.

Ice-Capades to Extend Chicago Run Extra Week

The Ice-Capades of 1943 added another week to its engagement in the Chicago Arena, 400 East Erie street, yesterday when Norman Frescott, company manager, announced that arrangements had been completed to defer the cast's scheduled appearance in Hollywood to make a picture. The extra week will include another Sunday matinee on March 28. The scheduled closing date now is April 3.

ANGLERS GO TO FIRING LINE IN TOURNEY APRIL 3

Finals in Tribune Event Will Be Held April 10.

THE TRIBUNE casting contest to be held in connection with the International Sportsmen's show will start Saturday, April 3, at 6:45 p. m. when the first group of casters affiliated with Chicago casting clubs steps up to the big tank in the Chicago Stadium for opening shots at the circular targets.

Here is the program for the contest, open to fishermen without club affiliations and members of casting clubs: On April 3, 4 and 5—the first three days of the show—club casters in Chicagoland will compete for prizes. On each of these three evenings the contests will start at 6:45 p. m. and continue until 8:15 p. m.

Fishermen Take Over April 6.

Starting Tuesday, April 6, the fishermen take over the casting pool for their competition. The schedule for fishermen is:

April 6, 6:45 to 8:15 p. m.—Fishermen casters whose surnames begin with letters A thru G.

April 7, 6:45 to 8:15 p. m.—Fishermen casters H thru O.

April 8, 6:45 to 8:15 p. m.—Fishermen casters P thru Z.

On Friday, April 9, there will be a casting event for boys and girls [under 16] and another event for women. The boys and girls will cast from 6:45 to 7:30. Women will demonstrate their ability to hit the targets between 7:30 and 8:15 o'clock.

Saturday, April 10, winners will compete in the finals, which will be held between 6:45 and 8:15 p. m.

Two Major Events on Final Day.

Two of the most interesting casting events on the program, a dry fly contest and one for fly fishermen handling a bass bug lure, will be run off the last day of the show. The dry fly exponents will go into action at 5:30 p. m., April 11. At 7 p. m. the bass bug event will be held.

No entry fee is required to compete in any of these events. But every caster who wishes to compete must fill out and mail in the entry blank which will be printed in the sports section of THE TRIBUNE next week.

ASCENSION BEATS ST. BARBARA IN HOT FINISH, 18-16

Ascension of Oak Park defeated St. Barbara, 18 to 16, yesterday in the feature game of the second round in the Chicago Catholic grammar school basketball tournament in Queen of Angels gymnasium. St. Barbara, one of the tournament favorites, tied the score at 16 to 16 with only nine seconds of playing time left but the Oak Park team came back with the winning basket four seconds later. Other scores:

St. Bernard, 28; St. Cyril, 25.
Visitation, 23; Holy Rosary [Waukegan], 13.
St. Gabriel, 36; St. Jerome, 12.

The tournament will continue tonight with four more second round games in the Weber school gymnasium. The schedule:

3:15—St. Stanislaus vs. St. Leo; 4:00—St. Columbanus vs. St. Mary's training; 4:45—St. Anthony [Joliet] vs. St. Elizabeth; 5:30—St. Alphonsus vs. St. Andrew.

HERE'S ONE WAY TO RATE QUINTETS IN STATE MEET

Comparison Gained by 19 Key Games.

Team Standings

DURING the season, the 16 contenders for the Illinois state high school basketball title played 19 games among themselves. Following is the record of that competition, with the teams' won and lost records in brackets:

	W.	L.	Pts.	Opp.
Elgin [18-3]	3	0	127	116
Canton [25-2]	5	1	242	211
Paris [33-2]	3	1	174	112
Moline [23-3]	3	1	155	142
Decatur [28-6]	3	1	154	139
Rockford West [16-4]	1	1	77	67
Kewanee [21-4]	1	3	145	144
Salem [24-6]	0	1	26	50
Champaign [24-5]	0	1	23	44
Joliet [14-10]	0	3	98	119
Pekin [18-11]	0	3	84	119
Quincy [14-7]	0	3	79	121
Anna-Jonesboro [20-6]	0	0	0	0
Chicago-Kel. Pk. [22-0]	0	0	0	0

Variety in the caliber of opposition thruout the regular season taught Illinois state prep basketball tournament followers long ago to discount these records when they tried to pick the winner from the final field of 16.

There's a bit more concrete basis of comparison, that of studying results of 19 games played among these 16 title rivals during the campaign. This brings out the fact that at least five teams compiled impressive records against members of the same group which will open the 35th annual state meet Thursday morning in Champaign.

Elgin Looks Good.

As a result, Elgin, the Big Eight winner which has not been taken too seriously as a contender, perhaps merits more consideration. Elgin is the only member of the 16 which is undefeated in competition against these other teams which were strong enough to survive regional and sectional play.

While Elgin has whipped two other members of the final field, such early favorites as Canton, Paris, Moline and Decatur can't be pushed into the background. Each of these four has lost no more than one decision in competition within the circle of 16.

Rockford West, with a one and one standing, and Kewanee, with one triumph to show for four showdowns with this week's competitors, are the only others to win against this outstanding competition, altho Anna-Jonesboro, Chicago Kelvyn Park, West Frankfort, and Wood River did not run up against any of the other finalists during the regular season.

Canton Opens with Salem.

One of Elgin's triumphs came over Rockford West, its foe in the opening game of the tourney Thursday morning, while its other two were attained over Joliet, which is in the opposite bracket.

C.D.G.A. Plans Car Pool for Chicago Golf

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Chicago District Golf association's service machinery, as geared to the war, has begun to roll with the formulation of a plan for car pooling to combat the transportation problem during the 1943 season. Altho the suggested pattern for ride swapping has not been presented formally to member clubs of the association, Mel Keim of Northmoor, chairman of the CDGA war service committee, yesterday revealed the details which will be used as a sample.

Choosing Northmoor, of which he also is president, as an experimental basis for the plan, Keim has arranged with Joseph Peters, a professional cartographer, to make a map of the bulk of the area embracing the club's membership. This will be so scaled so that it can be printed clearly on a sheet of paper measuring 8 by 11½ inches.

Map of All Streets.

The map, as pertaining to Northmoor, will be bounded on the north by Halfday road in Highland Park, on the south by Isabella avenue in Evanston, and on the west by Skokie road. It also will include every main highway and street within this territory which would be traveled by a motoring member in reaching the club. This portion of the map will be printed in black.

Super-imposed on the black portion of the map in red will be a series of squares, each representing a square mile. These will be numbered. Jack Febel, manager of Northmoor, then will be assigned the job of breaking down the membership geographically. That is, he will determine those members living in blocks 1, 2, 3, etc., until he has allocated each member a place within a square. Febel then will set up, for printing on the reverse side of the map, the number of sections, the members living within each, and their home addresses and telephone numbers.

Hope for Group Rides.

It is the thought of Keim and Joe Graffis of Golfdom magazine, who worked with him on setting up the model plan, to enable club members to arrange group rides thru this map. A member living in section 1, for instance, can consult his map, check the addresses of other members residing in the intervening squares between his home and the club, and thus arrange to contact them and set up a ride exchange. In this way, one car could accommodate five or six members comfortably. Members living in the same vicinity could take turns in the use of each other's cars and adjust their golfing time so that it would fit that of members residing nearby, and the car pool could be used for homeward transportation.

Keim yesterday made it plain that his Northmoor plan is purely a sample one. It will be offered not only to every member club of the association, but to all clubs in this territory, as a part of the CDGA war service program.

Chicago Packs a Wallop--and Will Need It!

as soon as the Milwaukee fighter got up.

Moore, Chicago's heavyweight representative, was forced to take on five opponents on his march to the championship. After disposing of four of them by clearly earned decisions, he still was going so strong that he knocked out Art McWhorter of Gary in the final.

Hunter, a Cleveland veteran who is regarded as one of the nation's outstanding amateur boxers at any weight, came thru with sensational hitting power when called upon to cope with a particularly difficult job in the lightweight final. His opponent was Levi Southall, a Kansas City boy who had used his great height and reach to good advantage in whipping all of his previous opponents in the tournament.

Powell Stops Cedar Rapids Boxer.

Inasmuch as Southall stood considerably over 6 feet in height and had proportionally long arms, it seemed that Hunter was going to have a hard time piling up points if he expected to outbox his opponent. But Hunter didn't have to do that. Southall left his jaw exposed just for an instant in the second round and Hunter whipped across a punch that sent the Kansas City boy to the floor for nine. Hunter got a similar opportunity in the third round and fired for an another nine count. Then the referee stopped it.

Powell, who is a national A. A. U. champion from Cleveland, put over his hardest punches in the middleweight semi-final, stopping Roland Taylor of Cedar Rapids. Then he went on to win a decision over Harry Joyce of Memphis, who previously had distinguished himself by outstanding punching power.

Tho the little fellows usually aren't noted for their knockout tactics, O'Neal stopped two opponents on his sweep toward the bantamweight title. He scored a technical knockout over Tommy Mount of Memphis on the first night of the Tournament of Champions and did the same to Ike La Soya of Cedar Rapids in the semi-finals. Then he went on to take the title by outpointing the veteran Gene Roberts of Camp Grant in the finals.

DODGERS WORK INDOORS.

West Point, N. Y., March 15 (AP).—Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers announced today that Max Macon, southpaw hurler, had agreed to terms. Fifteen players went thru their first workout in the army's big fieldhouse.

Macon sent word that he is en route from his home in New Albany, Ind. The 15 players on hand spent the time pitching, batting, and running around the arena before departing for their quarters at Bear Mountain.

3 YANKS ACCEPT TERMS.

Asbury Park, N. J., March 15 (AP).—Manager Joe McCarthy announced the acceptance of terms today by Pitchers Johnny Lindell, Spurgeon Chandler, and Atley Donald, making 21 of the 27 players on the New York Yankee roster who have either signed or agreed to terms.

Chandler and Donald did not arrive in time for the first drill but Lindell was first of the nine battery men on the field. The battery men practiced briefly at midday, together with coaches and scouts.

SENATORS START WITH BLUEGE.

College Park, Md., March 15 (AP).—The Washington Senators opened spring training today at the University of Maryland under their new manager, Ossie Bluege.

Missing from the initial workout were Pitcher Early Wynn, who has permission to report several days late; Pitcher Ray Scarborough, recovering from pneumonia, and Catcher Angelo Giuliani, who informed club officials he would be several days late due to an addition to his family.

PIRATES LOSE STEWART, WILKIE.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 15 (AP).—The Pittsburgh Pirates received word today that two more of their regulars, Outfielder Eddie Stewart and Aldon Wilkie, southpaw pitcher, will not report for spring training. Stewart said he will remain working at an airplane factory in Los Angeles and Wilkie will continue with a shipbuilding firm at Newberg, Ore. Both had signed 1943 contracts.

Ralph Kiner, recruit outfielder from Albany of the Eastern league, wrote he has enlisted in the naval cadets and will not make the trip to the Pirate camp at Muncie, Ind., which opens Thursday.

Baseball Lifts Eager Head at Sign of Spring

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Weather and income tax deadline weren't enough to eclipse the arrival of the baseball season yesterday, what with 10 teams heading for their war time spring training camps and early departures and other activities pertaining to the White Sox and the Cubs.

The White Sox's official assembly at French Lick, Ind. won't be conducted until Friday, and the Cubs aren't officially due in French Lick until next Monday. But last night Bobby Dorr, superintendent of Wrigley field, who has been commuting between Chicago and French Lick, set out with a special crew of gardeners for the final preseason landscaping of both the Cub and Sox improvised training grounds. This morning Dr. Andy Lotshaw, old Mr. Spring Training, himself, will set out for the spa by overland motor lorry.

Scriveners Depart Thursday.

Thursday morning Jim Wilson, manager of the Cubs, with an auto load of scriveners and other kibitzers will set out for French Lick, via Bloomington, Ind.

Manager Jim Dykes of the White Sox, who couldn't get to Chicago yesterday from his California retreat as scheduled, positively will arrive in town at noon tomorrow, rolling stock permitting. The welcoming committee immediately will transport the convalescent skipper to the Fourth Estate room in Comiskey park, where President Grace Comiskey will be hostess at a gay party at which the pieces de resistance will be corned beef and cabbage, beer, and other viands and choice beverages. Vice President Harry Grabiner says he will arise at the banquet and announce the names of the players who will depart for French Lick Friday evening. THE TRIBUNE is able to announce in advance that the players departing from Chicago will be Vince Castino, Orval Grove, Thornton Lee, and Don Kolloway. It is considered likely Mr. Grabiner also will reveal the names of the players he expects to be at French Lick when the Chicago party arrives, or shortly thereafter.

The flight of Dr. Lotshaw today, so far ahead of the Cub departing date, was looked upon with interest by old time observers of the veteran trainer's efficiency, caution, and ever suspicious character.

Schwartz New Sox Trainer.

The White Sox have a new trainer, Ed [Packy] Schwartz. Dr. Lotshaw is on record as admiring Dr. Schwartz as a skilled soother and fine gentleman. But when he heard that the Sox were due to arrive at the French Lick bathhouse four days ahead of the Cubs, Dr. Lotshaw began to fret.

He admitted he didn't want Dr. Schwartz to have first search on the facilities. He envisioned three legged rubbing tables, short circuited connections for his beloved diathermy machine, and cobwebbed lockers, leftover wreckage after Dr. Schwartz had taken his pick.

Cub officials familiar with the swank and faultless bathing facilities at French Lick Springs hotel sought to comfort Dr. Lotshaw by telling him Tom Taggart is not a man who would tolerate any three legged rubbing tables, etc., etc. But he wouldn't be consoled. So this morning he will start the 279 mile motor trek, with the personable Mrs. Lotshaw in the back seat of the lead car to direct Andy's driving.

DAYTON UPSETS GLOBETROTTERS IN MEET, 44 TO 34

TONIGHT'S GAMES.
[Semi-finals.]
8:30 p. m. — Oshkosh All-Stars vs. Fort Wayne Zollners.
9:30 p. m.—Dayton Bombers vs. Washington, D. C., Bears.

The Harlem Globetrotters, favorites to win the national professional basketball tournament, were upset last night by Dayton, 44 to 34, in a quarter-final match in the tourney in the Armory at 16th street and Michigan avenue.

To gain the victory, Dayton had to overcome a 22 to 21 half time lead. Dayton's attack got under way in the middle of the third period when it connected on consecutive shots close-in to capture a 33 to 29 lead going into the final quarter.

In the evening's second game the Fort Wayne Zollners beat Sheboygan, 48 to 40, and gained the right to compete in the first semi-final tonight at 8:30 o'clock against Oshkosh.

Fort Wayne led for the greater part thru use of a deceptive passing offensive. At the half the Indiana team was out in front, 25 to 21.

The Washington, D. C., Bears made the third quarter-final a runaway as they overwhelmed Minneapolis, 40 to 21. They will oppose the Dayton representatives in the last semi-final tonight at 9:30 o'clock. Washington held a 29 to 15 lead at the half.

JOHNNY ROZINA BEATS JAMES IN MARIGOLD BOUT

Johnny Rozina, 150 pound Milwaukee fighter, hammered out a decision in eight rounds over Tommy James in Marigold Gardens last night.

The 1,244 spectators, who contributed to a gross gate of $1,779, were amazed by the manner in which Lewis flattended the heretofore knockout proof Nichols after only two minutes and 51 seconds.

Clarence Brown, local heavyweight, floored Mickey Hayes of Milwaukee for the count in the third round of a scheduled eight round event. Fred Dawson, south side junior lightweight, stopped Berlin Hadnot, and Louis Jackson, junior welterweight, beat Isadore Miner.

BILL TO SET UP STATE REVENUE BUREAU PUSHED

Aims at Relief of Task in Finance Department.

BY JOHNSON KANADY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 15.—Plans for the establishment of a state department of revenue, one of the items on Gov. Green's legislative program, are nearly completed, and the bill is expected to be the first of the series of administration measures to come up for legislative action.

Under the proposed statute the department of revenue would handle the collection of taxes and the department of finance would return to its original status as a watch dog over budgets, finances, and expenditures.

As set up in 1917, the department of finance was simply an administrative and fiscal control agency. With the inauguration of the motor fuel tax in 1929, however, the duties of the department began to change.

Taxes Collections Multiply.

Since that time the department's original duties have been smothered in an avalanche of tax collecting chores, including the retailers' occupation tax, the cigaret tax, oil taxes, utility taxes, and others. Collection of such taxes would be given to the department of revenue under the new plan.

Gov. Green in his message at the opening of the current session, termed the department of finance a "particularly glaring instance of unwieldy administration" under which the administrative structures set up under Gov. Frank O. Lowden in 1917 are still being used for entirely different purposes. The proper functions of the department of finance, he said, cannot reasonably be related to revenue collecting.

Credit for the idea goes back to the report made two years ago by Gov. Green's advisory committee on taxation, headed by Deneen Watson.

Auto Taxes Separate.

The Watson report suggested bringing all taxing responsibilities under the department of revenue or taxation, but did not go into detail to list such functions. It is not believed that the administration will attempt to bring into the new department's control the duties of collecting automobile license fees, and drivers' and chauffeurs' licenses altho the Watson report could be interpreted as including these functions.

At the present time the automobile and allied licenses, amounting to more than $25,000,000 a year, fall under the control of the secretary of state—only state elective office still held by a Democrat. To include them in the fiscal revision would mean loss of any chance of Democratic support for the program.

Commission's Status Uncertain.

Another controversial point is the position the state tax commission would assume under the new plan. At the present time the commission technically falls under the department of finance. Another question to be settled is the disposal of inheritance tax control, which, while largely a local function, entails work at the present time by the attorney general's office and the state treasurer's office.

Informed circles predict that the combined cost of the department of finance and of the department of revenue under the new plan will be less than the one department as it stands today. Samuel L. Workman, now acting director of finance, is slated for the directorship of one of the departments if the reorganization goes thru.

Mayor and Aldermen Pay Honor to J. P. Harding

A solemn requiem high mass was held yesterday for John P. Harding, president of the civil service commission and veteran restaurateur, while mourners thronged St. Ignatius church, 6559 Glenwood avenue. The city's aldermen acted as honorary pallbearers and there was an honor guard made up of 50 student police and 25 firemen. Mayor Kelly and other civic leaders attended the funeral and the interment in Calvary cemetery. Mr. Harding died last Friday.

SAILOR KILLED, TWO INJURED IN TRIPLE CRASH

William Samuel Robinson, 22 years old, of Cleveland, O., a member of the United States navy, was killed and two other persons hurt yesterday in a three car collision at 47th street and Stone avenue in La Grange. Robinson was a passenger in an automobile driven by John Menth, 20, of 9311 Monroe street, Brookfield, who was taken to the Berwyn hospital suffering from cuts and internal injuries.

William Moseley of County Line road, Hinsdale, was the driver of the second car. Howard Hermance, 16, of Route 2, Hinsdale, and Richard Donaldson, also of Hinsdale, who were also riding with Menth, were taken to the Berwyn hospital. Miss Mary Ann Shaw, 520 South Stone avenue, La Grange, driver of the third car, was unhurt.

Henry Devusser, 65, of 3300 North Olcott avenue, a janitor, died in County hospital of injuries received Sunday when struck by an automobile at Diversey and Elston avenues. William Fitzpatrick, 17, of 3231 North Racine avenue, the driver, was charged with reckless driving and will be arraigned tomorrow in Safety court.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 107 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 84 died in Chicago, where 2,729 others were injured.

ROOSEVELT HIGH SCHOOL TEACHER KILLED BY TRAIN

Mrs. Helen Lotz, 43 years old, 6958 Tonty avenue, a teacher at the Roosevelt High school, was killed last night when she was struck by a north bound Milwaukee Road passenger train at Devon avenue and Caldwell road.

Police said that the crossing was protected by gates. They said Mrs. Lotz may have attempted to walk across the tracks beyond the actual crossing, where the lowered gates would have halted her.

The victim's husband, James A. Lotz, is an English history teacher at the Lake View High school.

Report 15 Meningitis Cases in City for Half of March

Fifteen cases of spinal meningitis have been reported in Chicago during the first 15 days of March, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, reported yesterday. He pointed out that only one death has resulted from the disease and that it is still early to know whether it will spread to epidemic proportions. There were 33 cases of spinal meningitis and 7 deaths from it during January and February this year in comparison with 29 cases and 8 deaths during all of 1942, he added.

Loses $23,200 to Nazis; Makes No Tax Deduction

St. Louis, Mo., March 15 (AP).—Altho the Nazis in 1941 confiscated from Dr. Gerhard E. Gruenfeld of St. Louis $23,200 in German property, he refused to accept its deduction on his 1942 tax return. Instead, he sent a $1,000 tax warrant as partial payment, including a note to Collector Robert E. Hannegan in which he declared: "I feel it is our duty to contribute at least our taxes to the war effort."

Trucker Hurt by Wagon Tongue in Freak Crash

Bert Bartell, 53 years old, 6135 Waveland avenue, driver of an oil truck, suffered serious head injuries yesterday when a team of dray horses driven by Herman Kraft, 15 North Racine avenue, was frightened by a clap of thunder and ran away in an alley west of Des Plaines street between Madison and Monroe streets. The tongue of the wagon pierced the cab of Bartell's truck and struck his head.

Detroit War Plant Opens Beauty Shop for Workers

Detroit, Mich., March 15 (AP).—N. A. Woodworth, whose war plant employs 3,000 women, has installed a beauty shop on the premises in the hope of cutting down absenteeism. The shop will serve employés, either before or after their regular shifts. Cash credit is given as a bonus to women with unbroken work records of 6, 8, 10, or 12 week periods, the value of the credit increasing with each two week period.

THIEVES STEAL NUPTIAL FUND.

Miss Helen Bonkalski, 19 years old, reported to police yesterday that $1,000 in new $10 bills was stolen by burglars from her home at 3103 West 25th street while she was at work in a Cicero war plant. She said the money belonged to her and her fiance, Theordore Medmonsky, 24, of 2359 South Whipple street, and was to have financed their marriage.

He is survived by his widow, Esther, and one son. Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 118 Greenleaf avenue, Wilmette.

CURFEW WON'T RING AT NIGHT—BUT IT WILL HIT!

Curfew shall not ring tonight, but Waukegan children, 16 years old and younger, will be off the streets by 10 p. m. if they know what's good for them.

The Waukegan council last night directed Chief of Police Bart Tyrrell to enforce an old 10 p. m.-6 a. m. curfew ordinance in an effort to curb juvenile delinquency.

When the ordinance was enforced years ago, a whistle was tooted at 10 o'clock. Now, with the air raid wardens tieing up all available whistles and sirens, there'll be no curfew signal.

INDUSTRY FINDS FREE SYSTEM GAINS STATURE

Planners of Fetters Given Setback.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

With the war's end still not visible, preliminary skirmishes are taking place between the men, largely within the government, who foresee continuance and extension of government economic control after the war and those who seek a return to private enterprise.

The scope of the program outlined in the report of the national resources planning board, released last week by President Roosevelt, was startling to many individuals. It calls for sweeping government control of post-war economy and expansion, rather than abatement, of government activity in the economic field.

Epitaph, Not Blueprint.

A significant fact overlooked by many persons who read with dismay the board's recommendations, however, is the board's present status. The board which wrote the report is considered to be on its way out. The report is more likely to be the epitaph of the board than the blueprint of post-war economy.

A new commission on post-war economic planning is expected to be created by congress and be responsible directly to it. The present composition of congress makes it unlikely that the new agency will follow the philosophy that guided the old planning board.

Also working quietly on post-war planning is a group known as the Council of Economic Development, the national chairman of which is Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker corporation. Its planning is the down to earth variety in which unlimited expansion of the national debt is not the starting point.

Encourages Individual Plans.

Thru the research facilities of large organizations and by other means it is encouraging business enterprises to make their own plans for the future without waiting for the grand plan that inevitably will come out of Washington. The council's work is being encouraged by the department of commerce and responsible people within the government who have little patience with the planning of the sort that is thought up by the resources planning agency.

The transformation occurring within the office of price administration since Leon Henderson's resignation reflects in some measure the change that is taking place. Some of Henderson's aids regarded the OPA not as an emergency device created for a specific purpose but as a new arm of government which after the war would be perpetuated as a permanent consumer "protective" agency. One responsible government economist acknowledged readily in off-the-record conversation that this was contemplated.

OPA Gets Rough Treatment.

The rough treatment received by the OPA at the hands of congress appears to have dimmed considerably the longer term planning of OPA.

Business men and industrialists are more heartened than they have been for years over the longer term outlook for private enterprise. The temper of the new congress and the achievements of industry in the war program, as yet not fully told, are the basis of this new optimism.

A government which regarded with suspicion the private industrial ehterprise system turned to it when forced to do so by the war. Industry's production achievements so far exceeded government expectation that readjustments in the war program have been necessary from time to time to keep the program in balance.

REFUNDS VOTED SHIPPERS ON WAR DELAYED CARGO

Washington, D. C., March 15 (AP).—The house merchant marine committee today approved a resolution authorizing the war shipping administration to refund to shippers approximately $250,000 in freight charges for voyages frustrated by Pearl Harbor.

In a letter to the committee, Adm. E. S. Land, WSA chairman, said the shippers' claims were "supported in equity and fairness, if not in law, by the fact that the cargo owners have paid for the service which they did not receive."

In many instances, he explained, the vessels never left the loading berths.

Asks Treasury Not to Take Springfield Building Space

Washington, D. C., March 15 (AP).—Rep. Evan Howell [R., Ill.] asked the treasury today to reconsider its decision to take over nine floors of the Ridgely Farmers bank building in Springfield, Ill. Howell said the quarters sought to expand the income tax division are needed by present tenants.

THE CORN-HOG RATIO

Number of Bushels of Corn Required to Buy 100 Pounds of Live Hogs

Whether it is profitable to sell corn or feed it to hogs and sell them depends upon the relationship between the prices of hogs and corn. The relationship over a period of years is here depicted. Below the average line the farmer comes out better selling corn. Above the average line he profits by feeding it to hogs.

Small Plants of Vast Aid to Auto Industry

Extensive subcontracting has helped the automotive industry reach a war production rate of nearly a million dollars an hour, the Automotive Council for War Production said yesterday in a statement which said that the industry is relying heavily on small business.

"The automotive industry owes much to the specialized talents and resources of thousands of small businesses scattered thruout the nation," the council said. "Tools, talents, and techniques were three big things which the small manufacturers had to offer when war came. By fully enlisting these resources the automotive industry eased the demand for thousands of machine tools and forestalled general man power shortages in automotive centers."

Subcontracts More Than Half.

One large automotive manufacturer with more than 2 billion dollars in war contracts has subcontracted more than 1 billion 300 million dollars of the work, or 58.2 per cent, to smaller companies, the council reported. The subcontractors include 8,079 companies in 856 cities in 39 states, and 4,290 are relatively small businesses, 1,607 are medium sized, and 1,782 are large companies, the council said.

Application of subcontracting to the manufacture of cannon by a passenger car maker was told by the council. This company makes four types of cannon requiring a total of 769 parts, and the company makes only 12 of the parts, depending on subcontractors for the other 757. Quantity production resulted, altho the work formerly was regarded as too difficult to subcontract and too intricate for mass production, according to the council.

Aids in Beating Schedule.

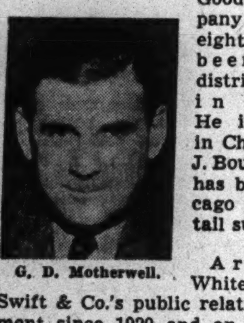
Another auto maker is producing 24 times more Diesel engines than in peacetime by making wide use of subcontractors in 191 communities in 24 states and the District of Columbia, and as a result many ships have been put into service months ahead of schedule, the council said.

One automotive company which received contracts to make carbines searched out suppliers in many states to get 60 of the 63 required parts. A dry goods price tag maker was induced to make some of the carbine parts. A watch case company is making a part that requires 22 milling operations. A brick company is doing annealing work, and a tennis racket maker is making several parts.

Chicago Area Companies Win Production Awards

Army-navy production awards to 38 firms announced yesterday by the war department included the central division of the Campbell Soup company and the Kensington Steel company, both of Chicago; the Oakes Products division of the Houdaille-Hershey corporation, North Chicago; the ordnance division of the General American Transportation corporation, East Chicago, Ind.; the Chicago Extruded Metals company, Cicéro, and the Broderick company, Muncie, Ind.

People and Events



G. D. Motherwell.

G. D. Motherwell, assistant Chicago district manager of the B. F. Goodrich company the last eight years, has been appointed district manager in Minneapolis. He is succeeded in Chicago by W. J. Boulboullé, who has been the Chicago district retail supervisor.

Arthur D. White, head of Swift & Co.'s public relations department since 1920 and an employé of the company for 52 years, retired yesterday. George C. Reitinger, an assistant in the department for the last nine years, succeeded White, and Albert W. Bates was appointed assistant department head. White went to work for the company as a messenger when he was 13. He became advertising manager in 1903. He was one of the founders of the National Meat Packers' association, now the American Meat Institute.

Liston H. Crist, who has been employed by La Salle street brokerage houses for 15 years, has joined Lamson Brothers & Co., member of the principal exchanges.

Emanuel Winkelman, manager of Lane Bryant's Chicago store, has been appointed head of the corporation's seven stores. Peter J. Wessel of the St. Louis store succeeds Winkelman in Chicago.

APPROVE WAGE RAISES FOR 2,200, HALF IN MIDWEST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 15.—The war labor board today unanimously approved wage increases for approximately 2,200 workers, more than half of them in the middle west. The increases were as much as 15 per cent above wages paid on Jan. 1, 1941.

Approximately 275 workers at the Metal and Thermit corporation in East Chicago, Ind., were given a general increase of 5½ cents per hour, retroactive to Sept. 4, 1942. WLB said the company had in the past paid the highest wages of similar plants in the area and the increase was necessary to restore it to its former position.

A general increase of 4½ cents an hour, retroactive to Sept. 24, 1942, was granted 735 workers of Millsprint, Inc., Milwaukee, Wis.

The board reported the case of the Chicago Rapid Transit company workers had been sent back to the research and review division for further investigation.

Thiokol Today Will Offer 93,759 Shares of Common

Public offering of 93,759 shares of common stock of Thiokol corporation, a pioneer synthetic rubber producer, will be made today by J. G. White & Co. of New York. The offering price is $5 a share. Thiokol corporation was recapitalized last February thru the issuance of 204,000 shares of $1 par value common in exchange for 68,000 no par shares then outstanding. The present offering is part of 102,000 shares of newly authorized stock.

Lewis Issues Threat of Coal Miners' Strike

New York, March 15 (AP).—John L. Lewis today advised northern soft coal mine operators they could assume that failure to negotiate a contract by March 31 giving wage boosts to 450,000 miners would result in a strike April 1.

Replying to a flat rejection of the United Mine Workers' major demand for a contract to supplant one expiring the end of this month, the UMW president told the operators at a joint wage conference:

"If they [miners] don't get it [a contract by March 31] the responsibility will not be the mine workers', and if the contract runs out because you will not negotiate with them, the responsibility upon you will rely."

Owners Urge Action.

Earlier in the conferences, which started last week between the UMW and northern and southern operators at separate meetings, spokesmen for numerous union districts threatened work stoppages in April unless a satisfactory contract were signed.

Charles O'Neill, président of the northern group, replying to Lewis, for the second time rejected union demands, and proposed that each side appoint a six man committee to begin actual negotiations immediately—behind closed doors. The conference agreed to a proposal by Lewis to table this proposal until tomorrow.

"We are not here to deny the United Mine Workers anything that belongs to them," O'Neill declared. "Under the laws of the land they have to show it belongs to them and not by mere assertion of claims." He urged that "we get down to the real negotiations and see how far we can or cannot go."

Lewis Scores Operators.

Lewis denounced arguments used by the northern operators and charged "a billion dollars a month of inflationary profit is going back into industry while you operators sit in placid contentment. Let me warn the coal industry you cannot do this to our people with impunity!" He repeated the union contention that granting the demands would cost 240 million dollars in 1943. The operators have argued it would be 750 million.

Renewing union attacks on the war labor board and its "little steel" formula which limits to 15 per cent wage increases to cover living cost rises from Jan. 1, 1941, to May 1, 1942, Lewis charged that WLB had decided in advance to reply "no" to his demands.

CINCINNATI SUED FOR MILLION IN OVERTIME WAGES

Cincinnati, O., March 15 (AP).—Court action seeking payment of overtime estimated at more than a million dollars was filed today against the city of Cincinnati by members of the Cincinnati City Employés' local, No. 211, of the United Construction Workers.

George E. Rice, president of the local, said the claim dates from 1936 and that the 19 members listed as plaintiffs represent approximately 1,500 workers "similarly situated."

The suit, filed in Common Pleas court, alleged that in the last seven years all hourly workers had received only regular scale wages, despite a city ordinance providing they be paid time and a half for all work in excess of eight hours a day or 48 hours a week.

Despite War Conditions Our Client's Rapid Growth Creates Five Permanent Opportunities

This advertisement is placed at the direction of a client . . . an old established insurance institution with nation-wide representation, located in Chicago and employing over 2000 persons. Employees know of this advertisement.

For this client, 1942 was a year of unprecedented war-time growth. Several millions of dollars in new business increased total premium income to more than $28,000,000 annually. The phenomenal expansion of one new division and the sensational growth of a second new division have opened two new markets for widespread development in 1943.

Our client's exceptional program creates permanent opportunities for five outstanding men whose major qualities are aggressiveness, ingenuity and sales personality. One position is administrative, requiring advertising experience.

All men selected must have successful selling records in their own field and be capable of handling broader responsibilities than they have in their present positions. Insurance experience not essential. After thorough training, at our client's expense, they will be assigned Home Office supervising positions requiring some traveling.

Positions are strictly salary, not commission. Ages 25 to 45. Sell yourself in letter, enclosing a snapshot if available. Give fullest details: education, draft status, business experience, sales record. Personal interviews will be arranged later.

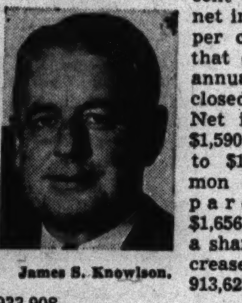
DIP REPORTED FOR STEWART WARNER PROFIT

HigherTaxesNullify Big Sales Gain.

Gross sales of the Stewart-Warner corporation, Chicago, increased 65 per cent in 1942, but net income was 4 per cent below that of 1941, the annual report disclosed yesterday. Net income was $1,590,454, equal to $1.25 a common share, compared with $1,656,680, or $1.30 a share. Sales increased to $88,913,625 from $53,933,908.



James S. Knowlson.

Last year's profit was after provision of 2 million dollars for post-war plant rehabilitation and contingencies, and 19.4 million for federal and other income taxes, an increase of 323 per cent over 1941 taxes of $4,586,158.

Responsibility Recognized.

James S. Knowlson, president and chairman of the board, told stockholders it is impossible to estimate the effect on earnings of renegotiation of contracts now being conducted.

"In pricing our products," he explained, "we have recognized our responsibility to our biggest customer, the United States government, and as soon as costs on new products could be determined with a reasonable degree of accuracy, prices were adjusted. The increased volume of production has, in great measure, made it possible to produce at lower costs, even tho labor and material costs continue to increase.

Nickel Threat Eased.

"On the other hand, there is a minimum of profit margin upon which the company should operate when consideration is given to the tremendous risks involved in the production of types of equipment never before undertaken, and also the risks inherent in the expansion of production to many times normal."

A threatened shortage in the supply of nickel has been eased thru expansion of production and conservation methods the International Nickel company of Canada, Ltd., said in the annual report by Robert C. Stanley, president and chairman of the board.

"The expanded production of nickel

Swift International's Profits Dip; Heavy Supplier of British

Swift International [Compania Swift Internacional], meat packer operating in South America, Australia, and New Zealand, earned moderately less in 1942 than in 1941, but results were "satisfactory," Joseph O. Hanson, president, said in his annual report issued yesterday in Chicago.

Joseph O. Hanson.

Profit was 17,647,932 Argentine pesos, compared with 18,691,056 pesos in 1941. At the exchange rate of 23.6 United States cents per peso prevailing Dec. 31, the profit was equal to $2.77 a share, against $2.95 a share in the preceding year.

The earnings were sufficient, Hanson said, to permit an increase last year of 1,277,011 pesos in the company's earned surplus and to cover the dividends paid, which amounted to $2.50 a share.

Discusses Processing Gains.

Hanson discussed live stock supplies, improvements in meat processing to reduce bulk, and the company's contracts with Britain.

"In general, live stock supplies in countries where the company operates were about the same as in 1941," he said, "altho the number of cattle killed in Argentina was somewhat less because of unusually dry weather. However, substantial increases were shown in sheep and lamb and hog killing in that country.

"To assist in conserving refrigerated steamship space for shipment of meats to war areas, improvements in boning, freezing and handling practices were made during the year, resulting in better stowage of frozen boneless beef, both in storage warehouses and on ships. In addition, experiments were conducted in dehydrating meat, and several of the company's units already are producing dehydrated beef and mutton."

Great Britain Gets Most.

Hanson said the bulk of the company's meat production was sold on contract to the British government for military use and for civilians in Great Britain, as was the case in other years since the war began. He said the contracts with the British are on the basis of delivery in the country of origin, so the British government assumes the risks of shipping.

"The financial position of the company continues strong," Hanson said. "There is no funded debt, and the bank overdraft appearing on the balance sheet [17,263,496 pesos] is the result of the company's major policy of financing seasonal operations of its plants by borrowing locally."

The report was Hanson's first as president. He succeeded Harry McLerie who retired March 12, 1942.

REPORT LITTLE RUSH FOR LOANS TO MEET HEAVY INCOME TAXES

Chicago banks and finance companies reported yesterday the volume of loans to individuals for payment of income taxes increased more than normal this year, but did not represent a large rise above other years. Banks said that savings withdrawals were only moderate and in most instances were small amounts.

Personal loan companies said that the increase was below expectations and there was no rush to obtain loans. One company said its loan volume during the Christmas season exceeded tax loans. Officials suggested the tax loan volume was held down by such factors as larger incomes, curtailed buying of consumer goods, and advance savings for this year's steeper taxes.

Some banks reported a large increase in the number of borrowers, but said loans were generally small. Corporation loans were at a minimum, since most businesses long since had made provision for meeting their taxes, banks said.

WAY IS CLEARED TO REORGANIZE 35 RAILROADS

ICC's Plans Upheld by Supreme Court.

The Supreme court of the United States, in two key decisions, yesterday paved the way for expediting the bankruptcy reorganization proceedings of 35 or more railroads. Deciding controversial points that have held up reorganization plans of other lines, the court approved in general the interstate commerce commission program for the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific, and approved in its entirety the ICC plan for the Western Pacific.

Two principal points were decided in each instance:

1. The commission, in ruling that present stocks are worthless and not entitled to participation in reorganization, is not required to make specific findings of fact.

2. Increased war time railroad earnings shall not be used as the basis for revising previously promulgated reorganizations.

Affects Status of Others.

Counsel for investors who opposed he plans said that the court's decision had a bearing on the reorganization plans of all railroads in receivership or trusteeship, constituting 29.5 per cent of the country's railroad mileage.

On the first point, the court said that the bankruptcy law merely requires the ICC to "state fully its reasons for its conclusions" that the stock is without value. "The reasons which underlie the expert opinion of the ICC need not be marshalled and labelled as findings of fact to validate its action."

On the second point, the tribunal, conceiving it the commission's duty to determine a financial structure for the "indefinite future," said: "We cannot assume that the figures of war earnings could serve as a reliable criterion."

Refers to 1939 Statement.

Justice William O. Douglas, who delivered the court's opinion in the Milwaukee road's case, quoted the ICC as saying late in 1939: "We know from past exeprience that the upswing in business which war brings is temporary and likely to be followed by an aftermath in which conditions may be worse than before."

In deciding the ICC is not required to make specific dollars and cents val-

WILDCAT STRIKE HALTS WORK IN TIMKEN PLANT

Canton, O., March 15 (AP).—A walkout by first shift employés today tied up operations in the Timken Roller Bearing company Gambrinas plant, a company spokesman reported.

Finas Reynolds, president of the CIO United Steelworkers, which has a contract with the plant, said the walkout was unauthorized and that any CIO members participating would be expelled from the union.

Reynolds and the company spokesman said they were informed the men were protesting promotion of 27 Negro workers to replace workers leaving the plant for other jobs or for military service.

Price Ceilings to Be Set on Second Hand Trucks

Washington, D. C., March 15 (AP).—Ceiling prices for used trucks soon will be established at prices substantially below those being asked by some dealers, the OPA announced today. They will be based on specified depreciation from the new cost and will contain allowances intended to encourage reconditioning of old trucks.

CHICAGO MAKES WARTIME HISTORY . . . NUMBER SIX OF A SERIES

THE MAKINGS OF VICTORY
. . . Chicago steel sets an all-time record

AN INFERNO of hissing steam . . . smashing sound . . . incessant, blinding, penetrating heat. Here, amid the turbulent atmosphere of war itself, steel is born.

Greatest of all Chicago industries, steel provides the basic material of war. And, fully conscious of the need, Chicago in 1942 broke all production records . . . held the lead in America's drive for steel and more steel.

As a whole, the steel mills throughout the nation did not reach 100% of production capacity until October of last year. On the other hand, Chicago steel was operating at 100% production even before Pearl Harbor. And it has maintained an average well above 100% of production capacity for every week since that time!

Steel plates for Victory ships . . . plate and cast steel armor for America's tanks . . . high grade alloy and stainless steels vital to aircraft—these are but highlights in the vast parade of armament Chicago is turning out ahead of schedule.

Yes, night and day the steel mills of Chicago are hammering out the makings of Victory. Under free enterprise, their soldiers of production are giving every ounce of effort toward winning the goals for which all of us are working and fighting.

Commercial credit for firms and corporations, large or small, engaged in production for war or civilian use, is available here. Since 1889 this institution has served the complete banking and trust needs of prominent individuals and firms throughout the Middle West. Inquiries are cordially invited.

LOW PRICED RAIL STOCKS TUMBLE ON COURT RULING

Average Holds Unchanged in Irregular Trade.

New York, March 15 (AP).—Stocks of railroads in process of reorganization tumbled today in the wake of the Supreme court Milwaukee road decision, but strength was shown by better grade rails and industrials, in an irregular market.

The recently buoyant low priced carrier issues were "unloaded" in blocks of 1,000 to 5,000 shares at declines of fractions to 4 points when the court upheld an interstate commerce commission ruling excluding Milwaukee stockholders from participation in reorganization of the road's capital structure.

Average Is Unchanged.

Trends were irregular from the opening. Dealings slackened at intervals, but transfers amounted to 1,365,420 shares, compared with 1,972,060 Friday. The Associated Press 60 stock average was unchanged at 46.7, its high since Nov. 11, 1940.

Observers found little encouragement in war news, and profit cashing persisted. Favorable earnings statements aided individual issues, while investment and inflation factors again proved bolstering influences.

Stocks advancing more than a point to peaks for a year or longer included Santa Fe, Great Northern, Bell Aircraft, and Pepsi-Cola.

In the declining transportation group were common and preferred issues of Seaboard Air Line, New Haven, Frisco, M-K-T, St. Louis Southwestern, and Rock Island.

BOND BOOM BURSTS.

New York, March 15 (AP).—A long running speculative boom in a score or more of low priced rail bonds collapsed today under a rush of selling prompted by a Supreme court decision upholding interstate commerce commission principles of carrier reorganization in a Milwaukee road case.

Bonds of the solvent railroads were steady, and industrial and utility liens were a trifle improved. United States government and foreign loans attracted relatively little attention.

Some of the affected bonds, quoted generally at 10 to 15 per cent of their face value, broke 1 to 2 or more points. Rail bonds of better rating in some cases benefited by the decision and advanced 1 to 2 points.

Galvanized into greatest activity were Milwaukee adjustment 5s which tumbled sharply from an early high to close 1 point lower at 9 on a turnover of more than 3 million dollars face value. Milwaukee 4½s, on the other hand, rose 2¼ to 56.

Chicago & North Western convertible 4¾s dropped 1⅞ to 7⅜, while the 4¾s of '87 pushed up 1¾ to 56.

CHICAGO PRICES RISE.

Chicago Stock exchange prices rose yesterday as trading totaled 53,000 shares. Among the volume leaders were Chicago corporation, up ⅛; Central & South West Utilities and Midland United, unchanged; Raytheon preferred, up ⅝ to a new 1942-'43 high of 3¼, and Raytheon common, up 3 to 9¼. In the final half hour Aviation corporation and Commonwealth Edison advanced ⅛, Paramount and Pure Oil declined ⅛, Swift International declined ¼, and Zenith declined ⅝ from the New York close.

COURT HASTENS REORGANIZATION OF 35 RAILROADS

Upholds I.C.C.'s Plans for Two Carriers.

uations in determining railroad stocks are without equity in a reorganization, the court issued its first broad scale ruling on a point involved in many other cases. Justice Owen J. Roberts dissented in part from this ruling.

The Milwaukee decision reversed the United States Circuit Court of Appeals and affirmed the decision of the Chicago District court. The only portion of the ICC plan turned down by the tribunal was in respect to the treatment of general mortgage and 50 year bondholders.

Involves Other Points.

One question involved a claim of general mortgage bondholders that they had a first lien on certain properties whose earnings were credited by the ICC to the 50 year bonds. Another involved the compensation to be received by general mortgage bondholders for a loss of seniority under the reorganization.

To decide these points the Milwaukee case was remanded to the District court, but it was considered likely the commission, rather than the court, would handle the reallocation of securities necessary to comply with the high court's opinion.

Milwaukee road attorneys in Chicago would not discuss the case pending receipt of the full ruling. The reorganization plan had not reached the stage of a vote on acceptance or rejection by principal creditors because such a vote had been blocked by the appeals court.

Road's Capitalization Cut.

Under the plan as approved by the ICC and the District court the Milwaukee's capitalization was reduced from $744,760,713 to $548,533,321. Annual charges under the old capitalization totaled $23,739,279, of which $9,144,000 was contingent upon earnings. Under the proposed capitalization annual charges would be $9,489,134, including $4,269,654 of fixed interest debt.

Justice Stanley Reed, who wrote the opinion in the Western Pacific case, said that all of the evidence of increased earnings "does not lead us to reject the commission's plan."

The court did not act, however, on the Chicago & North Western case, which has many points of similarity to that of the Milwaukee, and has progressed farther, the reorganization having been voted upon by creditor groups. North Western common and preferred stocks also were found to be without value in the reorganization.

Another major rail case of special interest in Chicago is that of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific. The District court has held the Rock Island case in abeyance pending a decision on the Milwaukee and Western Pacific cases.

BIDS REQUESTED FOR PATCH WORK ON STATE ROADS

Springfield, Ill., March 15 (AP).—The first state highway contract letting of the 1943 season was anonunced today for Friday when bids will be taken on a series of pavement patching projects in 19 counties.

The projects involve 125,000 square yards of patching in the following counties: Adams, Coles, Cumberland, Cook, Effingham, Shelby, Will, Clark, Jersey, Madison, McLean, Morgan, Scott, Perry, Randolph, Washington, Greene, Woodford, and Tazewell.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

By BEN MARKLAND

Gobblers Pick Champ.

March 15, 1943.

A ROISTERING pair of white Holland turkey gobblers provided the latest indication of spring for residents of the Wheaton farm.

Budding trees and muddy farm roads are reliable signs of approaching warm weather, but when the turkey gobblers start sparring for the barnyard championship, it's certain that spring is not far away. Each spring the gobblers have their elimination tournament, just as pheasants and other game birds have grudge matches which are settled in the farm fields at the start of the nesting season.

Matches Have Referee.

The turkeys' elimination tournament on the farm still included two contenders until one day last week. These gobblers were established in one corner of the sheep barn along with the flock of hens. The flockmaster had been serving as referee of the gobbler matches, making sure that none of the birds was hurt and banishing the weaker gobblers to an outdoor yard.

After the final match the 1943 champion was crowned, and now he struts around to impress the hens and display his importance.

So far the flockmaster has gathered about 15 eggs from the turkey nests in the barn. These will be kept in a cool place and turned every day. When 100 have been gathered they will be taken to a nearby hatchery. When the chicks arrive they will be brought back to the farm.

Fewer Eggs After Snow.

Alternate cold and warm weather doesn't seem to affect turkey egg production, but the Muscovy hens go off the production line as soon as the mercury falls. The flockmaster gathered a few Muscovy eggs during the early March warm weather, but after the heavy snowfall the Muscovy hens went on an egg strike.

One of the farm workers flushed a covey of seven Bob White quail from a brushpile in the center of the farm one day this week. The men have been seeing these birds on the east edge of the big pond all winter, and they seem to have used a large brushpile as their headquarters. Despite the severe winter, the birds survived well with a minimum of food handouts from the farm residents.

TWO WORKERS GIVEN ATTENDANCE PRIZES: $1,000 WAR BOND EACH

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 15 [Special].—War bonds with cash value of $1,000 each were presented by Consolidated Aircraft corporation today to two workers, top winners in a $10,000 "work to win" plan whereby 146 men and women are rewarded every four weeks for perfect attendanc at their jobs.

Willis T. Keels, 24, father of two children, and J. G. Carter, 57, unmarried, received the awards. Keels was winner in the parts plant, and Carter held the top prize in the main assembly factory. By coincidence, Carter last week had been transferred to the parts plant as a coworker of Keels in the shipping department.

"The work to win" program was instituted to help combat absenteeism at Consolidated, recently described by Lt. Gen. William Knudsen as the highest in the nation in proportion to total pay roll.

DIRECTS LOWER COURT RULING ON LIVE STOCK CASE

Washington, D. C., March 15 (AP).—Holding that it now lacked jurisdiction to pass on the controversy, the Supreme court today directed the 10th federal Circuit court to pass on a government suit charging a group of live stock companies with conspiracy to violate the Sherman anti-trust act by requiring producers of fat lambs within the Denver marketing area to sell them only at the Denver live stock market for east bound shipment.

In an opinion read by Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone the court held that it could not act because the justice department had sought to appeal directly from the federal District court for Colorado.

Stone said that since the District court had based its decision "in part at least on the inadequacy of the allegations of the indictment," the case would have to go to the Circuit court before the Supreme court would have jurisdiction.

UNION PROPOSES PUBLIC LIST OF ABSENT WORKERS

East St. Louis, Ill., March 15 [Special].—Taking the first group action reported in this area against absenteeism from war work, local 538 of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, at Monsanto, Ill., has proposed in a resolution to publicly list job slackers, it was announced today.

Approved by the employées of the American Zinc company at Monsanto, the resolution said the union has been honored with the nation's highest production award, the Army-Navy "E." It said the main cause of absenteeism is the "failure of many workers to appreciate the urgency and necessity of all-out production and to realize that ultimate victory rests largely upon their ability to outproduce the axis." It also attributes absenteeism to "poor housing, poor planning, and a cynical disregard by certain industrialists and financiers of their own patriotic obligation to augment production."

PANTEPEC OIL.

A review of the Pantepec Oil Company of Venezuela will be appreciated. Is the company's stock a sound investment?—B. M.

Answer: Pantepec Oil is engaged in the production of crude oil from extensive concessions in Venezuela covering 758,090 acres of land. Exploitation of the concessions is being carried out under an arrangement with the Standard Oil Company of Venezuela, a subsidiary of the Creole Petroleum corporation, which in turn is controled by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Standard Oil of Venezuela conducts the drilling operations in return for an interest in the properties. The drilling contract was entered into in March, 1934, and since that time five different oil fields have been proved on Pantepec's properties altho it is understood that only about one-fifth of the concessions have been explored.

Commercial production of oil on the Pantepec properties began in 1940. Net profit for that year was reported at $47,270, equal to 2 cents a share. For 1941 net profit was $247,727, equal to 9 cents a share, while for the six months to June 30, 1942, net was $235,351, equal to 8 cents a share.

The company was incorporated in Venezuela in 1924 as the Venezuelan Pantepec company, C. A., and the present title was adopted in 1938. Capitalization outstanding at the end of 1941 consisted of 2,856,872 capital shares, with a par value of 1 bolivar each. Outstanding long term bank loans at the end of 1941 amounted to $1,404,263. The company borrowed $1,500,000 from the Chase National bank in 1941, and in May, 1942, obtained an additional $750,000 from the bank.

American shares, each representing one of the company's shares on deposit with the Empire Trust company, New York, are listed on the New York Curb exchange and currently are quoted around 5⅛. No dividends have ever been paid.

With operations hardly well under way, and in view of the tanker shortage, Pantepec Oil is a speculative venture, whose attraction lies mainly in the possibility of large scale production in the future when peace has been restored.

INT. HARVESTER OUTPUT TO FARM CLIMBS SLOWLY

WPB Delay Prevents Real Aid to Planting.

The International Harvester company, Chicago, said yesterday that it has been able to obtain a larger supply of materials for making farm machinery in recent weeks, but that it will not be able to produce and distribute its full quota of certain types of equipment in time for the spring planting season.

Fowler McCormick.

Farmers had complained that the war production board order early this month permitting increases for some machinery is valueless in aiding crop production because the implements cannot be manufactured and distributed in time for the "using season."

Hopes for More Material.

Fowler McCormick, president of International Harvester, said recently that the company did not have enough material on hand to meet the accelerated government production program in the first quarter of this year.

A company representative said yesterday a few thousand tons of steel have been obtained and rolled in the company's own mill since then and a higher priority rating also has helped to some extent.

For the second quarter, the spokesman said, Harvester will operate under the "controled materials" plan, and it is hoped that this will yield more steel for farm implements than under the priority system. He said the WPB increase of machinery quotas came too late to be of real aid in planting, but that "the company will build just as fast as it can."

Explains Time Required.

A minimum of 90 days is required to build farm machinery and place it on the farm after authority has been given for its production, he said, and further delay occurs in distribution because of rigid department of agriculture controls over permits as to where the machinery is to be sent.

Illinois farmers, protesting last week that they could not meet increased crop goals under existing machinery shortages, said at a mass-meeting in Monticello that their machinery ration certificates were useless because the implements were not available. Lack of corn planters, grain drills, cultivators, harrows, and plows was said to have prevented planting.

Because of lack of materials and delay in the machinery increase order the industry in general is reported to have been unable to produce and distribute enough machinery in time to aid spring planting materially. Hope is held, however, that enough materials can be obtained to avoid this situation at harvest time.

VOTE FEED SALE OF MORE WHEAT AT CORN PARITY

Washington, D. C., March 15 (AP).—Legislation to authorize the sale of 100 million bushels of government held surplus wheat for feed purposes, with the stipulation it be sold at the average corn parity price, was passed by the house and sent to the senate today.

Previously, sales of 125 million bushels of the wheat for the same purpose had been authorized, with the sale price pegged at 85 per cent of corn parity.

The department of agriculture had requested the legislation to encourage the production of live stock products by making more feed available.

March and October Egg Futures Prices Are Lower

March egg futures closed 0.15 cent a dozen lower at 38.85 cents and the October delivery was off 0.10 cent at 41.95 cents bid on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. The declines were attributed to increased receipts at the larger markets and unsettled cash prices at Chicago.

Slight Gain in Steel Output Predicted for This Week

New York, March 15 (AP).—The American Iron and Steel institute estimated today that steel mills would operate this week at 99.3 per cent of capacity, compared with 99.1 per cent last week.

CORN GROWERS, DEALERS RESENT PEGS ON PRICES

Many Lose on Cars Shipped Earlier.

Country shippers of cash corn and farmers yesterday were reported extremely dissatisfied with the new corn ceiling prices and their accompanying regulations. Chicago commission houses said that in the 95 year history of the Board of Trade a government measure never has been so unpopular, judging from reports, and predicted that it will be only a few weeks before the current ceilings and regulations will have to be revised.

Trading in cash corn proceeded more smoothly as receivers became accustomed to handling the grain under the new regulations which specify that the price must be lowered ¾ cent a bushel for every ½ of 1 per cent of moisture in the corn in excess of 15.50 per cent.

Some Take Heavy Losses.

Country shippers were reported to be taking severe losses on car lots of corn sent to terminal markets on contracts entered into prior to March 12. Large quantities of grain had been sold for deferred shipment, but the new office of price administration regulations nullified all contracts as to price, so the buyer was not permitted to accept the grain except at the new ceiling levels. In many cases this was 1 to 3 cents a bushel less than the original contract price.

Trading in corn futures was limited and was at ceiling prices. There was some exchanging between May and September at 2¾ cents premium for the May.

Regulations Cause Confusion.

Operators of Iowa elevators said that the new OPA regulations had caused much confusion. In many instances sections of that state that have been shipping to Chicago must now send their grain to other markets. In other areas a reverse condition has developed because of the higher price obtainable here.

Wheat and other grains declined, the former breaking about 1 cent on hedging pressure and scattered liquidation. It closed at the bottom with losses of ⅞ to 1 cent. Oats were unchanged to ⅛ cent lower. Liquidation developed in rye and the close was ¾ to ⅞ cent lower. Wheat sold at a new low in more than two weeks.

Large quantities of cash wheat were reported held in country elevators in the southwest and northwest awaiting the arrival of cars for shipment to terminal markets.

already attained, coupled with conservation in its applications and organized salvage of nickel-bearing scrap, has eased a threatened shortage of supply," Stanley said. "It would now appear that a sufficient tonnage of this strategic metal is available to meet all vital requirements of our armed services."

Net income declined to $33,301,829, or $2.15 a share, from $34,356,401, or $2.22 in 1941. Canadian, British and United States taxes amounted to $25,079,285.

War Booms Sales.

Demand for implements of war rocketed the value of shipments by the American Locomotive company last year to $302,492,000 from $73,745,000 in 1941, Chairman William C. Dickerman revealed in the annual report. Net income, however, declined to $5,051,593 from $5,628,741.

The company announced that 67 per cent of last year's shipments were war products, including tanks. Dickerman said gun carriage production is being abandoned to convert facilities to make equipment necessary for the manufacture of synthetic rubber and high octane gasoline.

Unfilled orders at the end of 1942 were 654 million dollars, compared with less than half that amount a year earlier. Taxes increased to $23,600,000, after deduction of an estimated $2,400,000 post-war credit on excess profits taxes, from $4,090,000 a year ago.

Engine Output Large.

Value of steam locomotives delivered last year was $35,617,986, compared with $10,148,496 in 1941, representing the largest tonnage in any year since 1930. Output of Diesel locomotive tonnage was the biggest in the history of the company and was valued at $16,216,692, compared with $12,956,861 in 1941. Locomotive production in 1943 will be "subject only to the limitation of the necessary materials," Dickerman said.

The report showed that on Jan. 1, 1938, there were 44,394 locomotives of all kinds in the United States, against only 41,465 on Jan. 1 this year. Of the larger number in 1938, only 34,274 were in service, however, compared with 38,770 at the beginning of this year. On Jan. 1, 1938, 6,366 locomotives were awaiting repair, against only 1,980 last Jan. 1.

DEALERS ADVISE HONOR SYSTEM IN BUYING MEAT

Explain Advantages Over Rationing.

Experience in administering the complicated point rationing of meat will convince the office of price administration that an honor system based on meatless days is far more workable and acceptable to the American public, Chicago trade spokesmen asserted yesterday.

They charged the OPA has not invited the consumer's coöperation, which is necessary to the success of a rationing plan, and that the provisions for fines and imprisonment for violations of point rationing has implied that the OPA's attitude is that the public is not sufficiently patriotic to be trusted.

Would Eliminate Confusion.

The trade representative agreed that an honor system for the equitable distribution of available civilian meat supplies would be far from perfect. They contended, however, that it would not involve the complications and confusion of the point system.

It was predicted that unless the point system for meat is simplified, or replaced with a less confusing program, the OPA will have increased difficulties in dealing with illegal slaughter, price ceiling and rationing violations and other illegalities, such as the counterfeiting of ration coupons.

Vast Job for Industry.

The housewife who spends a considerable amount of time and effort figuring her ration points has no conception of the amount of work rationing and ceilings have piled on retailers, wholesalers and packers, the spokesmen asserted. Packers were said to be swamped with a vast number of restrictions which are slowing their operations.

As an example, the sale of the many cuts and grades of pork in wholesale channels involve more than 2,000 separate price ceilings, one packer said. Several pages of OPA orders are devoted to hams alone, he explained, with scores of separate ceilings based on cutting, curing and selling factors.

COTTON OUTPUT SETS PEAK OVER 11 BILLION YARDS

Washington, D. C., March 15 [Special].—Production of cotton fabrics last year in excess of 11 billion 250 million yards established a new record, the textile, leather, and clothing division of the WPB announced today. The total was 7 per cent larger than in the preceding year and one-third larger than in 1939, last year for which census of manufacturers' figures are available. Military requirements were responsible, said Frank L. Walton, textile division head.

Cotton and yarn production recorded even larger increases, WPB said. Output of carded yarn was approximately 780,000,000 pounds, twice the 1939 total and 30 per cent higher than in 1941.

Combed yarn output topped 288,000,000 pounds, 75 per cent higher than in 1939 and 20 per cent above 1941.

PACKARD PLANS RETURN TO AUTO FIELD AFTER WAR

Detroit, Mich., March 15 (AP).—The Packard Motor Car company disclosed today that its forthcoming annual report will state that it is definitely committed to return to the automobile manufacturing business after the war, regardless of whether it continues in the special engine fields.

Packard said 196 new sales outlets were signed during 1942. The net reduction in the number of its dealers was about 11 per cent, representing an estimated 2½ per cent of the companys' total car volume in normal times.

INCREASE IN LIVE STOCK SUPPLIES WEAKENS PRICES

Hog Market Is Lowest for Monday in 5 Weeks.

Heavier farm shipments weakened markets for some types of meat animals at the stock yards yesterday. Twenty large markets received 281,000 cattle, hogs, and sheep, compared with 224,000 a week ago and 229,000 a year ago. Volume recently has been below a year ago.

The general level of hog prices, steady to 10 cents a hundred pounds lower, was lowest for a Monday in five weeks. Most stock below 250 pounds was 5 to 10 cents lower, but many of the prime heavy butchers and sows were steady.

Price Range Is Narrow.

Buyers paid a 5 cent lower average at $15.40. Top young stock at $15.55 was 10 cents lower. A large part of good 190 to 220 pound stock sold at $15.45 and $15.50, most good 230 to 290 pound butchers brought $15.40 and $15.45, and most 300 to 350 pounders, $15.35 and $15.40. Sows weighing 300 to 500 pounds sold from $15.10 to $15.40. The Chicago stockyards received 22,000 hogs, including direct shipments to packers, compared with 17,469 last Monday and 10,316 a year ago.

Some Steers Are Steady.

A few top beef steers were steady, selling up to $17.40, but the majority sold 15 to 25 cents lower. Most steers and yearlings sold from $14.50 to $16.25. Best heifers sold steady, but all others were weak to 25 cents lower. Beef cows, canners, and cutters were weak to 25 cents lower, with the largest decline in beef cows. Bulls and calves were steady.

Lamb prices fell 25 to 40 cents. Top loads sold at $16.40 and most brought $16.25 to $16.40.

START BUILDING SECOND PIPE LINE EARLY IN APRIL

Cincinnati, O., March 15 (AP).—Burt E. Hull, general manager of War Emergency Pipelines, Inc., today reported construction would start the first week of April on the new 835 mile pipe line from Beaumont, Tex., to Seymour, Ind.

Hull predicted the 20 inch line, with a daily capacity of 235,000 barrels, would be completed in five months.

The new line will supplement a 24 inch line opened last month from Texas to Norris City, Ill., which has a daily capacity of 300,000 barrels. Hull said a 16 inch line would be built from Houston, Tex., to Beaumont, 62 miles away, to join with the 20 inch pipe.

DENY REHEARING ON RIGHT OF OIL DRILLER ON LAND

Springfield, Ill., March 15 (AP).—The Illinois Supreme court denied today a rehearing of a Franklin county Circuit court decree, which it upheld Jan. 21 in an opinion saying that a document conveying coal, oil, gas, and other mineral rights carried with it the right to use the surface to drill for oil without an express provision.

The petition for rehearing was filed by Everett Lewis, Benton attorney, who sought as a friend of the court to plead against affirmation of the Circuit court decree which dismissed the case of John Jilek, et al. vs. the Chicago, Wilmington and Franklin Coal company and others.

WPB Plant Facilities Chief Returns to Allis-Chalmers

Washington, D. C., March 15 (AP).—Edwin H. Brown has resigned as chief of the plant facilities branch of the WPB steel division to return to his former position of vice president of Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company, WPB announced today.

Personal Property and Salary.

Men! Women!
Costs Only 75c
Now women as well as men may borrow from $10 to $300 on the strength of their jobs. Both office and factory workers are entitled to "while you wait" service if they phone ahead or come in with proper identification and evidence of employment. Even war workers on new jobs are eligible. Based on our monthly rate of 3% on balances of $150 or less and 2½% on that part of the unpaid balance above $150, the cost on short term loans, as illustrated above, is quite reasonable.

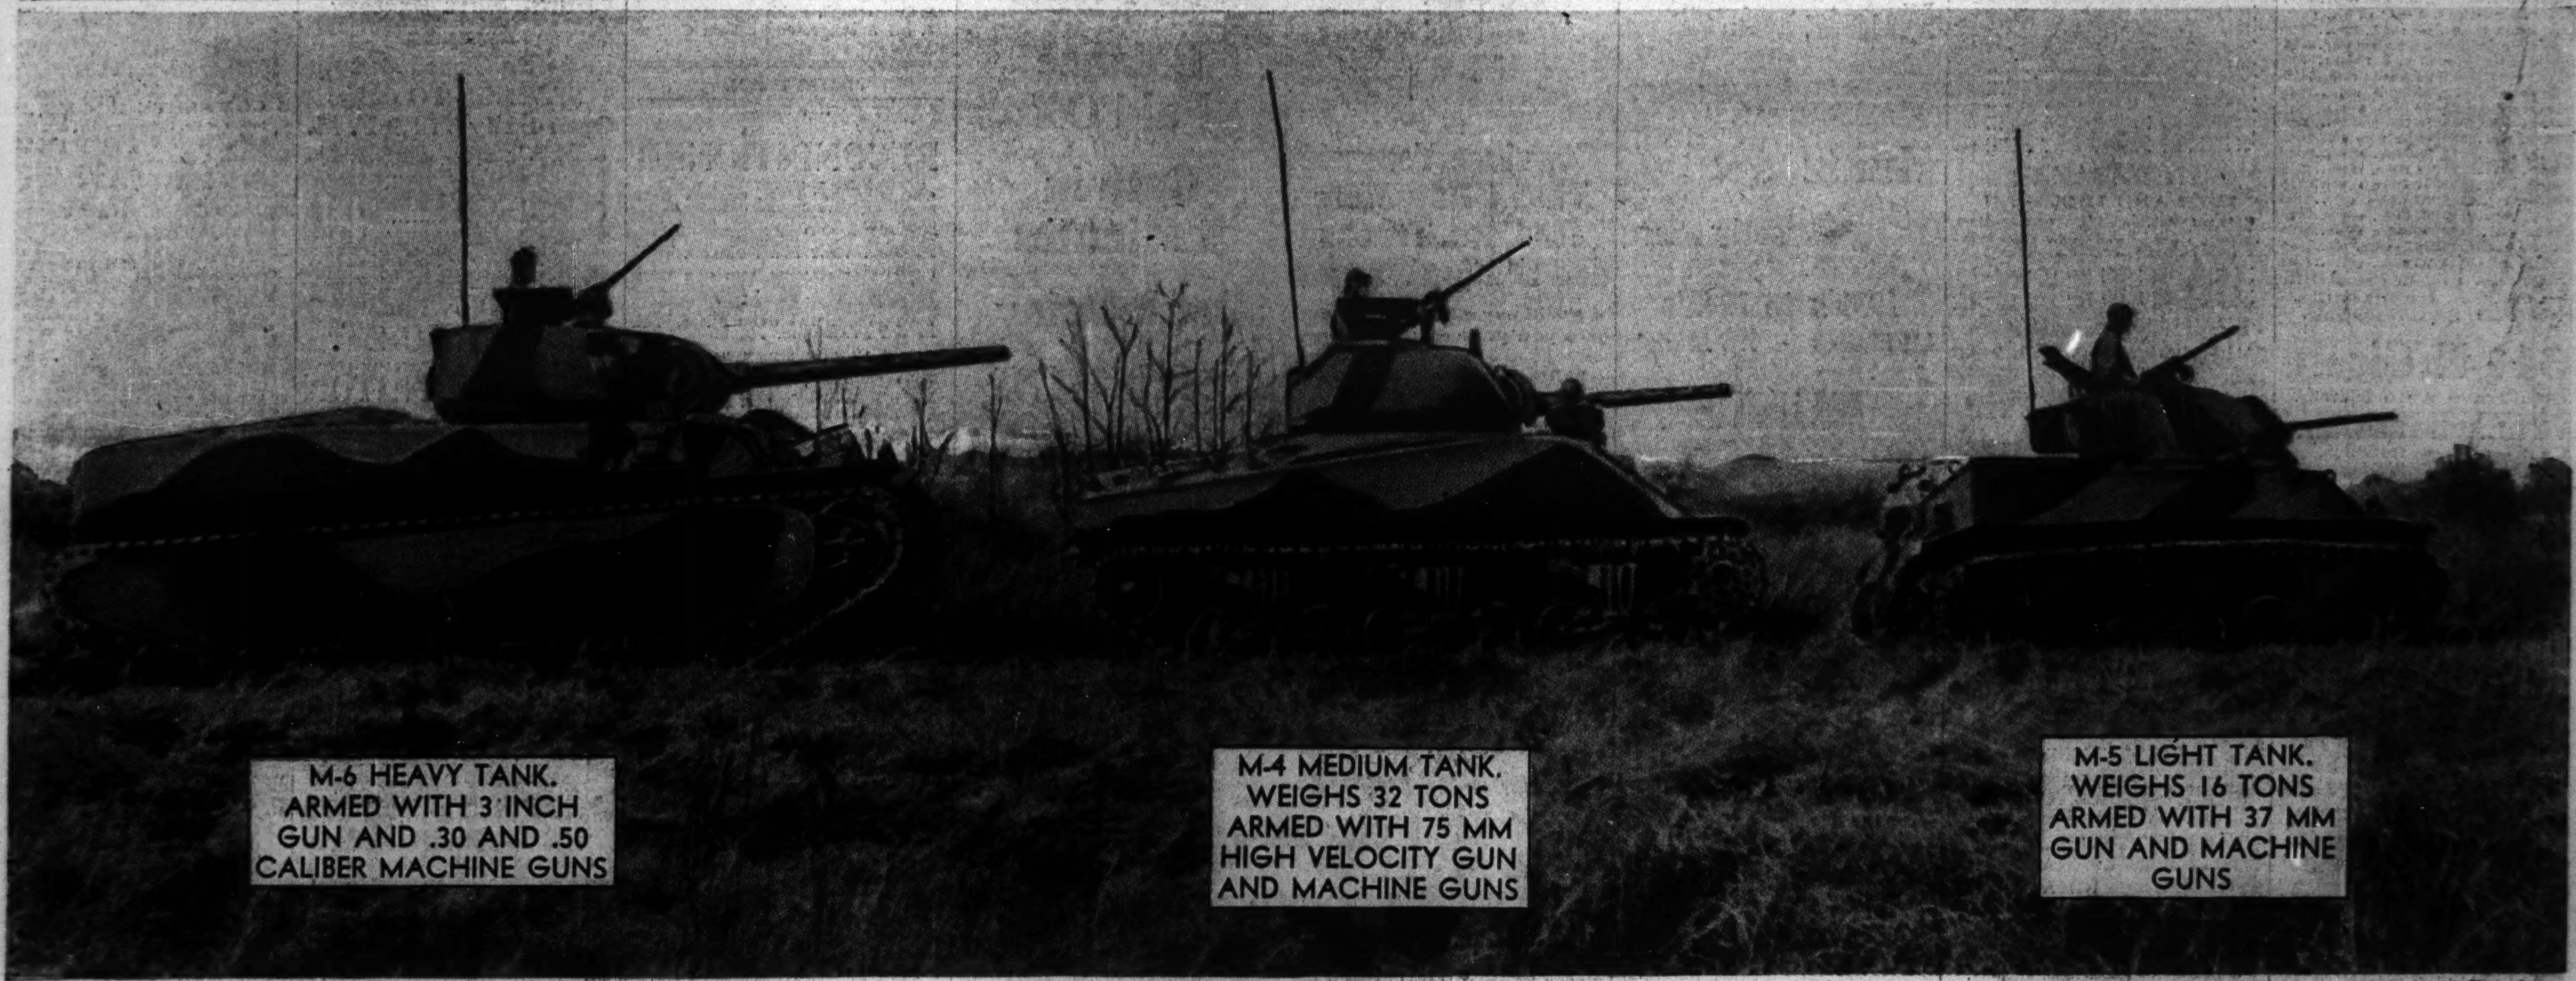
TANKS AND GUN CARRIERS—OUR NEW TYPES



M-6 HEAVY TANK. ARMED WITH 3 INCH GUN AND .30 AND .50 CALIBER MACHINE GUNS
M-4 MEDIUM TANK. WEIGHS 32 TONS ARMED WITH 75 MM HIGH VELOCITY GUN AND MACHINE GUNS
M-5 LIGHT TANK. WEIGHS 16 TONS ARMED WITH 37 MM GUN AND MACHINE GUNS

Here, pictured together, are representatives of three different types of new American war tanks—the heavy, the medium, and the light. Each is designed for specific purposes in warfare. The heavy, weighing more than 50 tons and armed with a hard hitting, high velocity 3-inch gun and other weapons, is our most formidable tank. It is considered equal or superior to the strongest German tank.
